OWENSBORO

Mrs Lee.

Mike,
I'm really glad
I got to know you.
You're really a great guy,
even though you ate half my lunch everyday. (ha, ha!

OWENSBORO HIGH SCHOOL

1300 Booth Avenue — 1800 Frederica Street

Owensboro, Kentucky

Adviser — James Elkins

One Plus One Equals One — Only at OHS

The year 1973-74 marked a great change for Owensboro High School. For the first time, the school was divided between two campuses. Juniors and Seniors were located at 1800 Frederica and the Freshmen and Sophomores were at the 1300 Booth Avenue campus.

Since this was a completely new situation for everybody, the students, faculty and administration were a little unsure at first as to what the two centers, but one school would be like.

However, it was not long until everyone could see that both schools were capable of operating independently.

In some cases, each center formed their own clubs and organizations, and were almost like two different schools.

Some things remained undivided. Organizations such as the band, drill team, and student newspaper and yearbook still worked together.

Activities such as ballgames and dances still included students of all four grades.

The 1973-74 school year marked the beginning of a unique arrangement in Kentucky High Schools. No other school in Kentucky had two campuses for one school.

OHS was like two halves of a circle — one half at 1300 Booth, the other at 1800 Frederica. That is the reason that one plus one equals one only at Owensboro High School.

9-10 Center Provided 'Newness' for Students

Enrolling at the new 9-10 Center was quite an experience last fall for the incoming freshmen as well as the sophomores who had attended the present 11-12 Center last year.

Being completely on one floor, the school seemed to stretch endlessly from Booth Avenue halfway up South Griffith Avenue.

The school was different, but the people were still the same. The freshmen and sophomores were still interested in bubblegum blowing, comic books, friendship rings, and going "steady."

Students at the 9-10 Center found many new opportunities open to them. They found many new classes and newly-carpeted facilities at the school.

At the beginning of the year, most students referred to the school as "Southern", but as the year wore on, the school was referred to as the 9-10 Center.

Being the first students to use the school as the 9-10 Center, the year became an example of the years ahead.

Building Seemed Almost Empty at 11-12 Center

The 11-12 Center was different in 1973-74 with only two grades present at the 1800 Frederica Street facility.

The building was less crowded and at times it seemed almost empty compared to the 1972-73 school year.

It was also a change to get used to the regular hours of 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. after having double sessions last year.

The 11-12 Center also had a "new" principal in Bill Van Winkle (former assistant) and a new assistant in Whaylon Coleman.

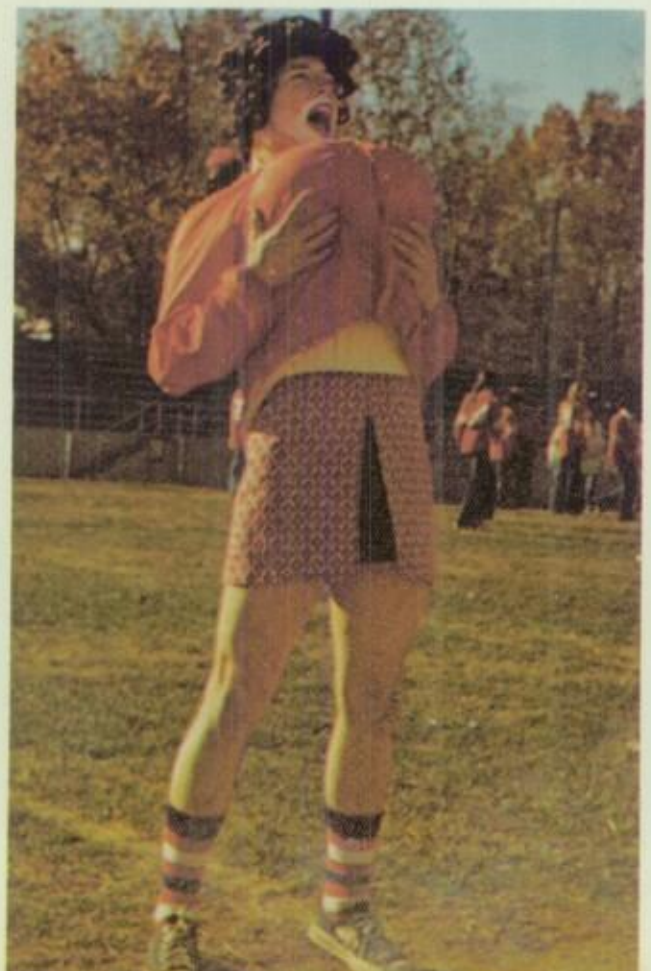
While the 11-12 Center was just for juniors and seniors, the facility was still the site of many school-wide functions such as dances, concerts and plays.

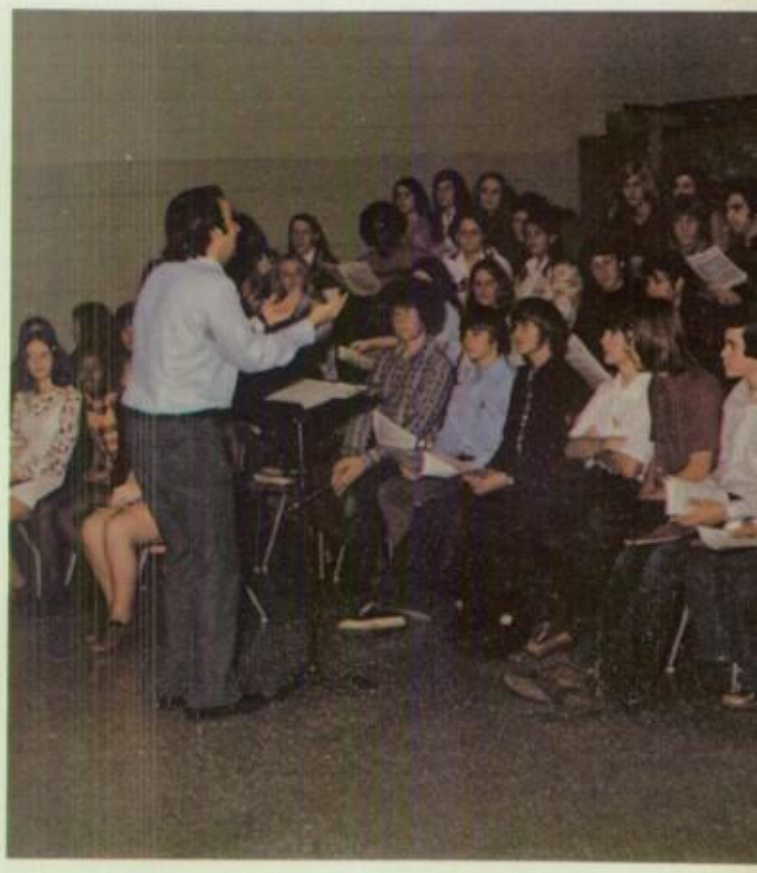
The year was also one of great hopes and expectations.

The juniors waited anxiously for their senior rings and worked diligently on Prom '74.

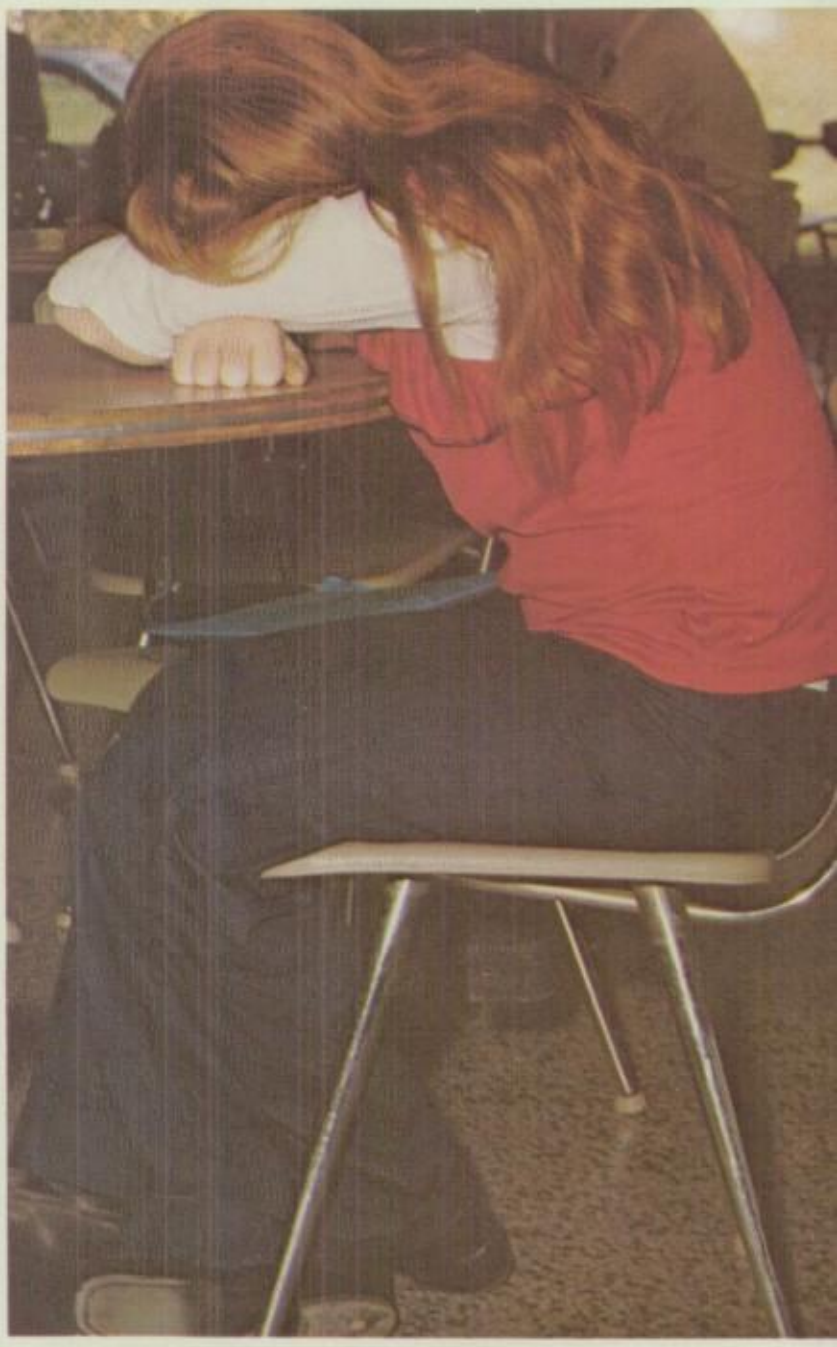
The seniors looked forward to the first week in June when they joined the alumni ranks of Owensboro High.

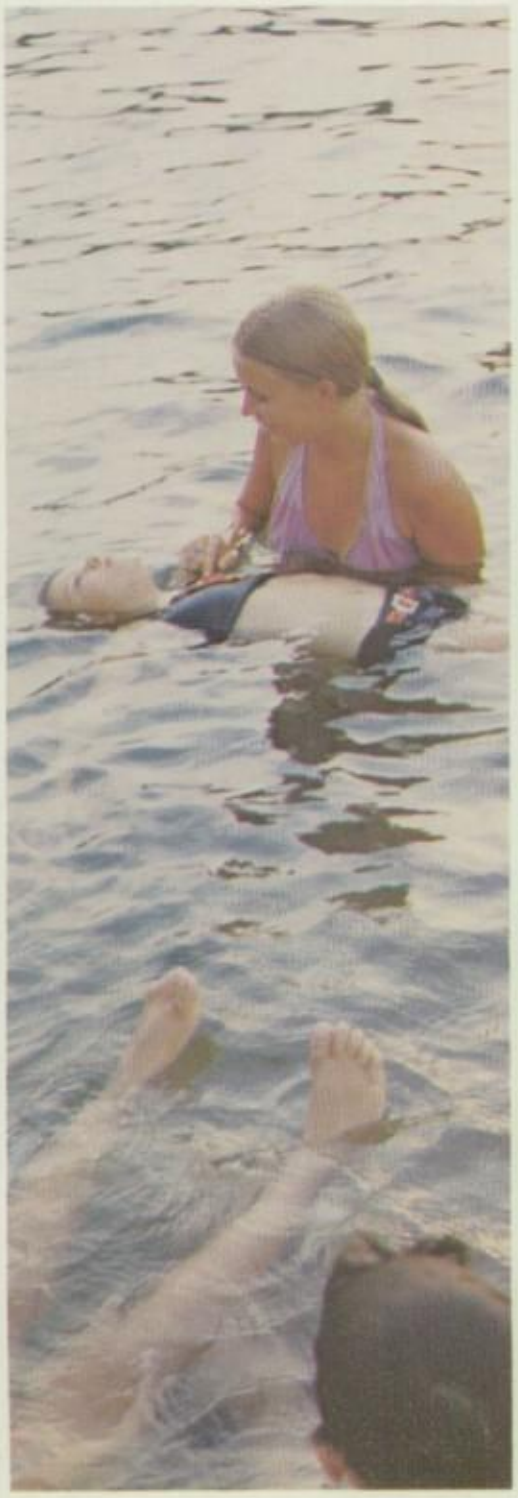
SBORO HIGH SCHOOL

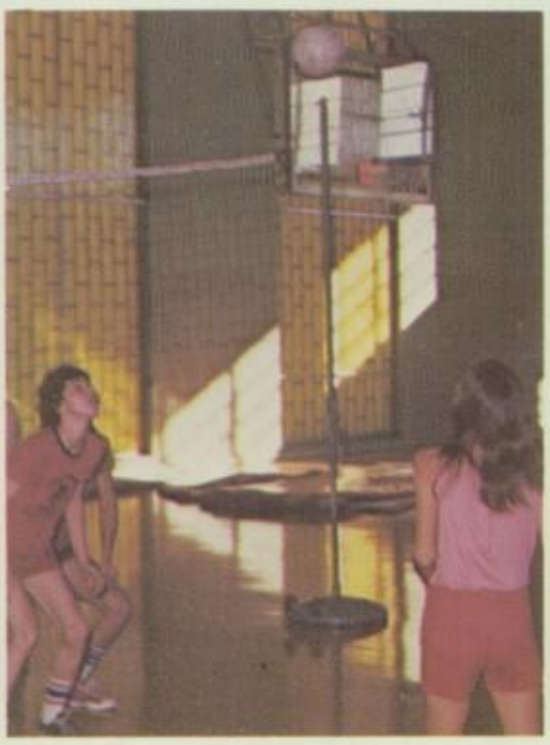


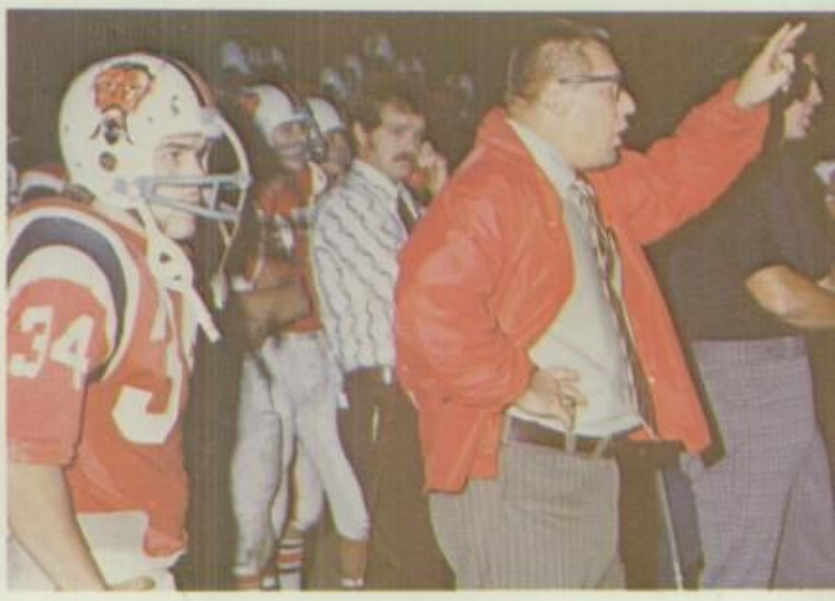


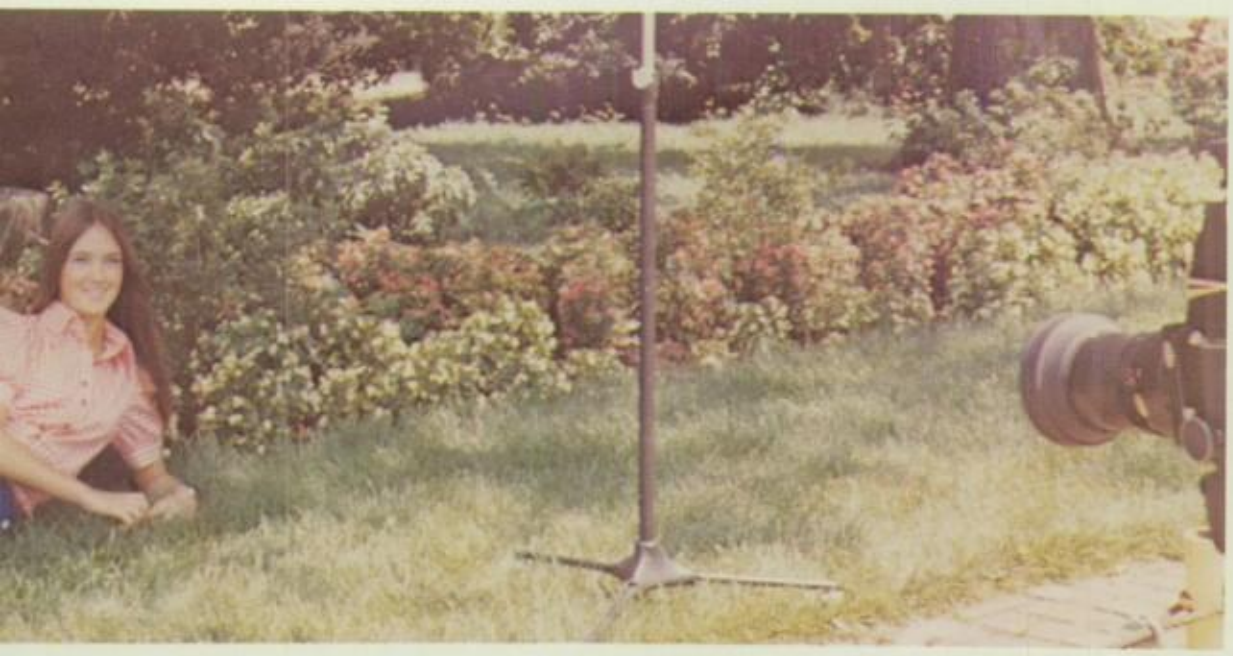
WARREN

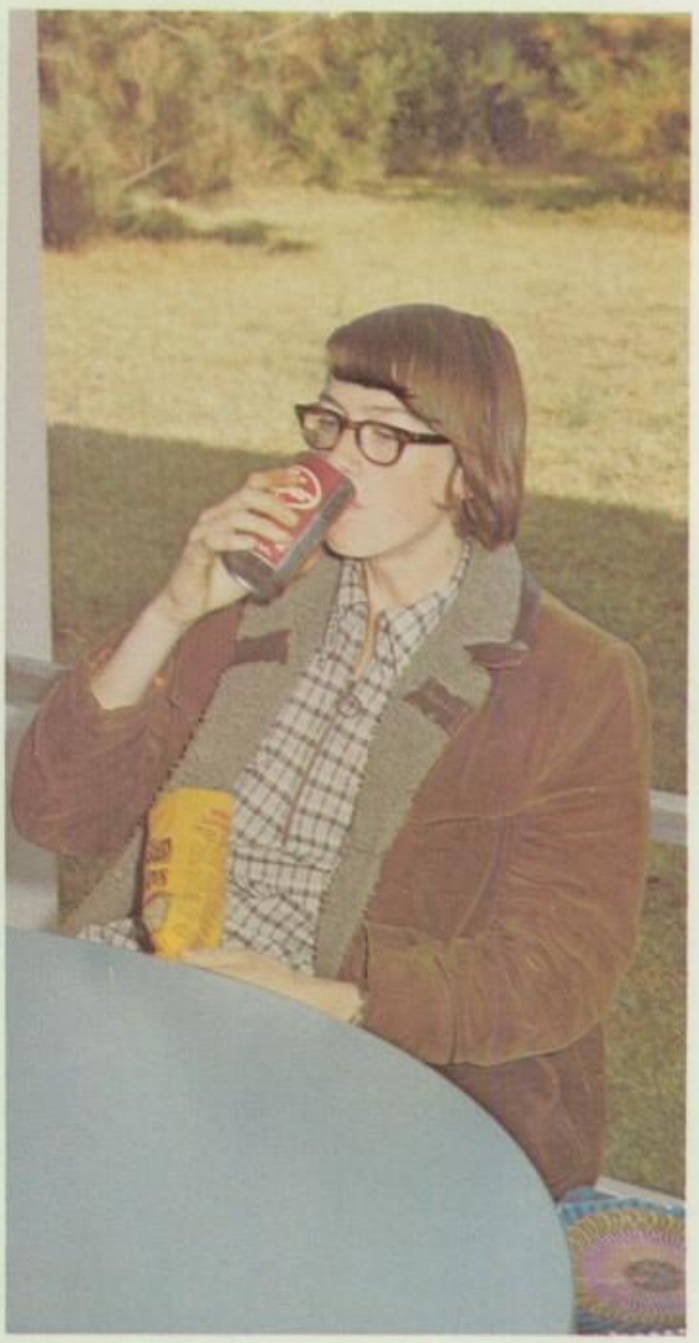




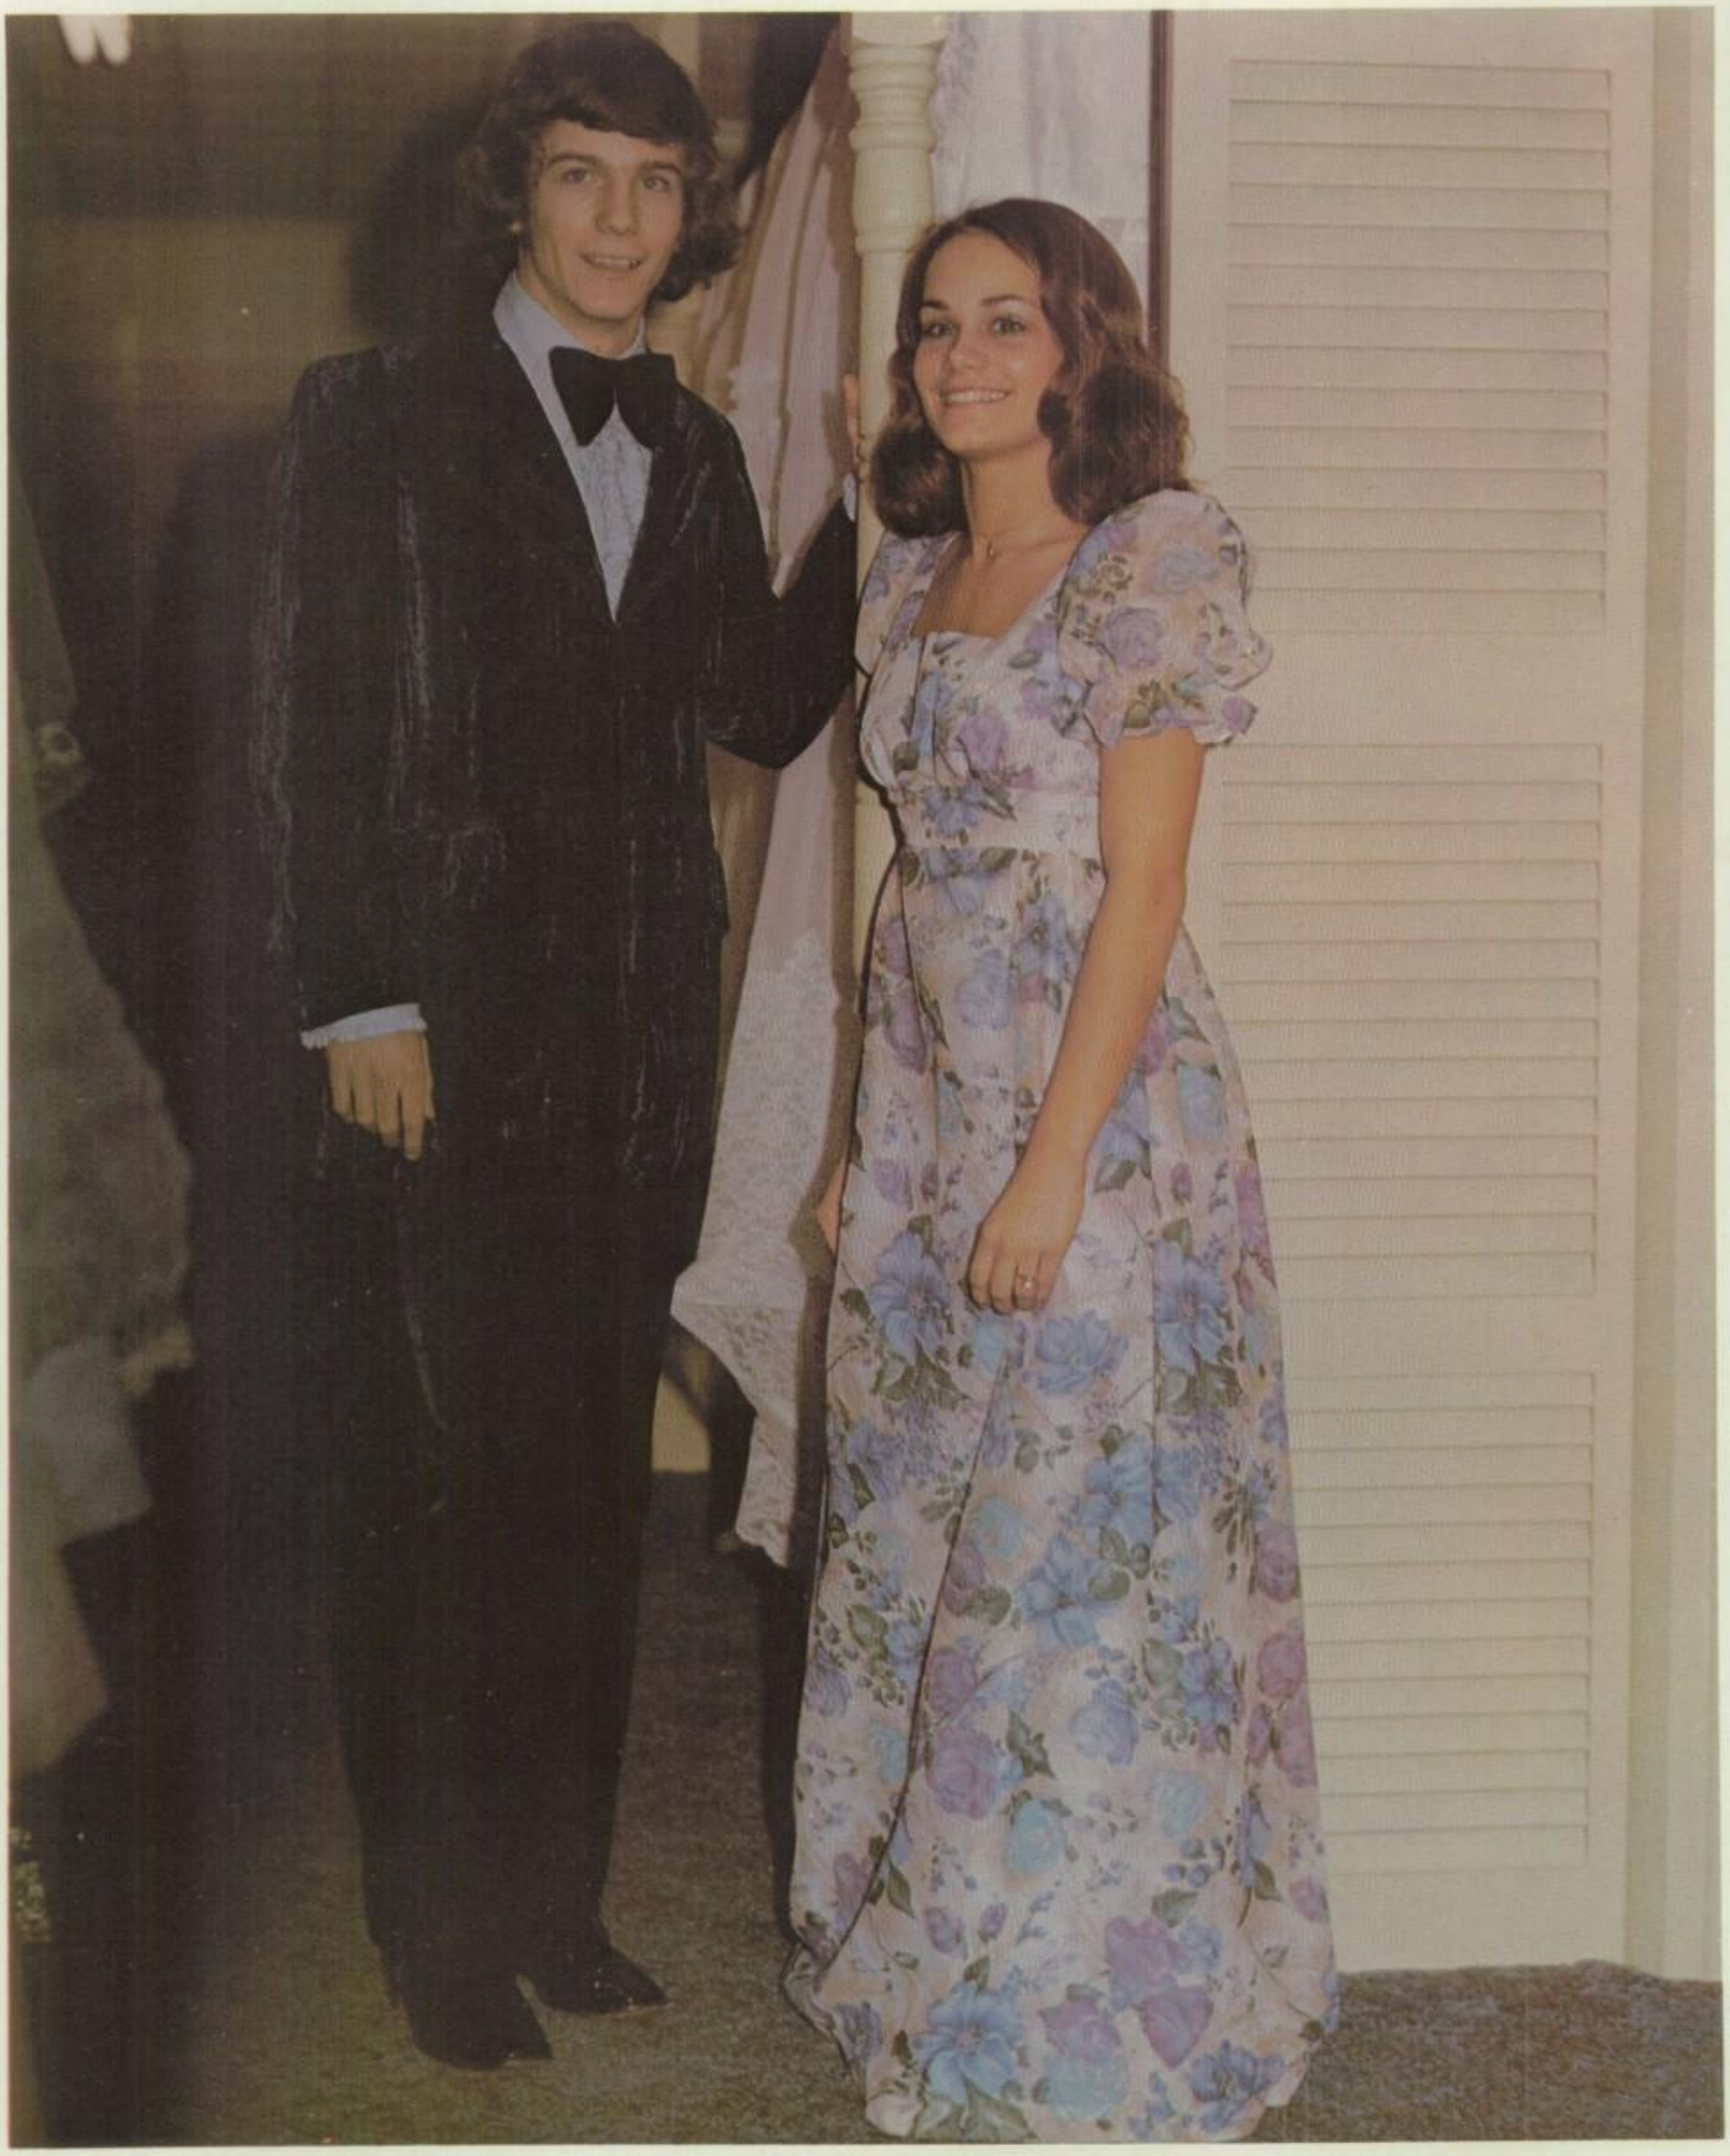








Mr. and Miss Owensboroan



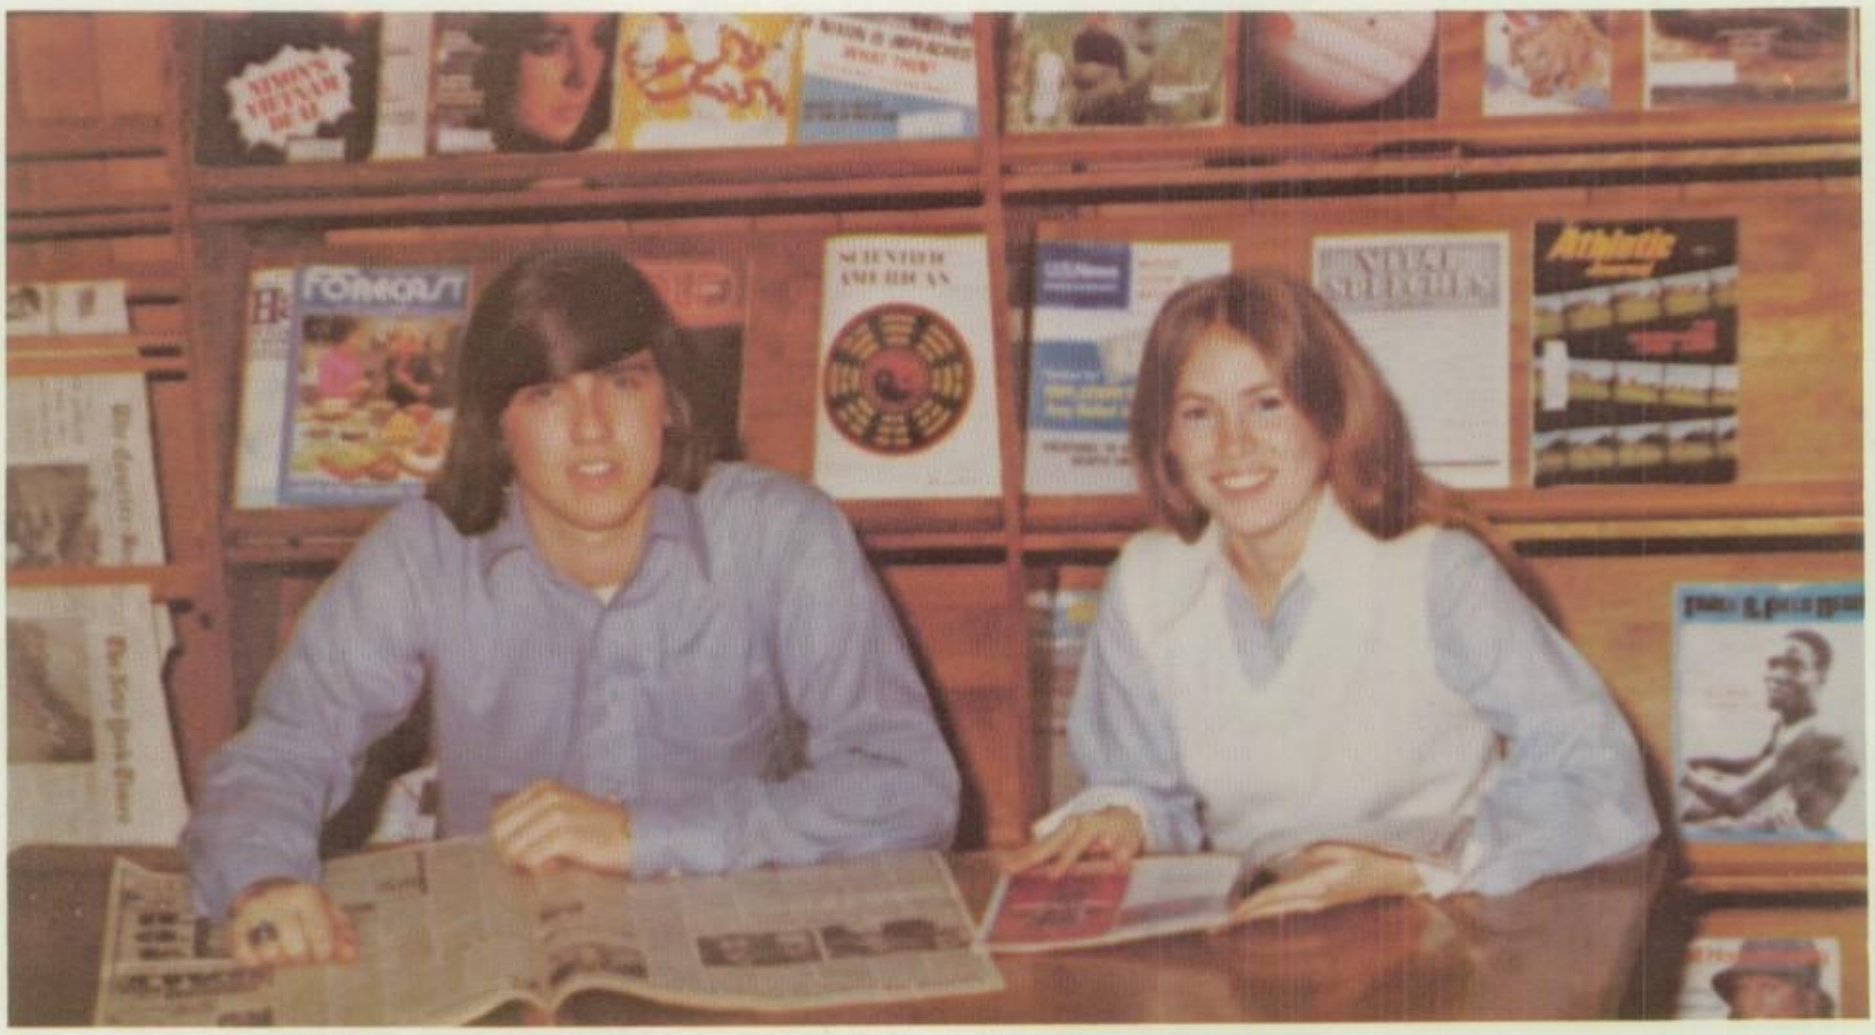
Danny Ellis and Charlene Williams were selected "Mr. and Miss Owensboroan" by the graduating class of 1974. Being chosen to represent the entire school is the highest honor at OHS. It has been an OHS tradition for the title of Mr. and Miss Owensboroan to go to the two seniors who best portray the typical OHS student. Charlene is captain of the varsity cheerleaders and was the football Homecoming Queen. Danny has lettered in baseball at OHS and is the president of the OHS Key Club.

SENIORS

Senior class Secretary Anita Taylor, Treasurer Debbie Day, Vice President Scott Robey and President David Cook take time out from their work as class officers. They had the duties of coordinating such activities as graduation, senior parties and the senior variety show.

Seniors

sen-ior (sen' yer), n. 1. A person who counts the days until graduation; 2. The "big man on campus" who sets the trends for the rest of the school; 3. A person who thinks he has done it all; 4. An extraordinary character of light livation; 5. A truly, coolie, schoolie; 6. Someone who spends the year trying to trick the juniors into telling about the prom.



Early last semester, the senior class elected Stuart Gant and Robbie Raines to the honors of "Mr. and Miss Senior." Stuart was Student Council President in 1973-74 and Junior class president. He has been a member of the Key Club for two years and served as Junior director two years ago. Robbie was a member of the drill team two years ago and was co-captain of the cheerleaders during her sophomore year. She was also chosen "Miss Sophomore."

Class of '74 Had Standout Athletes

The class of 1974 was the 47th class to graduate rom the present Owensboro High School. On first enolling at the high school in 1971, each student was net with many new faces within his own class. The lass was composed of the combined graduating classes f the three local junior highs — Estes, Foust and outhern.

Since that year, the size of the class has gradually ecreased. In the Fall of '71, there were 602 students nrolled as sophomores. By the Fall of 1972, that umber had fallen to 537. In the Fall of 1973, 503 tudents enrolled as seniors.

As is true with every class, this one had its weak oints as well as its strong points.

It may not have been the smartest class since no one graduated with a perfect academic record.

On the other hand, some of the state's greatest athletes resided at Owensboro High School, such as Kenny Higgs and Greg Webster in basketball, Lawrence Jefferson in football, and Jeff Miller and Harley Trogdlen in cross country. The time spent cheering those guys on to victory will not be forgotten too quickly by the class of '74.

With the new organization of the school system, the class of '74 can be remembered as the last graduating class to have attended Owensboro High School for only three years.

JUNIORS

Junior class treasurer Anne Greer, secretary Sandra Bennett, president Fred Wahl and vice president Tim Callis take a break from their time-consuming work on the preparations for Prom '74. In addition, they had the responsibility of the rings for the class of 1975.

Juniors

jun-ior (joon' yer), n. 1. A student in the third year of a four year course of study; 2. A "lucky dog" because he has another year of high school; 3. An understudy of the role of a senior; 4. A person who slaves for three weeks in preparation for the Junior-Senior prom; 5. A person who waits all year for his class ring then gives it away as soon as he gets it; 6. Designating a person lower in rank or shorter in length of tenure.

In January, the Junior class chose David Roberts and Becky Rose as "Mr. and Miss Junior." David played football at OHS and Becky was a cheerleader for the team. In 1972-73 Becky was chosen "Miss Sophomore." Together, they represent the ideal junior boy and girl during the year 1973-74.

Speaking a foreign language is not always an easy thing for high school students to undertake. Hopefully, at the end of the year, all of Miss Mary Ann Boling's French students will be able to ask "Parlez-vous Francais?" "Do you speak French?" and the answer is "Oui," which translated into English means "yes."

Sophomore class officers meet in the library to discuss the activities for the year. The officers are (clockwise from the top): Bruce Burton, president; Tim Farmer, vice-president; Karen Jones, historian; Terri Cooper, treasurer; and Dee Ann Mount, secretary.

soph-o-more — (sof' eo-mor), n. 1. A student in the second year of high school; 2. A person who is just coming around to the realization of how much "fun" high school is going to be; 3. The "senior" of the 9-10 Center; 4. Someone who starts "Buttering up" the upperclassmen well before the Junior-Senior prom; 5. A person who thinks he is better than a freshman, but secretly wishes to be a junior; 6. Someone who can be wise and foolish at the same time.

In January, the Sophomore class elected Bernie Bissmeyer and Loretta Newbolt as "Mr. and Miss Sophomore." Both had leading roles in the production of "Our Town." Loretta has been a cheerleader for two years and was chosen "Miss Freshman" last year.

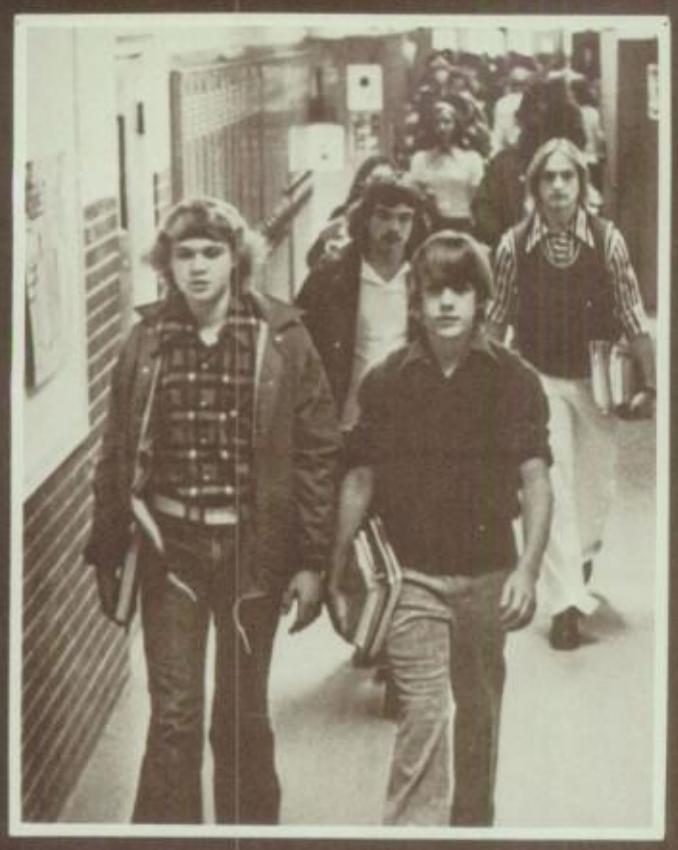
Square dancing became a regular physical education event when the gas shortage halted many outside activities such as bowling and skating. Square dancing in one of the physical education classes are Jane Rogers and Danny Kelley (in foreground). Rick Nash did the "calling" for the dances.



Mark King and Kirk Riggs appear to be leading the rest of the students down the hall and toward their respective classes at the 9-10 Center.

FRESHMEN

Freshman class President Paul Hyland, Vice-President Kim Smith, Secretary Carol Knott, Treasurer Tammy Faith and Historian Kathryn Coffey discuss the problems that confronted the Freshman Class in 1973-74. Throughout the year, the officers served as a liason between the students and the administration.

Freshmen

fresh-man (fresh' man), n. 1. A high school student in his first year; 2. A novice who hasn't quite found out what high school is all about; 3. A student who runs to class but is still late; 4. A person who is amazed at the crowded halls of high school; 5. A disillusioned student who wished he was back in middle school or a senior; 6. Someone who will actually try to sell more magazines than anyone else.

Monroe Griffith and Terri Stewart were chosen "Mr. and Miss Freshman" by the members of their class. Monroe played football and basketball during the past year while Terri was captain of the cheerleaders.

FACULTY

Bill VanWinkle Completes First Year As Principal

Bill VanWinkle, 11-12 Principal

Bill VanWinkle became principal at the 11-12 Center and Casey Organ continued as principal at the 9-10 Center in the 1973-74 school year.

VanWinkle, after serving as an assistant principal for the past two years, moved into the head position when Clyde Hunsaker left OHS to enter business (Mr. Hunsaker later died, see "In Memoriam" on Page 218).

A 1951 graduate of Owenboro High School, VanWinkle stepped into the top spot at the 11-12 Center after serving in a variety of roles in the Owensboro City Schools for the past 17 years. VanWinkle started at Foust Junior High and as assistant football coach at OHS.

He later moved to the high school as head of the Business Department and stepped into the administrative ranks in 1971 when Hunsaker was named principal.

A graduate of Murray State and Indiana University, VanWinkle was a football and boxing standout in his days at OHS.

VanWinkle has described OHS "as one of the top schools in Kentucky" and his first-year goal was to maintain the program that has put the school among the best in the state.

Mr. Organ, who served as principal at Southern Middle School before moving up to the 9-10 Center principalship last year, is in his 36th year as an educator.

He is a former football assistant and a graduate of Murray State. The 9-10 Center principal wrestled professionally in his college days. He served as principal of Southern Junior High before being elevated to the 9-10 Center position last year.

Casey Organ, 9-10 Principal

Gerald Wellman
9-10 Assistant

Joe Penrod
9-10 Assistant

Coleman New 11-12 Assistant

The only new assistant principal at the high school this year was Whaylon Coleman, who moved into Bill Van Winkle's vacated position at the 11-12 Center.

Coleman moved into the assistant principal's job at OHS after serving in the City Schools for 13 years.

Gerald Wellman and Joe Penrod completed their second year as assistants at the 9-10 Center.

Assisting in the administrative work at the OHS 11-12 Center is Don Netoskie, who is in his fourth year as Student Relations Director.

Mr. Lawrence McGinnis served as athletic director in 1973-74 after a long and successful tenure as head basketball coach at OHS.

'Abstract' Describes Art Department

"Abstract" is the word describing the OHS art department during the past year. Both 9-10 and 11-12 Centers dealt more in modern and abstract art.

For the first time, Mr. Jack Poynter, the 11-12 art teacher, restricted his senior art students to using only photographs of real life or imagination as a source of their creations. This was to help the student to become more aware and to stimulate their growth as an artist.

Mrs. Jackie Puckett and Mrs. Gloria McRoberts encouraged many "fun" projects at the 9-10 Center such as face masks, ceramics and wall hangings.

Other projects at both centers were macrame, abstract water colors, paper batiks, sketching woodcuts, dot and verticle line drawings and for the first time, hard-edge paintings.

Some of the classes also made trips to various art shows, including those at Wesleyen, the Owensboro Museum and the Evansville Museum.

ROTC Divided Between Two Campuses

There was a split in the ROTC program at Owensboro High in 1974.

The cadet corps were divided between the two campuses. The major difficulties in this situation was in getting together for activities after school.

A major change within the military science program this year was the addition of new classrooms and administrative offices at the 9-10 Center. Col. Willis Brooks believes that there was a psychological advantage to the new facilities and that they increased "pride" in the corps.

Another change was in uniform policy, primarily for the purpose of attracting more students. ROTC students were required to wear their uniforms only two days a week in contrast with the three days required in previous years.

Distributive Education Makes Changes

Leslie Barnhart shows Distributive Education student Jimmy Cox how to use a cash register in the model laboratory set up for DE students this year.

"Change" is the word for the Distributive Education Department.

Two new school stores, one at the 11-12 Center and the other at the 9-10 Center, were established this year in conjunction with the DE classes.

The two stores sold a variety of articles that included T-shirts, sweatshirts, pocket combs, pencils and notebooks. The stores were open before school and between classes.

Department Head Dale Rouse believes that the stores created more interest in Distributive Education. He feels that the 9-10 store helped the sophomores get involved and learn more about purchasing, selling and advertising.

The OHS 11-12 Distributive Education Department also had a second new addition. It was a state required DE laboratory.

In the new lab, students learned how to make displays, operate cash registers and how to make print signs.

Mr. Bill Little, a new DE teacher at OHS, explained that the lab was primarily for the juniors, while seniors had on-the-job training.

Horticulture Program Started

Ornamental Horticulture was offered to OHS students for the first time in 1973-74.

The class was open to students in grades 9 through 12 and was taught by Mr. Fred Reneau.

Until the greenhouse was completed, the students actually propagated plants in the classroom. The class sowed grass plots behind the Owenboro Vocational School. They also developed a compost, a decaying conglamoration of organic matter, and planted bulbs in a temporary cold frame in preparation for a greenhouse.

Construction of the 28' by 52' greenhouse located in the southwest corner of the student parking lot began in November.

English Head Vista Morris Retires

Miss Vista Morris, the first and only chairman of the English Department at Owensboro High School, retired at the end of the 1974 school year.

Miss Morris had taught at OHS since 1948 and had served as chairman of the English Department since 1957.

A native of Owensboro who attended Owensboro High School, Miss Morris taught in the Owensboro Public Schools from 1934 until her retirement at the end of the 1974 school year.

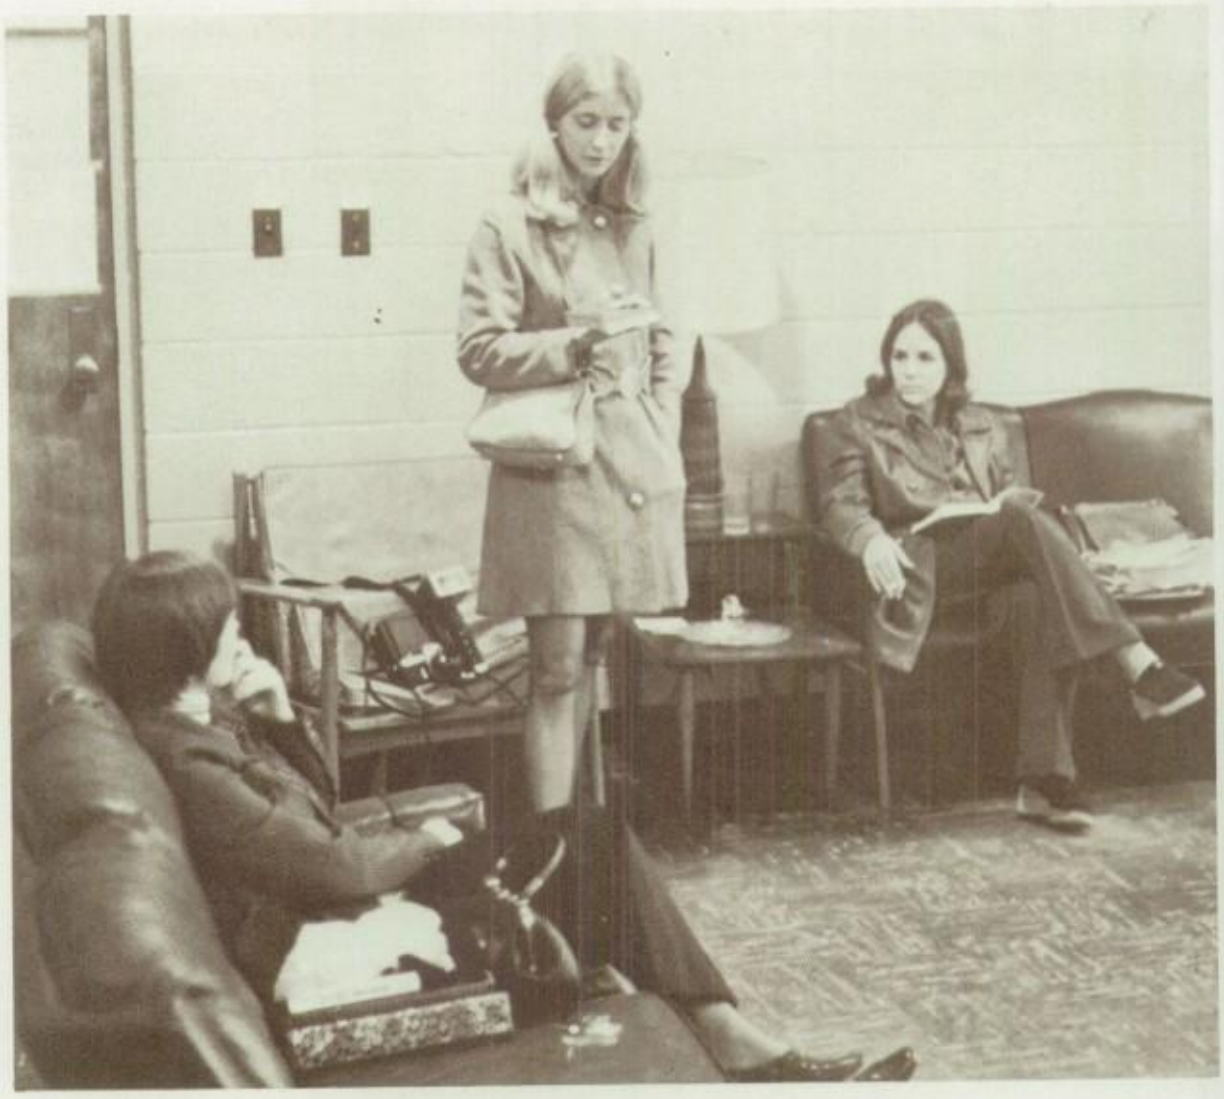
She started as a third grade teacher at Lee Elementary, taught Latin at Central Junior High (now Southern) and was librarian at Jefferson Junior High from 1940 to 1948.

Miss Morris won numerous honors in her years at OHS. Earlier this year, she was named "Outstanding Educator in America." The honor was bestowed on the OHS English department chairman "in recognition of past achievements and service in the field of education."

She has served as president of the Kentucky Council of Teachers of English (1958-59), president of the Owensboro Education Association (1956-57) and Kentucky president of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society International.

Miss Morris has been named to a number of publications and has served on a number of other groups and committees.

The Phase Elective English program, which Miss Morris helped start at the 11-12 Center two years ago, was started at the 9-10 Center during the 1973-74 school year.



Three Owensboro High School English instructors are seen during a typical after-school session in the teacher's lounge on the first floor of the 11-12 Center. Discussing the problems of the day are Suzanne Willis, Kathy Whitmer and Peggy Cardinal.

Model Office Practice Started in Business

Model Office Practice completed its first year as a class at OHS (11-12 Center) in 1973-74. OHS was one of 20 high schools in Kentucky that made the class a job.

Business Department Head Larry Bruce served as office manager of the 16 employees in the office. Before the students got a job, they had to fill out an application and also be interviewed. The employees could be fired or quit with two weeks notice. The office was divided into eight positions: typists, file clerks, mail clerks, machine operators, payroll clerks, billing clerks and a receptionist.

Mr. Bruce pointed out that the main problem with the program was "the high rate of absenteeism," but he believes it is good experience.

Besides offering Model Office Practice, OHS also offered the regular typing, shorthand and bookkeeping classes, along with business law, business management, notehand, business English, office machines and co-operative office practice.

New Courses in Industrial Arts

Two new courses in Industrial Arts were added this year — Mass Production and Architectural Drawing. Architectural Drawing was a one-year course and primarily for those planning to be an architect. Pre-requisites for the course were Mechanical Drawing I and II courses. The course was divided into four areas of concentration that included: Area Planning, Basic Architectural Plans, Technical Architectural Drafting and Design. Architectural Drawing was taught by Mr. James Shrewsberry.

The other new course — Mass Production — was taught by Roger Worth and dealt with production in quanitity, usually done by machines.

Other Industrial Art courses taught at OHS were General Shop, Woodwork, Metalwork and Mechanical Drawing.

The department head, James Shrewsberry, believes that the new courses added to the curriculum have broadened the range of learning experiences for OHS students this year.

Individualized Instruction in Foreign Languages

OHS offers a variety of Foreign Languages — Latin, German, Spanish and French, as well as great opportunities for its students to come in contact with exchange students from other countries. These contacts often form the basis for a student's continuing interest in a foreign language.

This year's exchange student was Ana Maria Daisy Alas Garcia or better known as "Daisy."

Daisy, who is from Central America, attended OHS for the entire 1973-74 school year. During the first half of her stay she lived at the homes of Joni Cravens and Anita Taylor. After Dec. 19, she lived with Mr. and Mrs . John Beard.

This year an attempt was made at individualizing instruction. The slower students were allowed to take as much time as they need in order to master the material while others progressed at their own speed. The students seemed to learn more while they established a firm foundation which they can use in continuing their study of the language.

Home Ec Has A Number of Boys

The home economics rooms at Owensboro High always seem to have some mysterious odor coming from them — even if occasionally it is a burned smell.

Women's Lib might be taking over in the classes, judging from the large number of boys who signed up for "Family Living" at OHS this year. A record number of boys were enrolled in the coed classes for 1973-74.

In Family Living, the boys actually sewed bow ties, pillows, stuffed animals and aprons.

Besides the coed and regular classes offered in Family Living, OHS also offered courses in child care, clothing and food management, housing and interior design, personal and family development, home ec — career or college bound.

Home Ec classes at the 9-10 Center found all new equipment at the new rooms this year. While late in getting the rooms ready for use, the students had a variety of "home" experiences on the 9-10 level.

Family living was offered for the second year in a row with more boys than girls interested in the coed classes. In one class, Mrs. Sandra Harrington, demonstrates the use of the sewing machine for the students.

Coed Classes Popular in PE

The Physical Education department had the largest enrollment of coeds in the history of Owensboro High this year.

The fuel shortage affected the co-ed classes more than any other area of education at OHS. In the opinion of Department Head Adrian Hayes, students signed up for the coed classes, thinking that they would go swimming, ice-skating, bowling etc., but the outside activities were cut because the busses were not available. Some of the coed classes did manage to go roller-skating, bowling and play tennis at Moreland Park. The coed classes used the gym during cold weather, playing volleyball, badminton, and various other non-contact sports.

Besides coed classes, OHS also offers strictly male and female classes. They participate in activities similar to those of the coed classes.

The trampoline is always a popular activity. Sophomore Amy Maglinger demonstrates the perfect jackknife as her classmates watch with interest. The 9-10 Center girls had a gym all their own this year as a new facility was built for the boys.

Social Studies Go to Phase Elective

World Communism? . . . Political Theory? . . . Crime and Law? Wow! What happened to Social Studies this year?

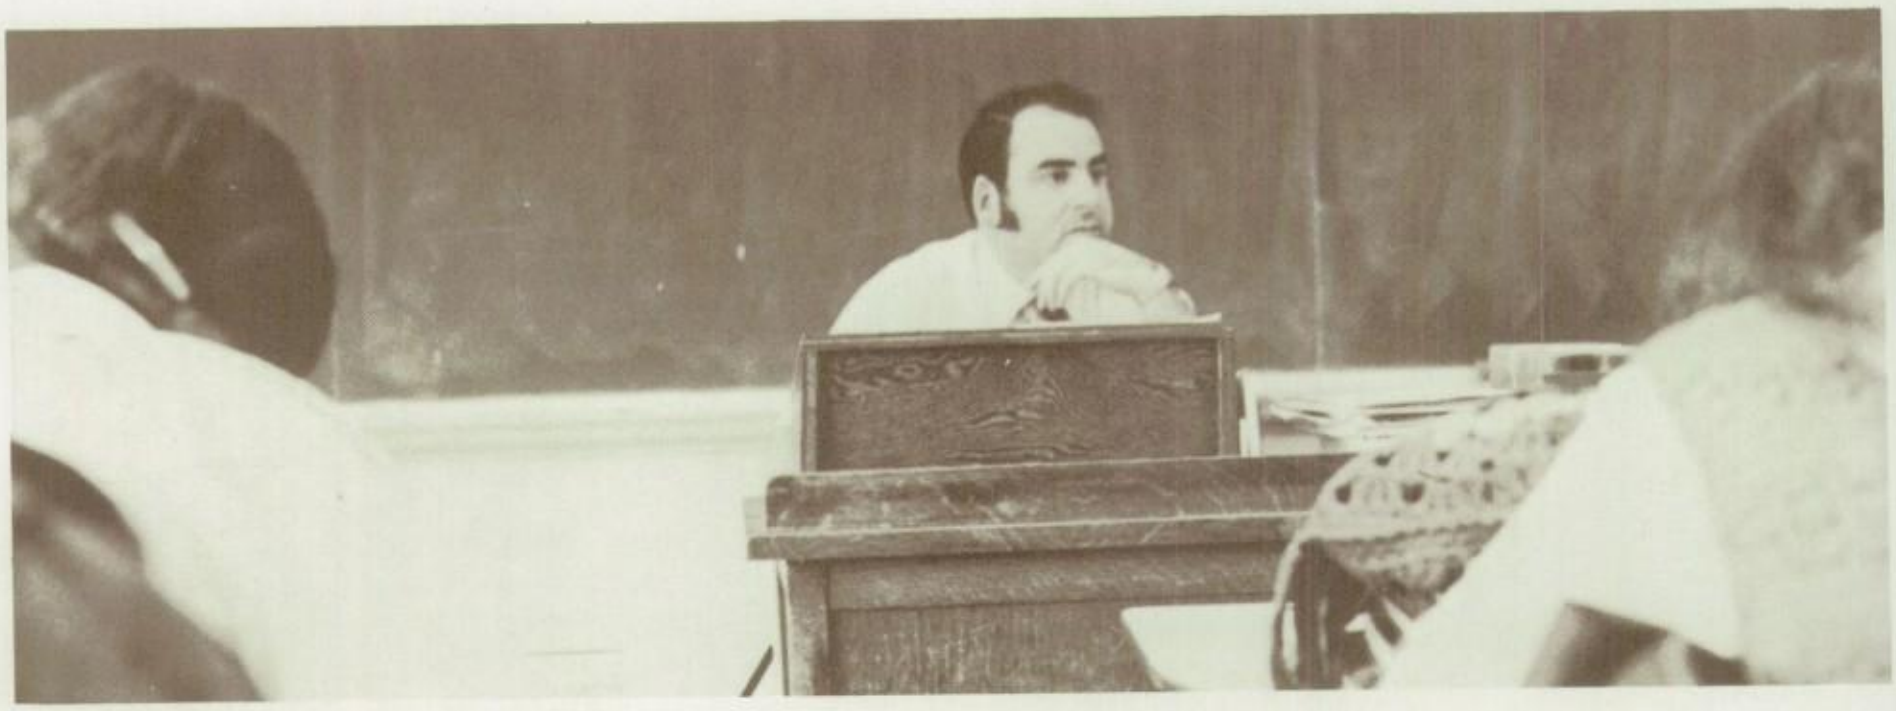
The major change was from a traditional schedule of classes to a newer curriculum scheduling of phase-elective courses.

For the first time in the school's history, students were able to choose electives that could be substituted for required government or history courses.

Mr. Thomas Kurz, the department head for the last two years, believes that through the free election the students have learned more. He said there were few complaints from either the teachers or the students this year concerning the phase elective program.

The main problems in the Social Studies area involved scheduling conflicts.

In some areas, the classes were too fragmented. In other cases the classes overlapped with each other or with other departments. Mr. Kurz has said that next year the program will be cut somewhat, with fewer phases offered in some grades.



Thomas Kurz keeps a close eye on his government students while they take a test. With the Phase Elective program, tests were the one occurance that was not new.

OHS Had Prize-Winning Band, Chorus in 1974

OHS had one of the finest music departments in the state in 1973-74 with both a prize-winning band and chorus.

The major change within the department was the addition of Chamber Choir into the curriculum as a full credit course that met every day. This allowed interested students to be involved in music two hours a day instead of the regular one hour. With the addition of Chamber Choir, the music department was also able to give more concerts than usual.

Phillip Cole served as the band director. The OHS band received a superior rating at Murray State University.

Thomas Pope, the department head, was in charge of the choral music while David Shaner taught instrumental music at the 9-10 Center.

Academic Skills, Careers Taught in Special Ed

Special Education classes at Owensboro High School worked with the academic skills that are needed to exist in our present society.

Much emphasis was placed on English, Math, Health and Family Living.

Mr. Ron Peyton's class at the 11-12 Center also received assistance from a vocational counselor who attempted to place students in full-time jobs and also helped them plan for advanced vocational studies.

The classes of Karen Heberlein and Debra Huff at the 9-10 Center were similar to Mr. Peyton's and included an extensive study on careers and career opportunities. The class also simulated job interviews in order to prepare them for actual work experience.

Mini Science Classes Offered at 9-10 Center

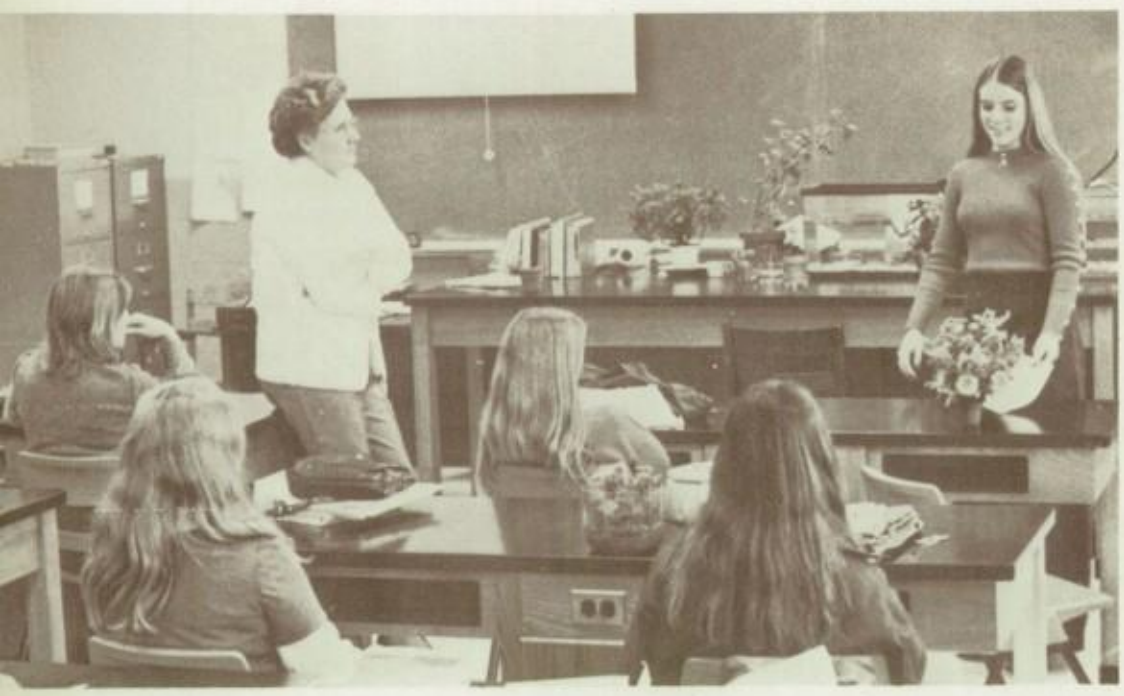
Science classes changed at the 9-10 Center in 1973-74.

For example, one of the "mini" courses had students making and shooting rockets.

The class was taught by Mr. John Hocker and no textbook was used. The class involved the history of rockets and the theory of why they fly. The class built small rockets and then launched them, the highest one going about a quarter of a mile.

Other 9-10 "mini" courses included "The Behavior of Atoms," "Plant Identification," "Plant Physiology", "Invertebrate and Vertebrate Zoologies," "Animal Identification and Behavior," "Astronomy," "Basic Oceanography," and "Meteorology," "Introduction to Fossils" and many others totaling 36 mini courses.

At the 11-12 Center, there were only unit courses taught in Science. These included Physical and Biological Sciences, Biology, Aviation Education, Chemistry, Physics and advanced courses.



Mrs. Louise Carpenter's classes provided many opportunities for student participation. In this biology class, sophomore Stephanie Sturgeon reports to her classmates on one aspect of plant life.

Math Changed at 9-10 Center

Math at the 9-10 Center this year was a center of major change. Nine week mini courses, ranging from Recreational Math to History of Math, were added to the curriculum.

The math courses not only added more variety to the general math students schedule but also gave them a chance to study topics not usually covered by traditional math classes.

The 11-12 Center continued to offer the same courses with no addition of mini courses. General Math, Elementary Algebra I and II, Algebras I and II, Geometry, Applied General Math, Trigonometry and Calculus were offered.

Students Take Driver's Ed for Insurance Discount

According to a federal government report, "Driving and riding with other young drivers is the greatest hazard to survival that American youth must pass to successfully reach adulthood."

This even includes war. More lives are lost every year by auto accidents than were lost in the entire Vietnam conflict. Of the 67,800 fatal accidents in 1971, more than one third of all fatalities occured to drivers in the 24 and under group.

Can driver's education help? According to another survey, teenage girls show more safety improvement after such courses than boys.

The major reason that students take Driver's Education is because it can provide up to a 15 percent cut in auto insurance.

The Driver's Education course at Owenboro High is probably typical of similar courses taught at other high schools, where students test drive with simulators, take a written test and then take to the road.

Superintendent James Hilliard is a frequent speaker at OHS occasions. One event at which he spoke in 1973-74 was the ROTC Awards Banquet in the school cafeteria.

Dr. James Hilliard was interested in the Louisville Central-OHS basketball game at the Sportscenter but son David and daughter Susan had other interests. Next to Dr. Hilliard is Dr. Duane Miller, psychologist for the Owensboro Public Schools.

Board Governs City Schools; Have New Office

The Owensboro Board of Education is the governing body for the Owensboro Public Schools.

The five-member board is elected by Owensboro voters.

Members of the 1973-74 Board of Education are: James Madole (chairman), James Allison, Mark Moseley, Dr. Merrill Schell and Mrs. Mary Lovett.

Three of the Board members — Mrs. Lovett, Dr. Schell and Mr. Moseley — had children enrolled at Owensboro High School during the past year.

Serving as head of the Owensboro Public Schools is Superintendent James Hilliard.

Dr. Hilliard has been head of the Owensboro Schools since July of 1968.

The Board of Education moved into new quarters during 1973-74. The Board moved to new facilities at 1335 West 11th Street from the previous location of 620 Walnut St.

While students have little contact with the Board, the superintendent is a frequent speaker or guest at OHS sponsored events.

Guidance Helps Students in Two Major Ways

The Guidance Counselors at OHS help the students in two major ways.

First, they adjust schedules, handle grades and other paper work.

Secondly, they try to administer to each individuals needs by listening to their problems, by giving advice and by helping with future educational plans.

With more additional space this year, an "Information Center" was added to the 11-12 Guidance department.

The Information Center provided career, college and military information to any student who desired it. It was also used as a place where students could meet with representatives from colleges and universities.

Dorothy Brumbaugh, who has been head of the OHS guidance department for 15 years, believes that more work needs to be done in meeting the needs of students who do not plan to go to college, but wish to work after graduation.

Paperwork was endless throughout the year in the guidance department. The 11-12 Center guidance counselors, Thomas Ash and Dorothy Brumbaugh, found that keeping up with the paper work was a full-time job.

Guidance Counselors Ray Kimbel and Jean Williams look at the computer scheduling lists for the 9-10 Center. This year, as in recent years, all scheduling and report cards were done by computers.

Overdue books are always a problem at the 11-12 Center for librarians, Jimadean Ireland and Marilyn Hamilton. The librarians contacted students in regard to overdue books and were usually paid promptly. Mrs. Irland is president-elect of the Kentucky Library Association.

Librarians Helen Smith and Ann Myre work in their new office at the 9-10 Center. The library at the 9-10 Center is carpeted for a quieter study area for the students. The new library features the "open" concept with the books around three walls.

9-10 Center Library Gets 3,000 New Books

Nearly 3,000 new books were added to the 9-10 Center Library this year, along with 1,100 books that were left behind by Southern Middle School. Not only were the books new, but all the furniture and shelves were new in the 9-10 Library.

Construction of the new library at the 9-10 Center included two offices, one conference room and an audio-visual room.

Included in the audio-visual room are television sets, tape recorders, film strip projectors, 16 mm projectors, record players, overhead projectors, opaque projectors and screens.

The library subscribed to between 60 and 70 different magazines this year.

More emphasis was put on student-involvement in various library functions by the 9-10 librarians.

The 11-2 Center added 117 new books this year. The 11-12 Library had the option of giving the 9-10 Center library one third of its books or the money that was alloted for the purchase of new books.

The 11-12 librarians chose to keep the books rather than buy new ones since the students were already familiar with the older ones.

Mrs. Jimadean Ireland, head librarian at the 11-12 Center, was elected vice-president (president elect) of the Kentucky Library Association during the year.

The 11-12 Center cafeteria was operated by Head Matron Maxine Napper, Mary Tooley, Lorene Williams, Golda Crowe, Bernice Atherton, Gladys Hollifield, Virginia Wilson, Eloise Weidemann, Martha Skaggs, Mildred Westerfield and Marietta Fleming.

Cafeterias Prepare Food for Over 2,000 Students

The 11-12 Center was the only area school to have an a la carte lunch this year. There was no a la carte line at the 9-10 center.

The 9-10 Center had a sandwich line or "government lunch" that was a plate lunch that always included a sandwich. The 11-12 Center also had a sandwich line in addition to the a la carte line.

The 9-10 Center cooks had to prepare food for over 2,000 students, including not only the 9-10 students but also Southern Middle and Goodloe Elementray students. This was the reason for no a la carte line at the 9-10 Center.

The 11-12 Center cooks prepared some 700 lunches a day.

Mrs. Sherry Benson, lunchroom supervisor, was responsible for the menus in the "government" line. She tried to please the students while complying to state requirements.

Maintenance Provided the Shiny School Floors After Vacations

Did you ever notice how nice and shiny the floors looked at school after one of the several short vacations during the school year? That was the work of the OHS Maintenance Staff.

The entire staff consisted of 15 people, seven at the 11-12 Center and eight at the 9-10 Center.

J.B. Howard supervised and provided the leadership necessary for maintaining a clean and healthy school environment. He also made or directed needed repairs at the 11-12 Center.

Mr. Dudley Jones served as head custodian at the 9-10 Center.

Secretaries Fill Variety of Roles

The secretaries at OHS were concerned with the regular duties that confront secretaries — typing, filing, answering the phone, serving as receptionists and generally just keeping the office in order.

Mrs. Nancy Purdy, an 11-12 Center secretary, took on the additional job of removing warts with a secret chant. Mrs. Purdy has removed some 200 warts from various "patients."

Mrs. Margaret Duckworth served as the bookkeeper at the 11-12 Center, while Mrs. Betty Nixon kept the financial records at the 9-10 Center.

The receptionist at the 11-12 Center was Mrs. Sharon Knox until late January. She was replaced by Mrs. Tommie Horn. The secretaries at the 9-10 Center were Mrs. Sadie Rish and Mrs. Martha Mefford.

Secretarial help in the OHS libraries was provided by Nancy Troutman at the 11-12 Center and Martha Clark at the 9-10 Center.

The 9-10 Center was manned by Betty Nixon (seated) Sadie Rish and Martha Mefford. The new facility had a seperate office for each secretary.

SPORTS

Higgs, Webster Era Ends In State Opener

The basketball success era at Owensboro High School that has been labeled the Higgs-Webster years came to an abrupt halt in the opening round of the 57th Kentucky High School State Basketball Tournament at Louisville.

The curtain fell on the era as Lexington Bryan Station beat the Red Devils 75-60.

Owensboro's opening round loss left the Red Devils with a 26-6 won-lost record after a spectacular march through the district and regional tournament competition.

Owensboro came out hot, blowing out to a 27-10 advantage. The Red Devils, led by Kenny Higgs' 10 points, completely dominated the first 10 minutes of action.

Bryan Station then came alive behind the scoring and rebounding of Jack Givens who scored 12 points and grabbed 11 rebounds in the second quarter.

The Red Devils took care of their two district opponents Apollo and Catholic by a total of 82 points. It was the Red Devils' tenth straight district championship.

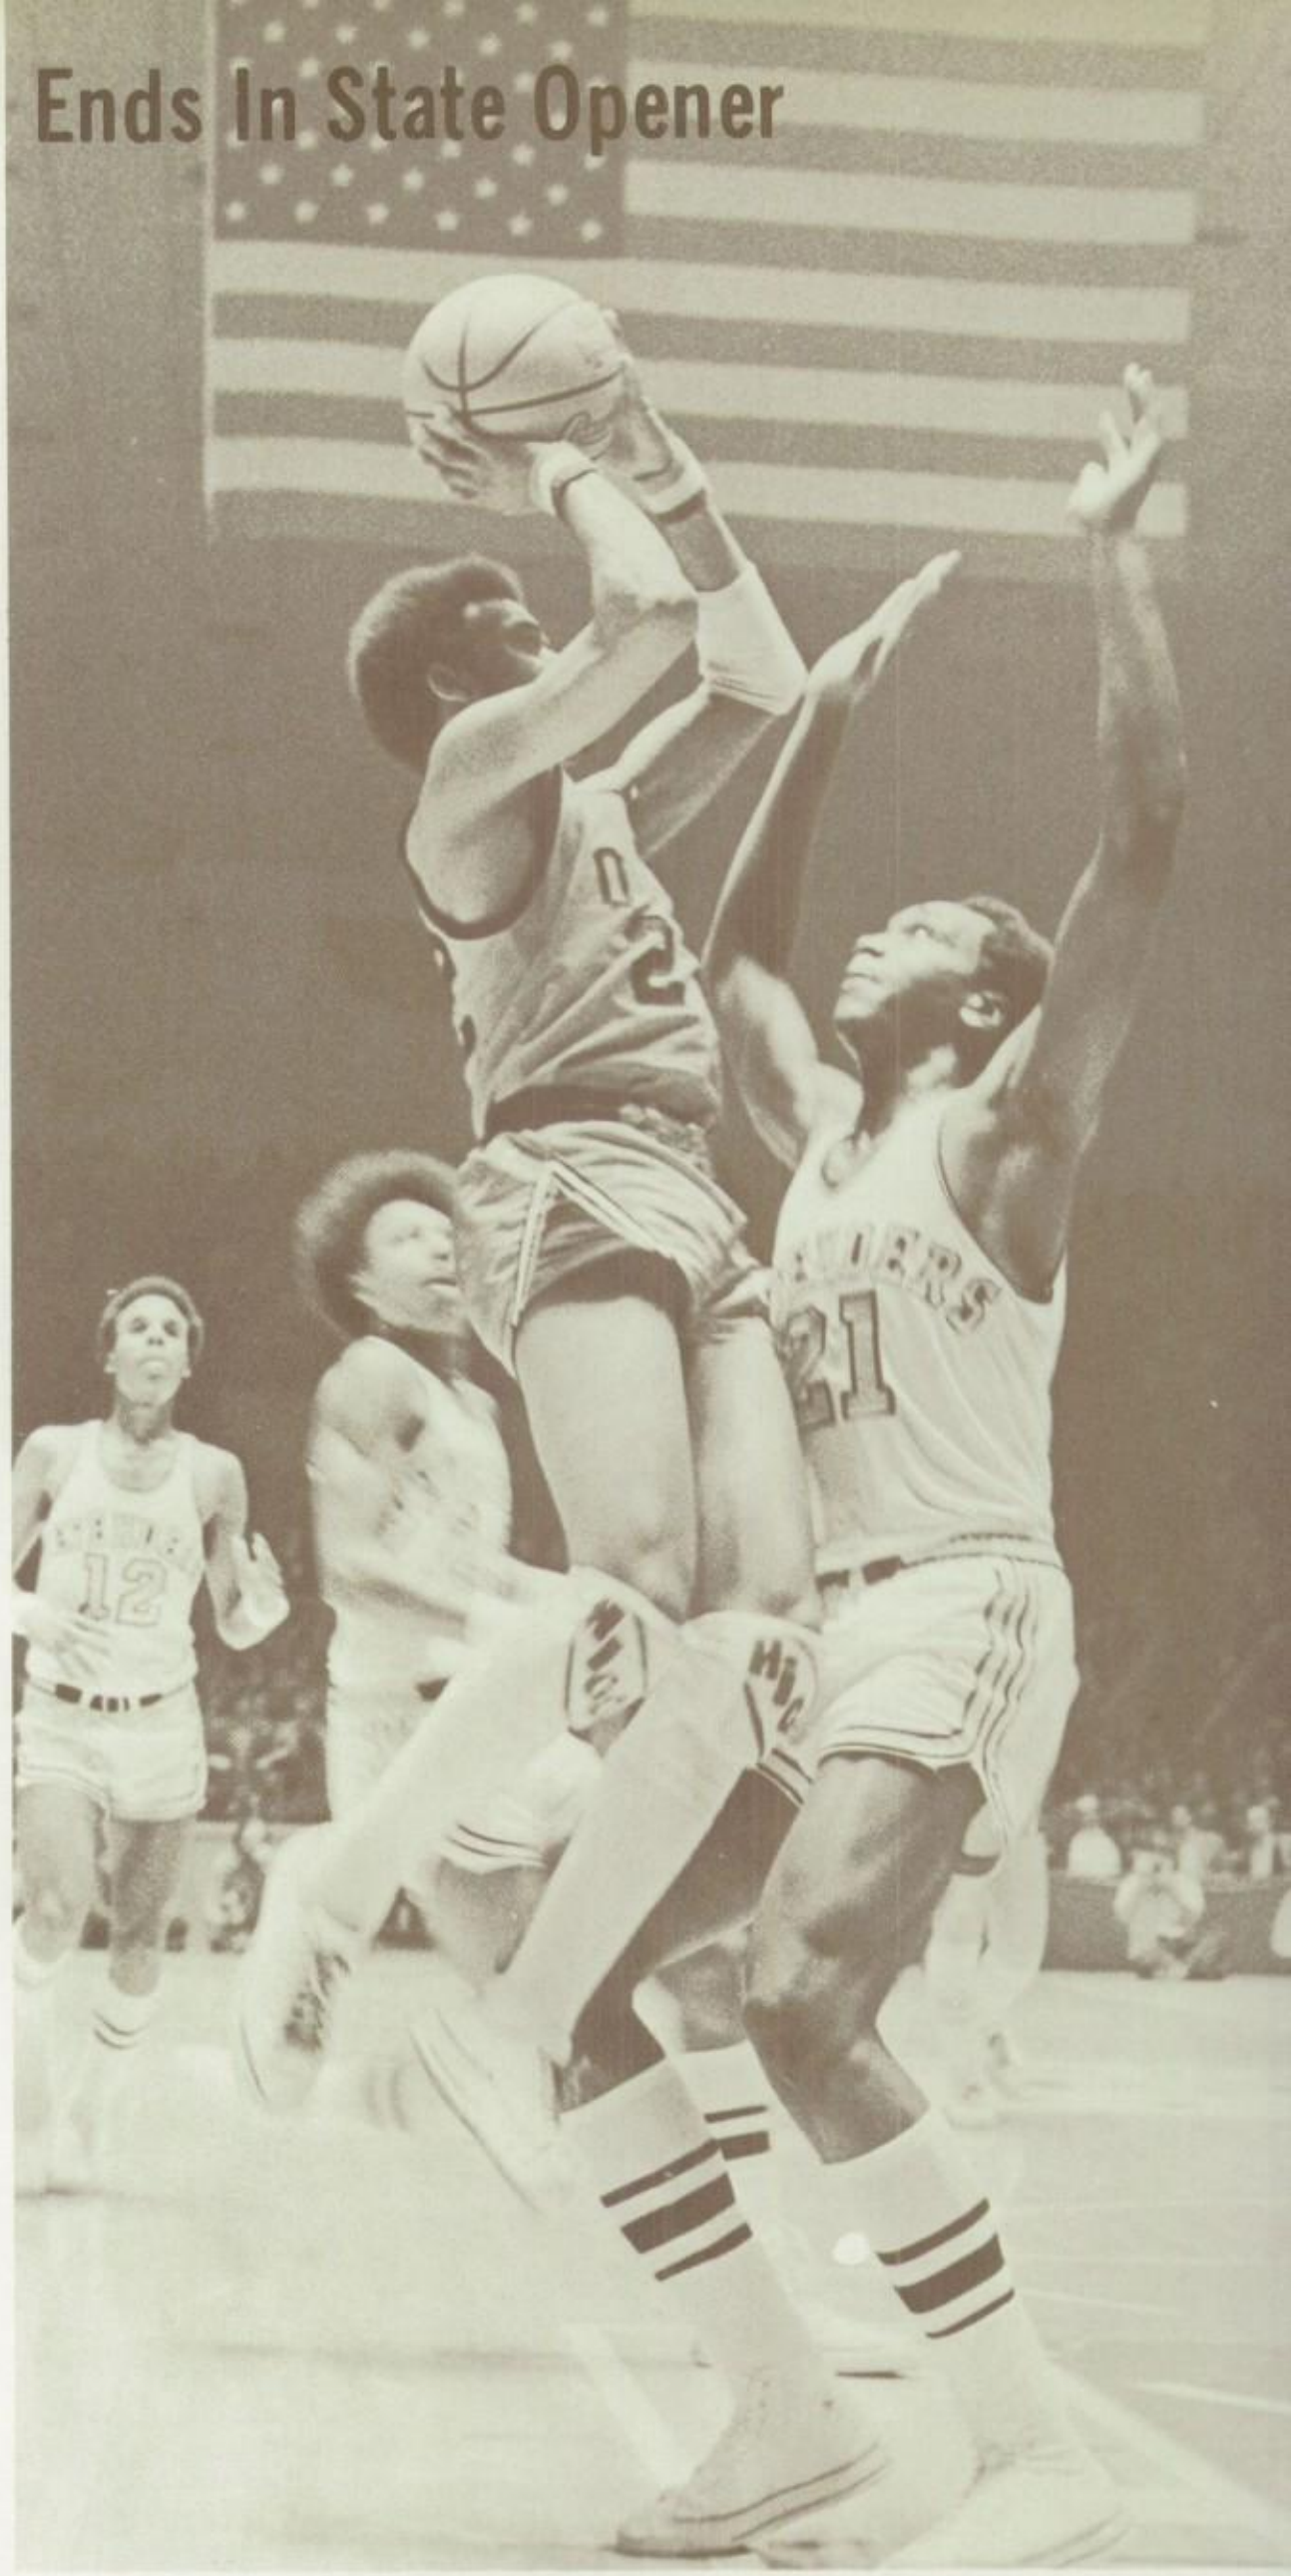
During the year four of the five starters for Owensboro were named to star teams. Higgs led the way by being named to State Tournament team along with being named first team all-state and receiving all district and all-regional honors for the third straight year.

Webster was named second team all state as well as being named to all-district and all-region teams for the second straight year. Steve Johnson was also named a member of the all-region team and Jo Jo Thruston received all-district honors.

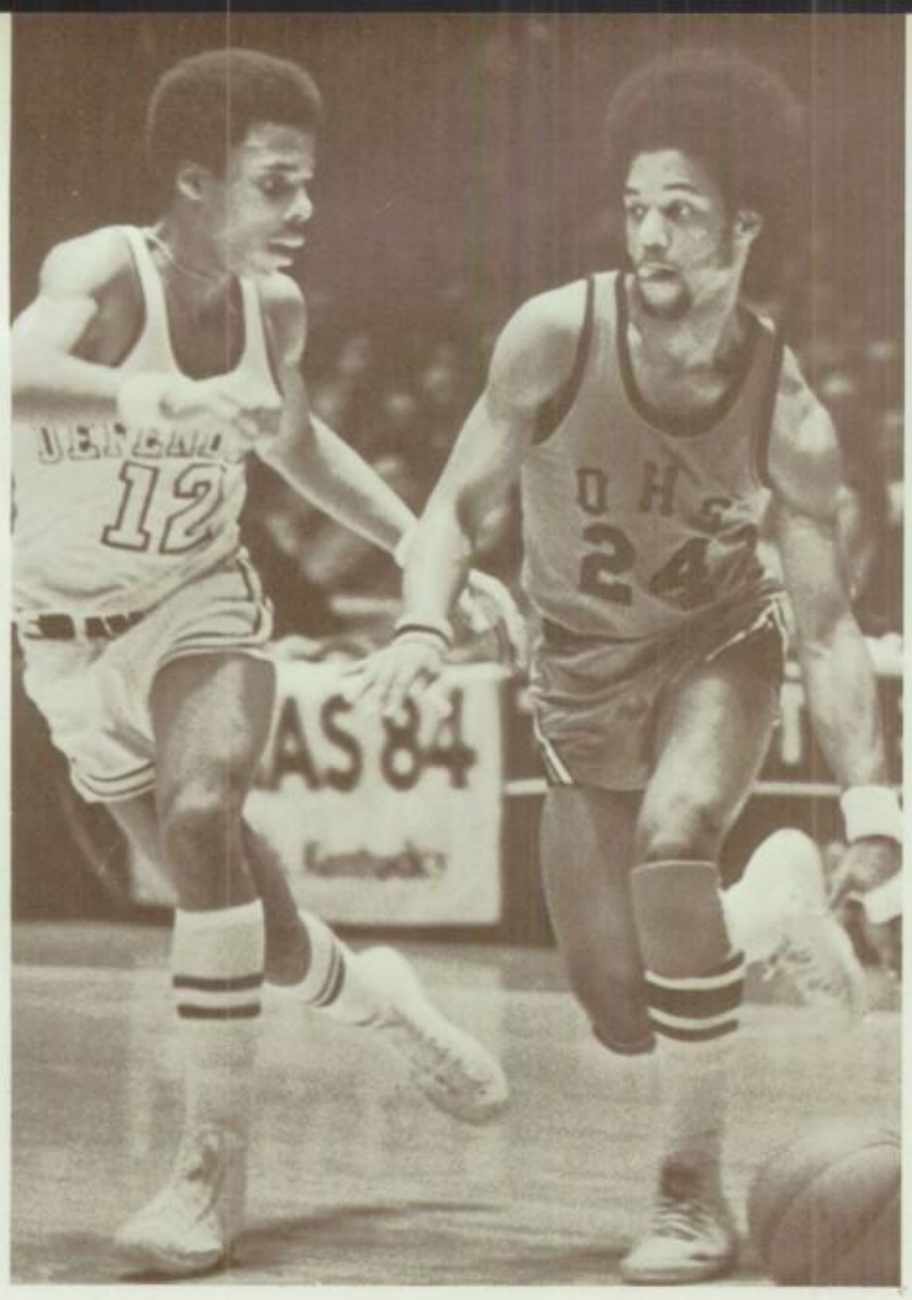
Higgs became the all-time leading scorer in OHS history with 1,833 points and Webster finished third with a career total of 1,407.

Ownesboro captured the Third Regional Tournament by knocking off Catholic High 78-46. The championship game didn't stir up much excitement as OHS had beaten Catholic three times during the year.

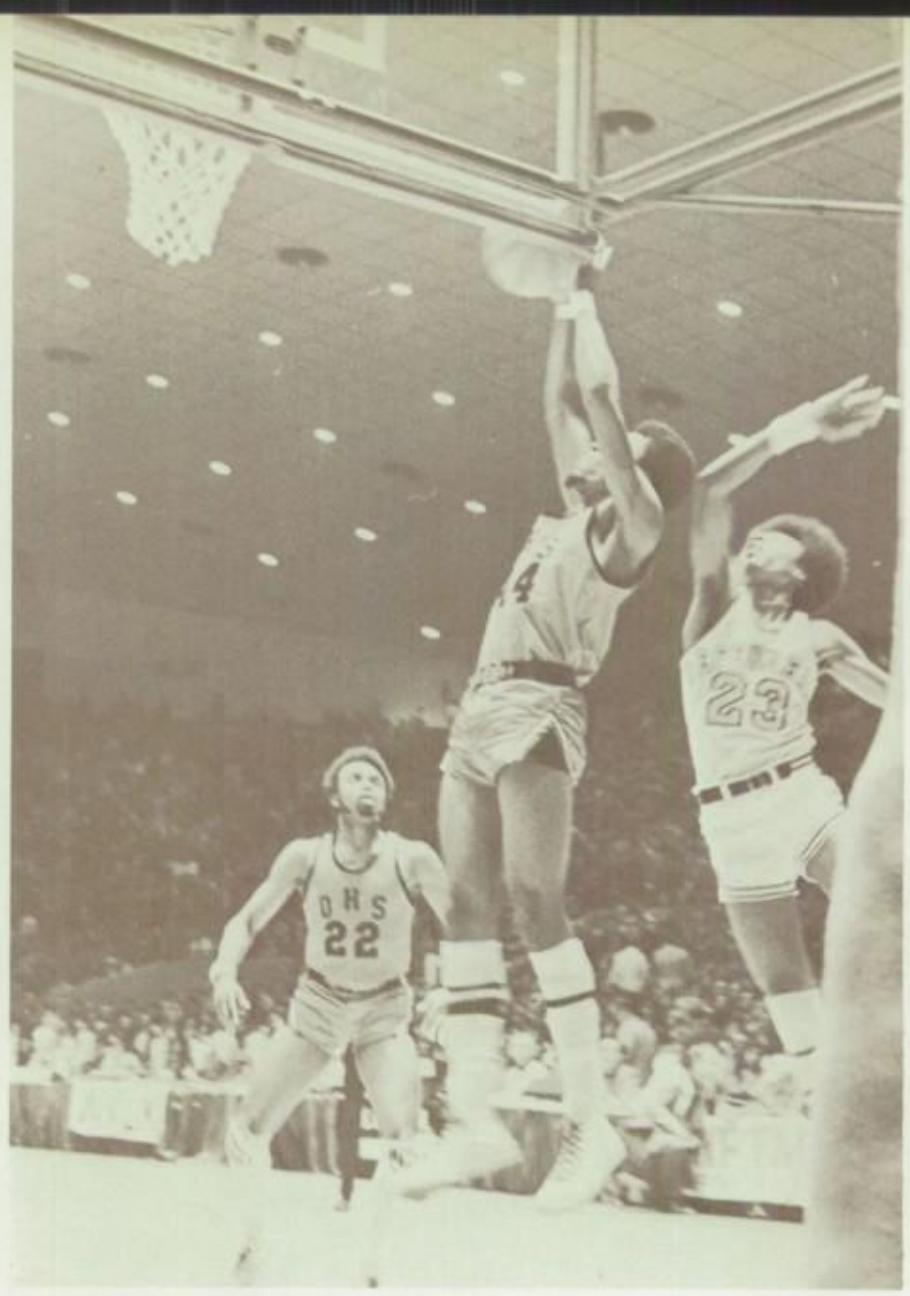
The real game of the regional tournament was the Edmonson County-Owensboro rematch. The two teams played before a packed Sportscenter crowd on a hot-and-muggy night. The emotions of the fans were just as hot as the weather with both sides in an uproar. The Red Devils led most of the game to avenge an earlier defeat at the hands of the Blue Devils 91-67.



The two best basketball players in Kentucky, Kenny Higgs of OHS and Jack Givens of Bryan Station, clashed in the Red Devils' opening game of the State Tournament. Givins outscored Higgs 35-24 and OHS suffered a 75-60 loss.



Guard Richard Reed appears to be dribbling with a basketball that is flat on the bottom in the opening round game of the State Tournament against Bryan Station. OHS was flatter than the ball in the second half in falling 75-60.



All-Stater Greg Webster pulls down a rebound in the opening game of the State Tournament against Bryan Station while Kenny Higgs waits for the outlet pass. Webster was an all-district and all-regional performer for the Red Devils.

Red Devils Lose to State Champs by Six Points

Coach Bobby Watson called the 1973-74 schedule one of the toughest his team has ever played.

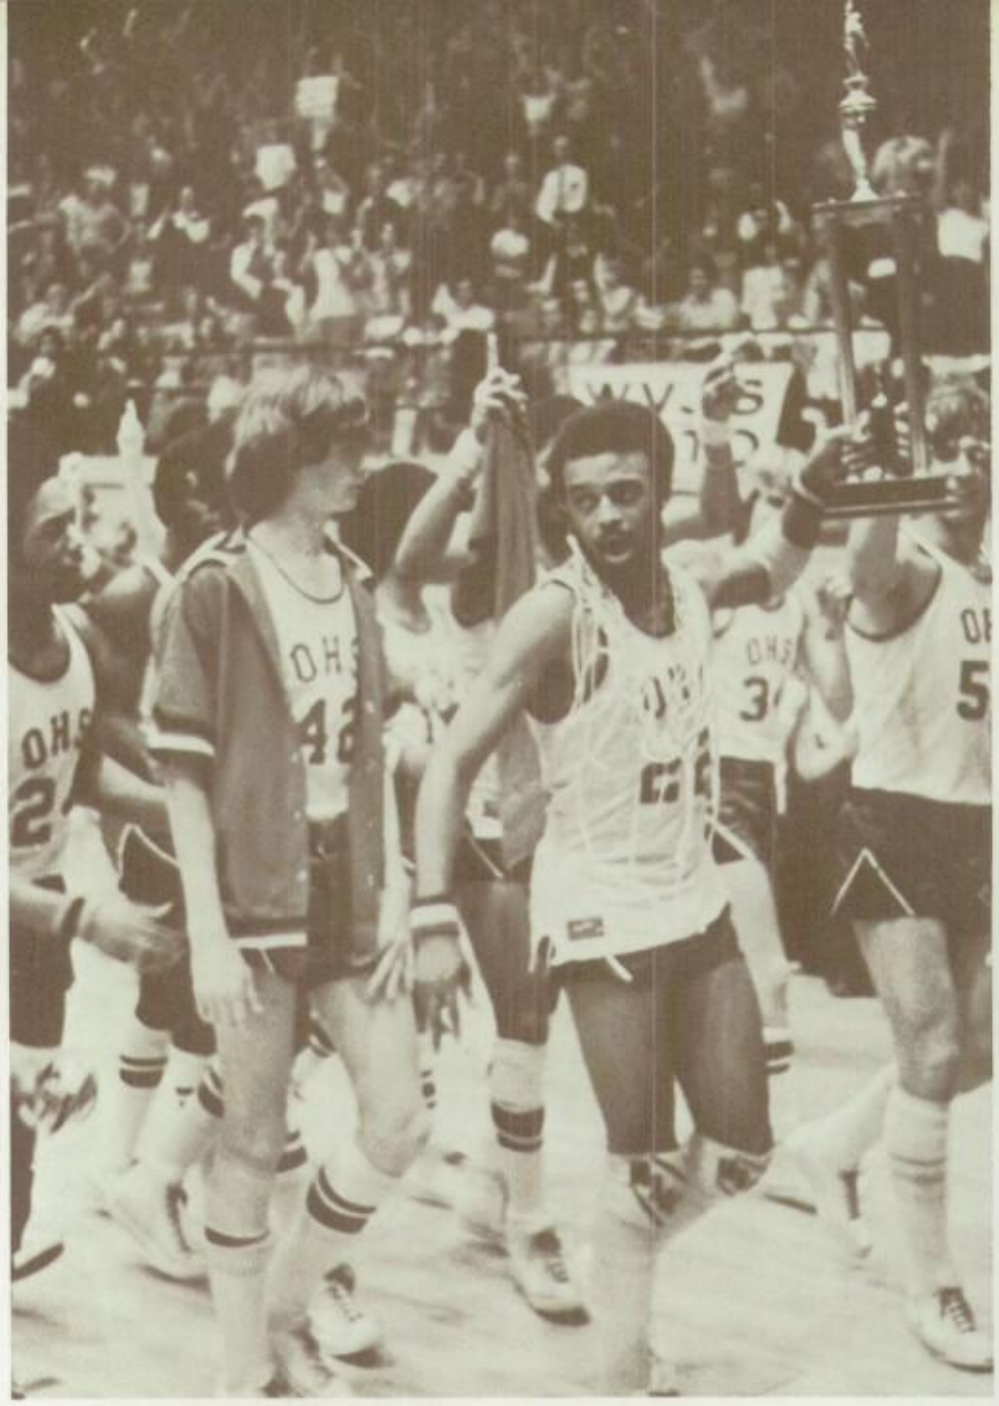
Owensboro bowed to a strong Louisville Ballard team during the semi-finals of the LIT. They also lost a six point decision to Central, the eventual state champ. Robert Miller of Central offset a good team effort by the Demons, hitting 100 percent from the free throw line and the field.

Early season defeats came at the hands of Madisonville by one point and to Union County by two points. The Red Devils also lost to Edmonson County by two, 92-90, in front of the hostile Blue Devil fans.

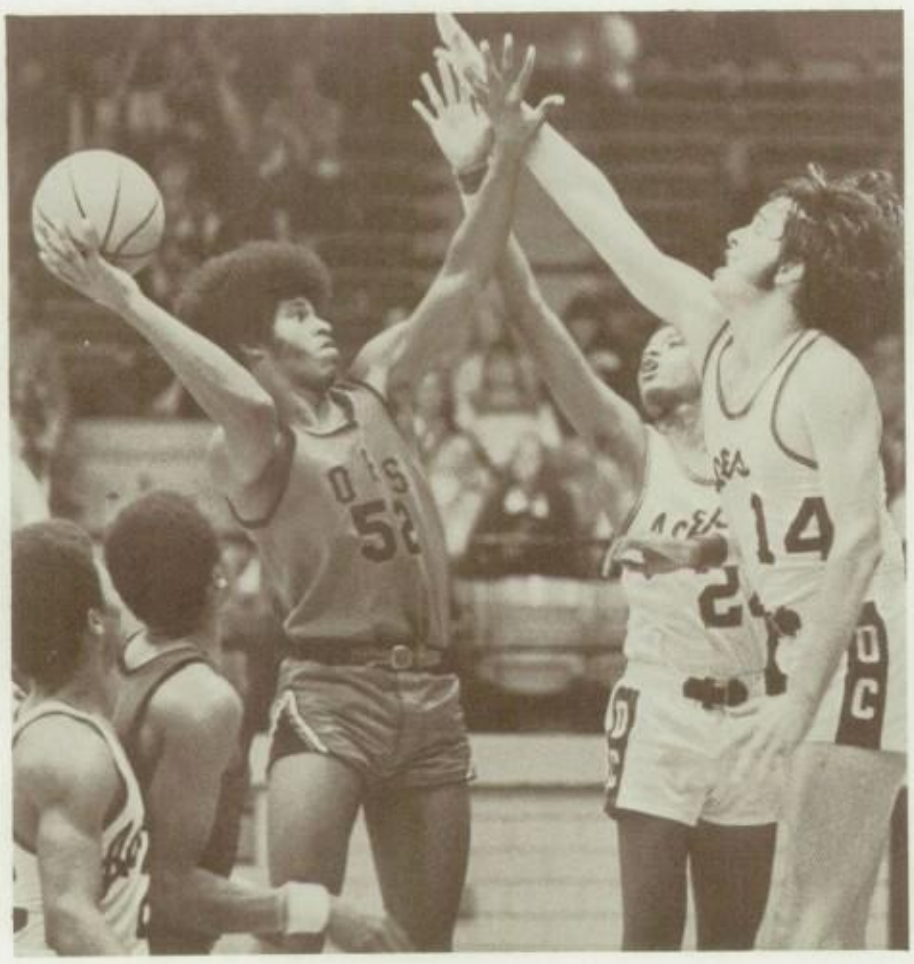
The Red Devils captured the Owensboro Invitational by defeating Bryan Station with Webster taking MVP honors for the tournament.

Male, the No. 2 in the State Tournament, was another victim of the Demons, falling by six points.

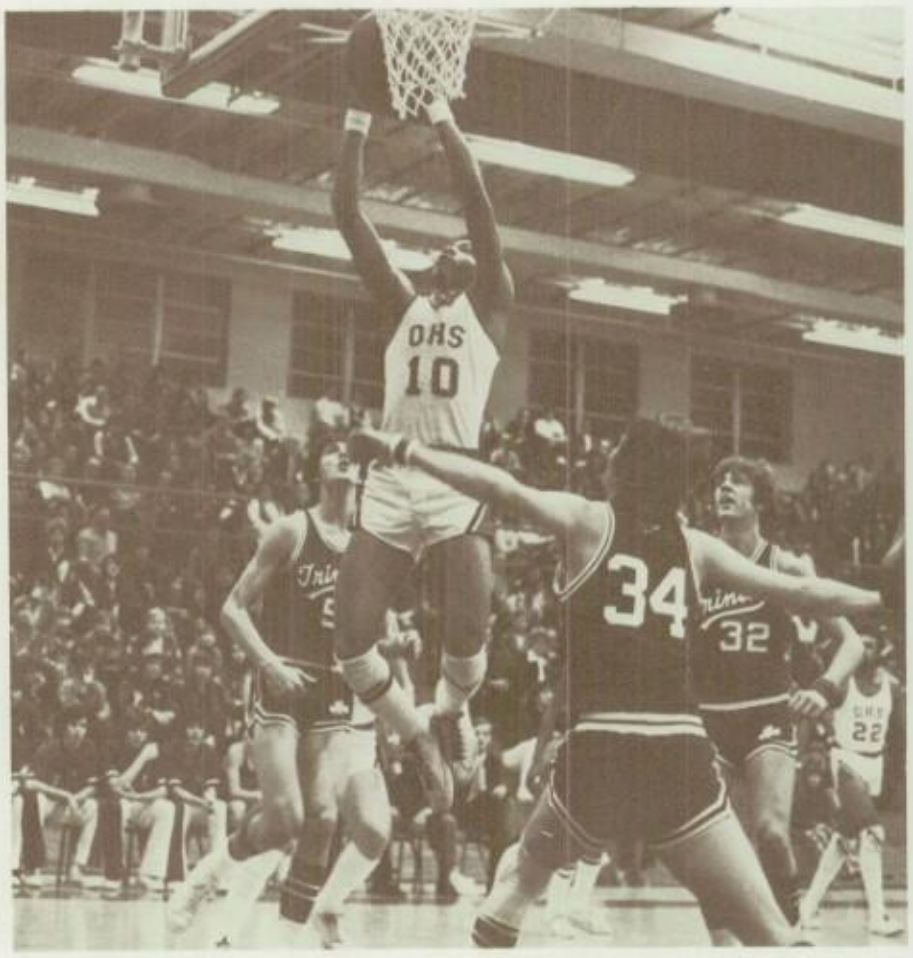
The Red Devils had a 21-5 season record.



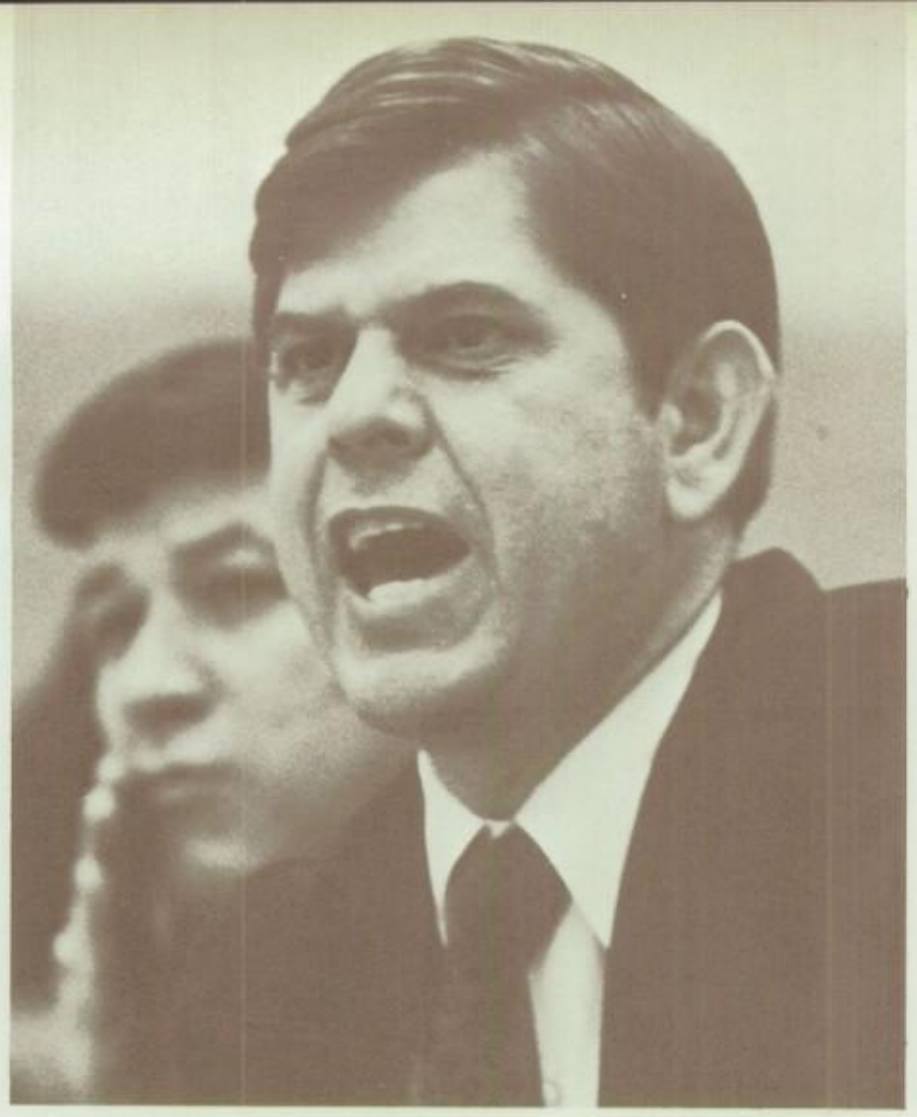
Kenny Higgs and Steve Johnson led the way off the floor for Owensboro High after beating Owensboro Catholic 78-46 for the regional championship. The victory marked the fifth straight regional title for OHS.



Myron Greenfield, an OHS junior, tries to make a shot against Owensboro Catholic in the regional finals. Greenfield was the No. 1 under-the-goal substitute for the Red Devils in 1973-74.



JoJo Thruston, an all-district performer for the Red Devils, pulls down a rebound against Louisville Trinity in the Louisville Invitational Tournament. Thruston was a regular as a sophomore and junior and returns in 1974-75.



Coach Bobby Watson yells some encouraging words to his players during the opening game of the State Tournament. Watson has had OHS in the State Tournament 11 of his 17 years as head coach. Assistant Coach Adrian Hayes is in the background.

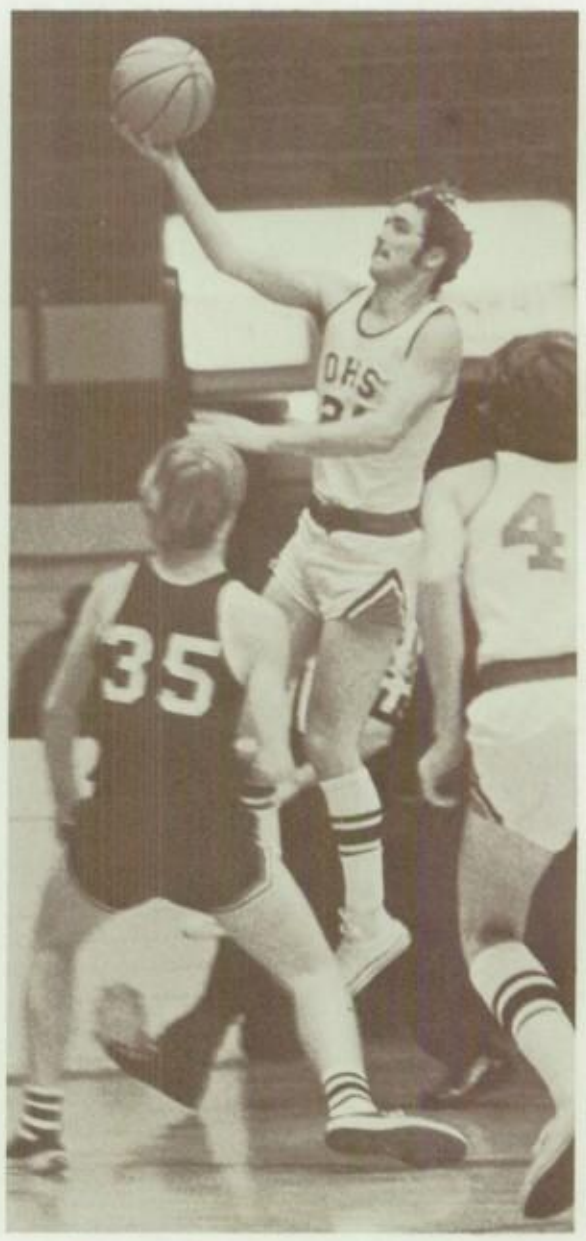
All-regional center Steve Johnson started every game for OHS in 1973-74. His rebounding and scoring helped the Red Devils return to the state meet.

Junior Darnell Taylor was the first substitute at guard for Owensboro High during the 1973-74 season. Taylor saw considerable action in relief of Kenny Higgs and Richard Reed.



Harley Trodglen goes up for two points during his best game of the season against Ohio County. Trodglen had some standout relief efforts for OHS in 1973-74.

Sophs Play JV, 10th Grade Schedule

Coach Tom Turner's sophomores, competing against juniors throughout the season, finished with a winning record of 15-8.

The sophomores played a dual role. They played a sophomore schedule and also played as the OHS junior varsity.

Ripo Hinton led the JV's in scoring and rebounding with a 10 point per game average and grabbing 7.3 deflections.

Ripo Hinton was "Mr. Everything" for the Junior Varsity team as he led the team in scoring with a 10.8 average and also topped the team in rebounding. He is working one of his moves on Charlie Brown of Catholic High in a preliminary game at the Sportscenter.

Injury-Plagued Frosh Finish With 17-3 Mark

Owensboro's freshman team closed out 1973-74 with a successful 17-3 basketball record.

Coach Bill Holbrook commented during the season that it was the worst he had ever had injury-wise. During the three losses, regulars were absent from lineup. Coach Holbrook felt that if the injury bug had not struck his team, they could have gone undefeated.

Monroe Griffith, although out half the season with a cast on his finger, turned in a sparkling performance for the year as he led the team in scoring at a 11.6 clip and rebounding with 11.4 per game.

Cross Country Wins 5th State Championship

By Don Barber

After playing bridesmaid to rival Daviess County for the past two years, Owensboro captured the 1973 cross country championship.

The meet was held on the last Saturday in October at Louisville's Collings Estate.

John Jones captured the title in a record time of 9:29:4. Jones took the lead from the start and never relinquished the front-running position. Defending state champ Jeff Miller, who had been bothered by injuries late in the season finished second. Harley Trodglen finished fifth for the Demons.

Coach Bob Puckett described the team in the beginning as one with "tremendous potential." After winning the state championship, Puckett called this team "the best" he had ever coached.

Puckett, who retired after the season, left behind a very impressive record. Under Puckett, the harriers captured state titles in 1967, 1968, 1969, 1970, 1973. OHS was runner-up to Daviess County in 1971 and 1972.

The Red Devils were led throughout the year by seniors Miller and Trodglen, along with Jones, who is a junior. But the key to the Demons success was in the second group of runners.

Senior Scott Farmer, juniors Brian Kunze, Jim Orrahood and newcomer Gary Finnell, along with "sensational freshman" Mitch Settle, combined to give the Devils the depth needed to win a state championship.

The 1973 champs were honored at a banquet held in the 11-12 Center cafeteria.

Retiring coach Puckett was presented a trophy and a plaque with the team members names inscribed.

Miller was named the top runner for the year. Miller won his first nine meets of the season.

Trophies were presented to members who ran during the year in 10:20 or under. Receiving trophies were Harley Trodglen 9:15, John Jones 9:16, Jeff Miller 9:19, Gary Finnell 9:51, Brian Kunze 10:07 and Jim Orrahood 10:18.

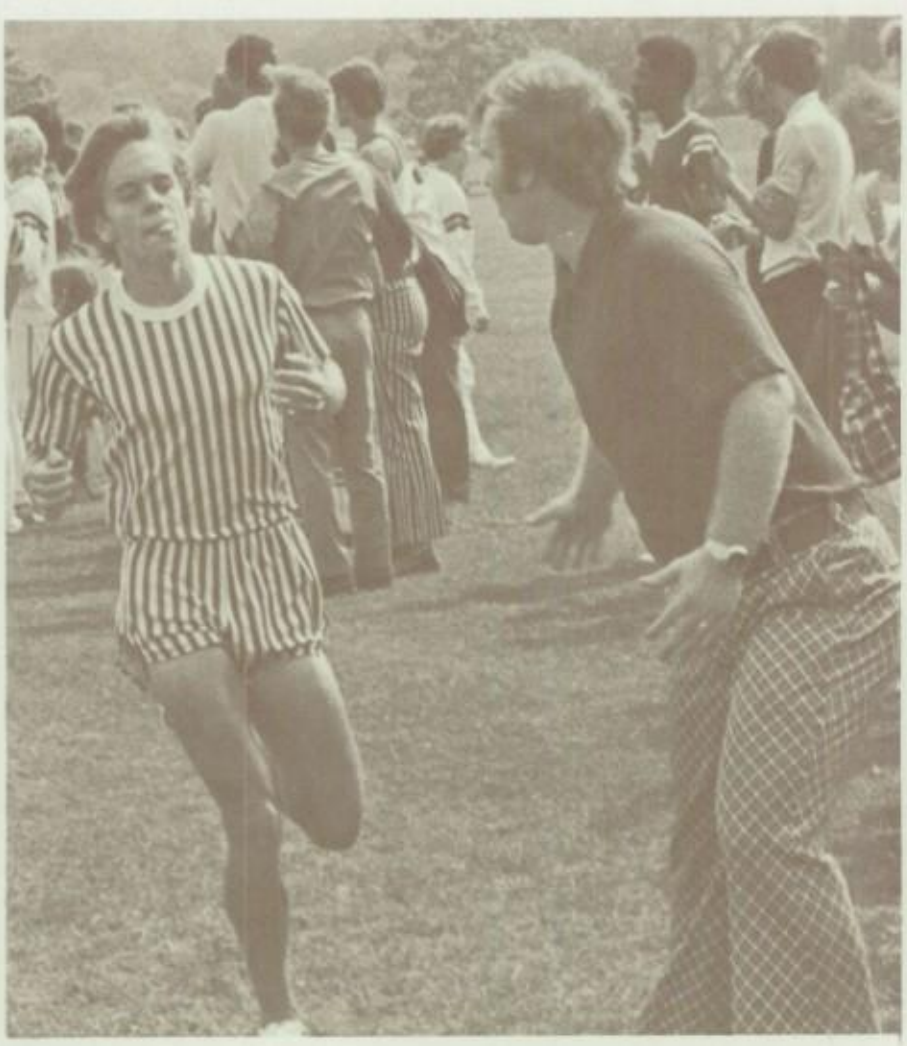
Members of the 1973 team were, Miller, Trodglen, Farmer, Finnell, Orrahood, Settle, Kunze, Mark Purdy, Rusty Frederick, Tommy Potts, Tom Bissmeyer, Craig Waltrip, Brian Haynes Scott Ashby and Bob Baker.

John Jones (left) raises his arms in jubilation as he sees nothing between him and the finish line and the state cross country crown. This shows (above) the way OHS ran most of the time in 1973 as the Red Devils had John Jones, Jeff Miller, and Harley Trodglen in the top three. Other cross country runners are from Daviess County, the team which provided the Red Devils with their strongest competition throughout the year and the tournament.

A mass of bodies break from the starting line during the State Tournament at Collins Estate. Only one could emerge the winner, and for the second straight year, it was a Red Devil runner.

Coach Bob Puckett shows some of the valuable hardware he has collected during his tenure as cross country coach. The five state titles and the two runner-up trophies are among the awards won by Puckett's teams.

Charlene Williams, captain of the 1973-74 cheerleading squad, receives an extra benefit from a winner — a kiss. And from the smile on her face, well, you can draw your own conclusions.



Gary Finnell "tongues it out" down the stretch during the Owensboro Invitational held in Ben Hawes Park. Park Gentry seems to be ready to lend Finnell a helping hand towards the finish.

Jeff Miller adds another "biggie" to his long line of awards as this little girl shyly hands Miller a ribbon.

'Improvement' Describes Football Team

By Don Barber

"Improvement" is the word to describe the 1973 Owensboro High football team.

The footballers improved on last year's 6-5 record and turned a 1-3-1 early season record into a respectable 7-3-1 year. The Demons also held a share of the city championship with Catholic High.

In the opener, the Red Devils romped over Meade County 35-0. Meade County was to later see action in post-season play.

Against city-rival Catholic High the Demons appeared to be on the way to victory in the closing minutes when running back Lawrence Jefferson broke loose and appeared to be heading for the goal line when he fell over a teammate trying to block. As time ran out, OHS had to settle for a 14-14 tie.

But the inexperienced Demons grew up quickly as they faced Paducah Tilghman, Madisonville and Union County on three consecutive weeks.

Eventual State Champion Paducah came to town with one of their best teams in the history of the school. Owensboro was within 14 total yards of Paducah, but costly errors by the Devils cost them a 21-6 decision.

Big 8 Champ Madisonville crushed the Red Devils 20-0. The defense was a bright spot for Owensboro as they held Madisonville to 125 yards on the ground and another 91 in the air.

In an offensive show, Owensboro bowed to Union County 36-18.

After this game, the Red Devils' season turned around. They took out the frustration of the previous three games on Ohio County as OHS won 22-0. The team returned to Rash Stadium and defeated an improved Henderson County team 28-16. Owensboro had earlier defeated the Colonels 26-0 in the Jamboree.

In the football homecoming tilt, the Demons' offense was in full gear against Daviess County. The Red Devils broke several long runs for touchdowns and smashed the "County Hicks" 38-6.

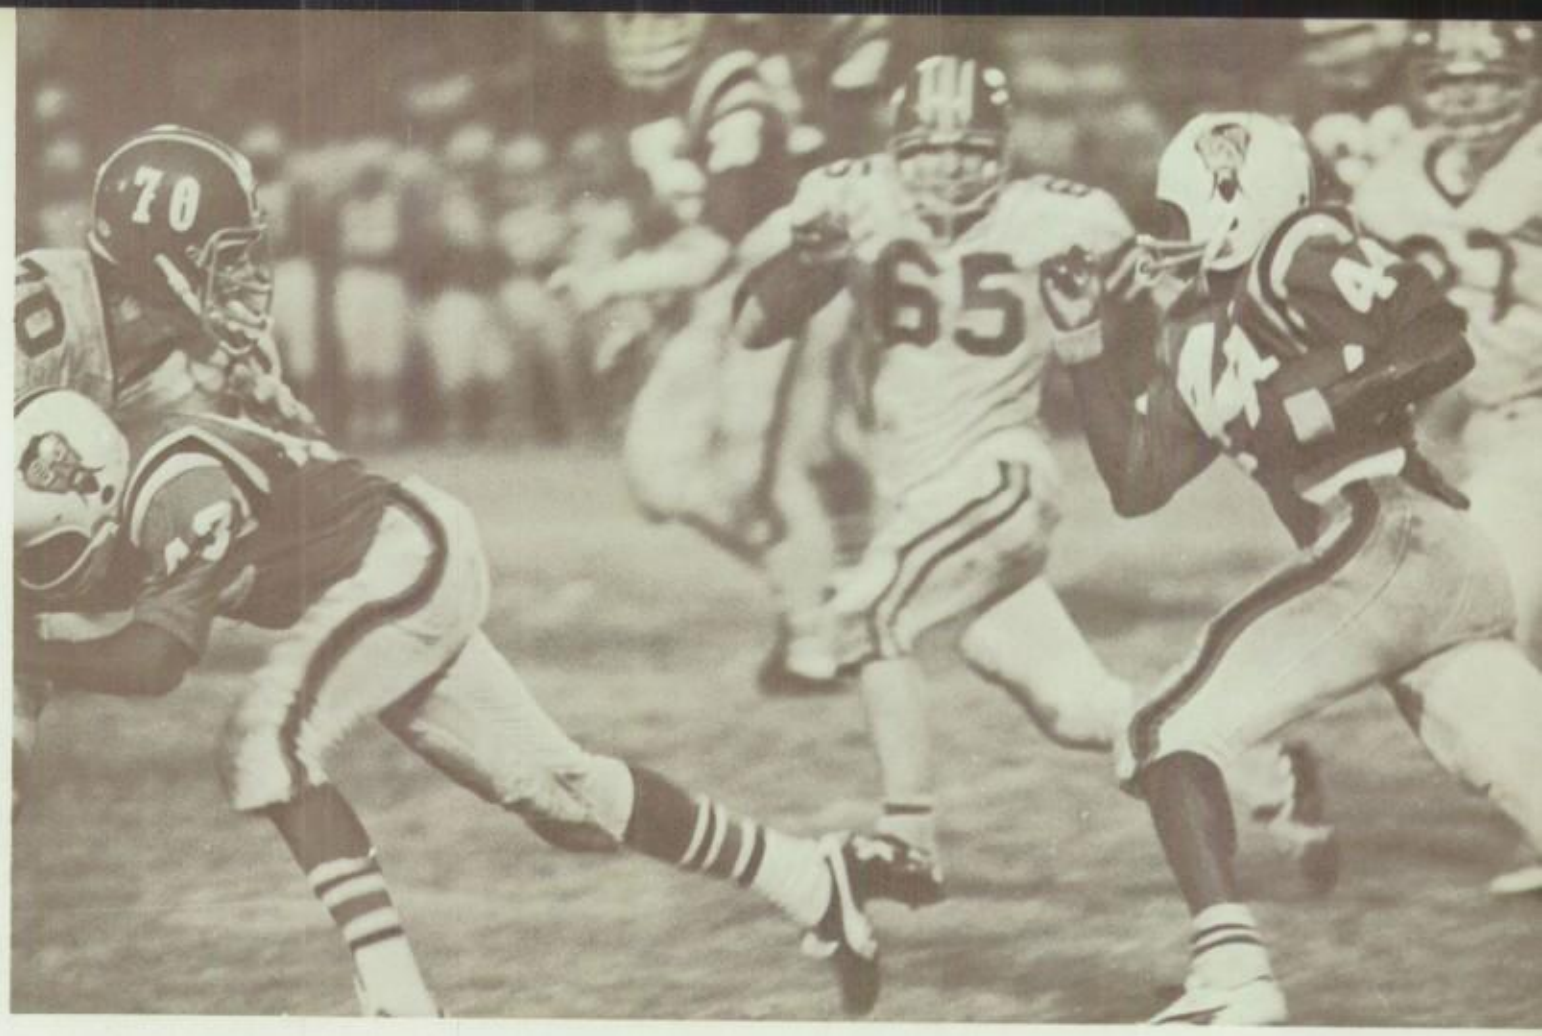
The next two games saw the defense sparkle in shutouts over Bowling Green and Apollo. The 41-0 rout of Bowling Green ended one of the oldest rivals in Kentucky as the Purples chose to end the series between the two schools.

In a situation just the opposite, Apollo and Owensboro met for the first time in the two schools history. The Devils came away the victor in a hard fought game 20-0.

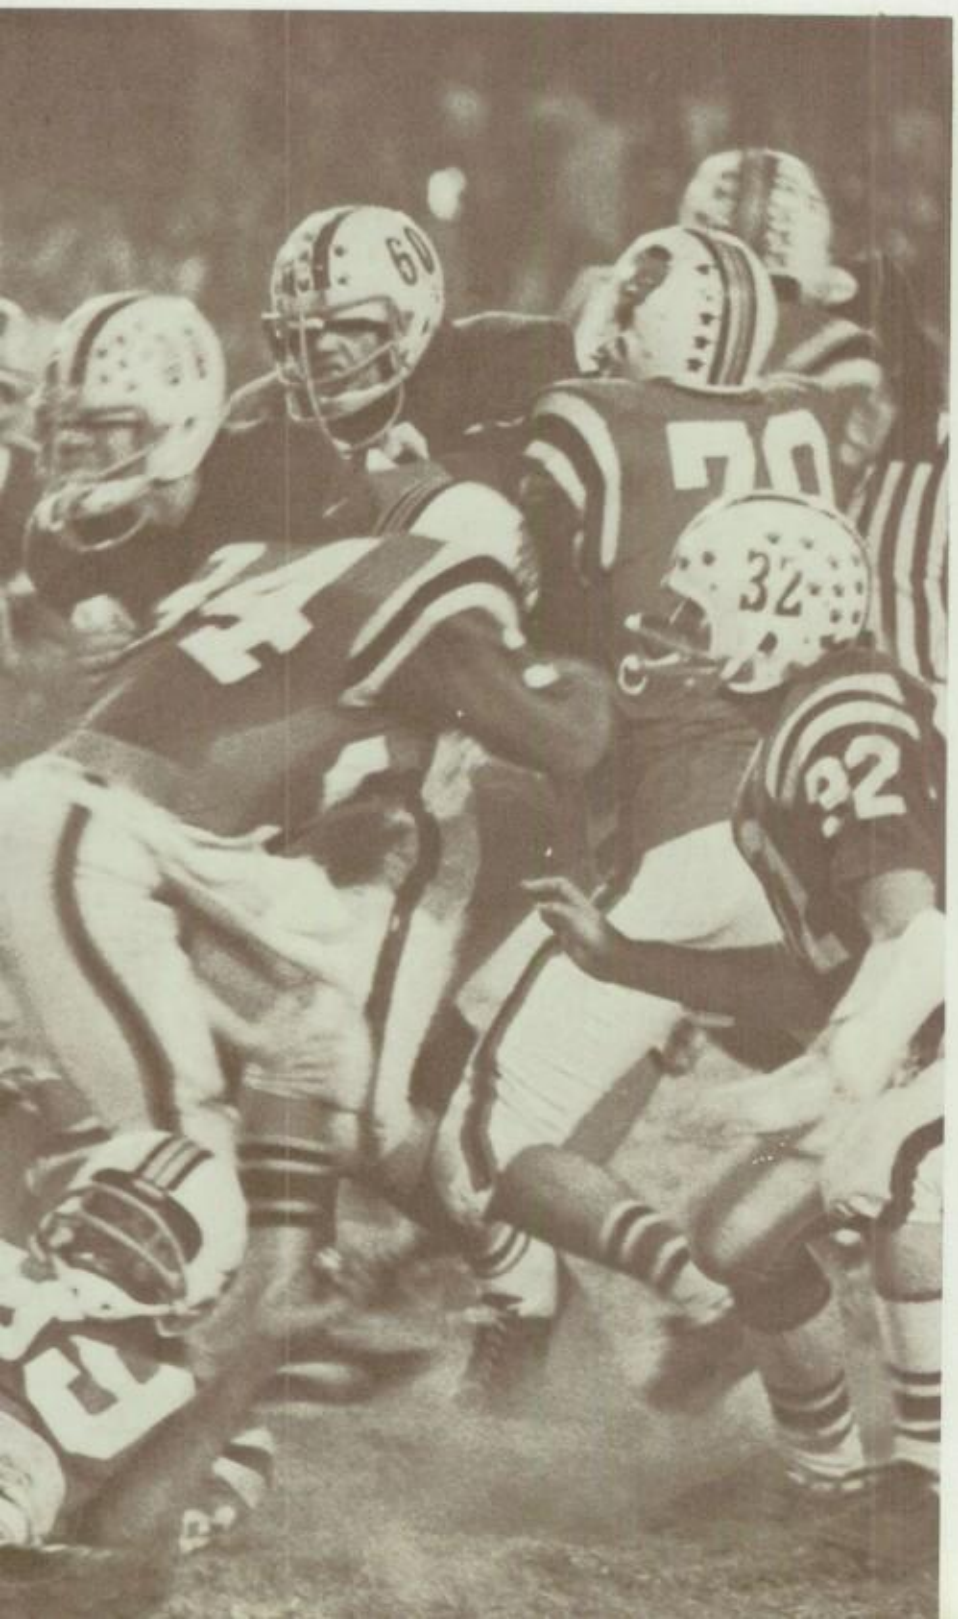
The Henderson City Flash didn't provide much competition for the Red Devils in their season finale as OHS crushed the hapless Flash 51-6. Owensboro finished third in the Big 8 standings.

Owensboro placed a member on the All-State team in junior Myron Greenfield, who was named to the All-State defensive team at an end position.

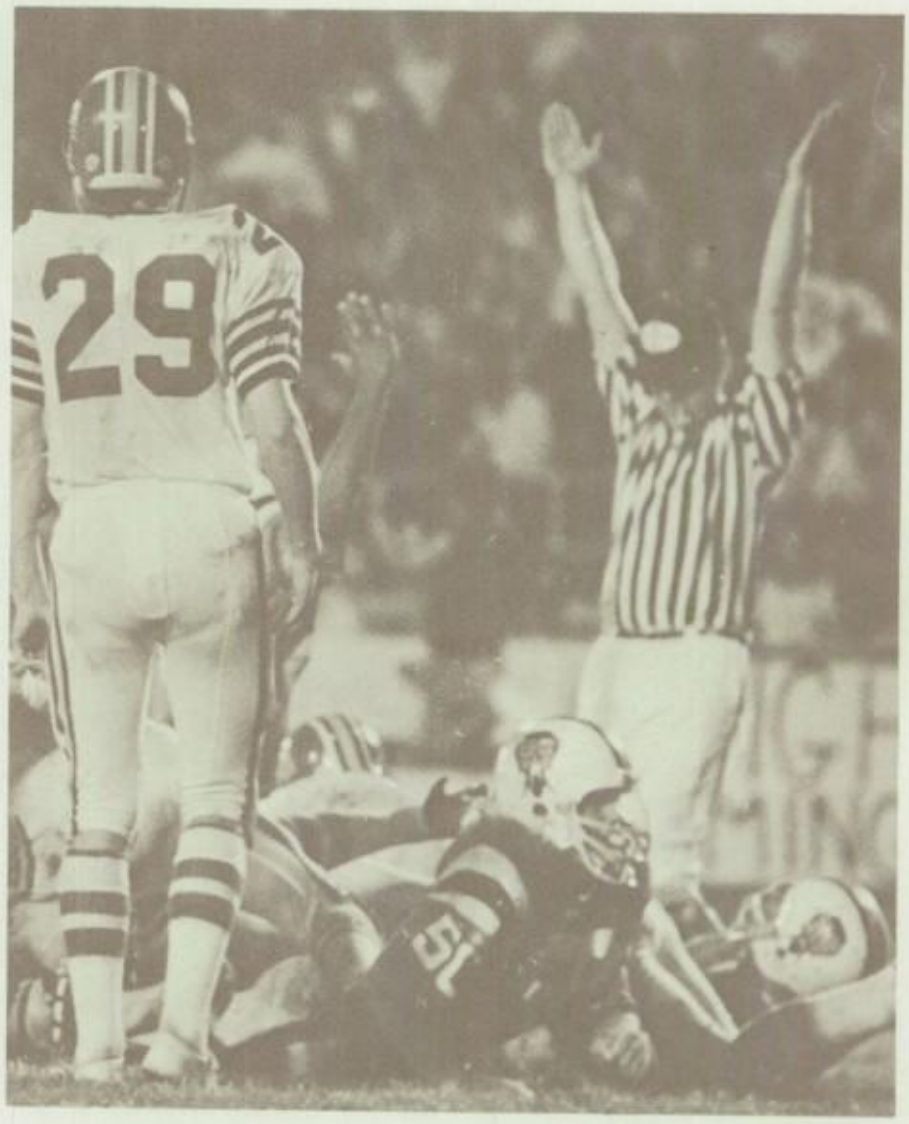
During the gridiron banquet, Jefferson was awarded "Most Outstanding" and the "Most Valuable Player." Greenfield was named best defensive player; Clay Lovett, best blocker; Kerry Groves, permanent team captain; and Wayne Sayre got the "Jack Curtis Award."



Running back Lawrence Jefferson turns the corner with the help of a block from Dale Crump and heads downfield against Catholic High. Jefferson rushed for over 1,000 yards during the 1973 season.



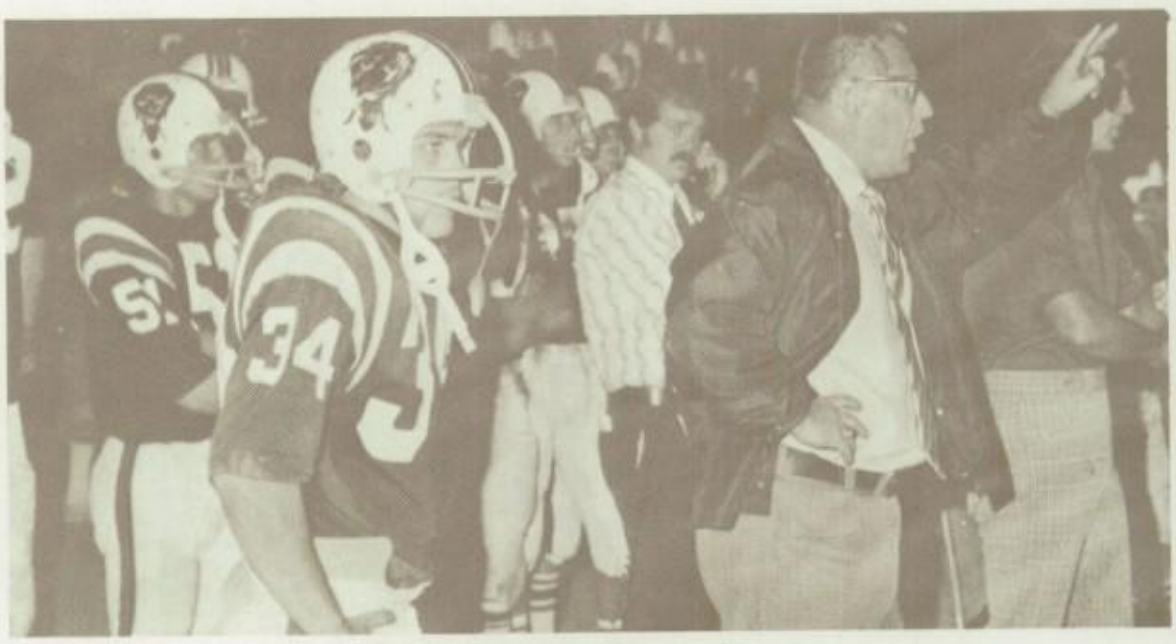
Quarterback Pete Williams scrambles out of the pocket looking for a possible receiver as his blockers hold off the on-rushing lineman from Apollo. In the first meeting in football history between the two schools, the Red Devils blanked Apollo 20-0.



This became a familiar scene to the Red Devils' opponents as the offense pushes over another score and the official raised his arms, signifying a touchdown. The offense consistently rolled up points on their opponents throughout the season.

Bruce Tucker (63) of Owensboro High chases Willie Wilson after Joe Riley (on ground) missed the tackle on the Paducah Tilghman back. OHS gave Tilghman a tough battle, but bowed to the state champions 21-6.

Myron Greenfield was an all-state defensive performer for OHS in 1973 and he shows why as he chases Catholics Tim Flaharty in the 14-14 tie.



Owensboro's coaching staff and players have an intent look as they watch the second-half action against arch-rival Daviess County. OHS won the homecoming contest.

Quarterback Pete Williams gets ready to uncork a pass against Big 8 champion Madisonville. Barry Moorman (61) and Lawrence Jefferson (44) are trying to hold off the defending Maroons. OHS lost to the Maroons 20-0.

Sophs Post 4-0-1 Record; Freshmen Have 6-1 Mark

Coach Rick Nash thinks his Sophomore team will help the varsity in 1974.

The Sophomores posted a 4-0-1 seasonal record in 1973. Nash described his 1973 team as one with "a lot of potential."

OHS Freshmen finished the season with a 6-1 mark.

J.T. Buck set two records, gaining 1,155 yards and 122 points for the Freshmen.

Owensboro's 1974 track team captured its first state crown since the state was divided into classes in 1965.

The three best distance runners in the state is what Coach Terry Wigton called Jeff Miller, Harley Trogdlen and John Jones, the nucleus that carried the Red Devils to the surprise state title. The "terrific trio" accounted for 26 of the 31 points compiled by OHS at the state meet in Bowling Green.

A new ruling worked to a definite advantage for the track team because long distance runners were allowed to run in more than one event.

Miller outdistanced the two-mile field for the third straight year and he also captured the mile event with teammate Harley Trogdlen crossing the finish line behind him. With Owensboro taking the top two spots in the mile, they picked up ten points.

The 880-yard run saw Owensboro again pick up 10 points as John Jones broke the tape first and Trogdlen second.

For these three, it was their second state crown in a year. Earlier, they had helped OHS capture a cross country title.

The field events weren't one of the team's strong points but senior Jeff Millay did score in the field competition taking a third in the long jump.

Freshman James Greer, in what his coach termed a "tremendous effort," picked up a fourth in the 100-yard dash.

Perhaps the key to the state title was Trogdlen's decision to compete in the two events in which he finished second for this allowed his team to pick up valuable extra points.

The 1974 team played the role of a sleeper and never really established itself as a favorite.

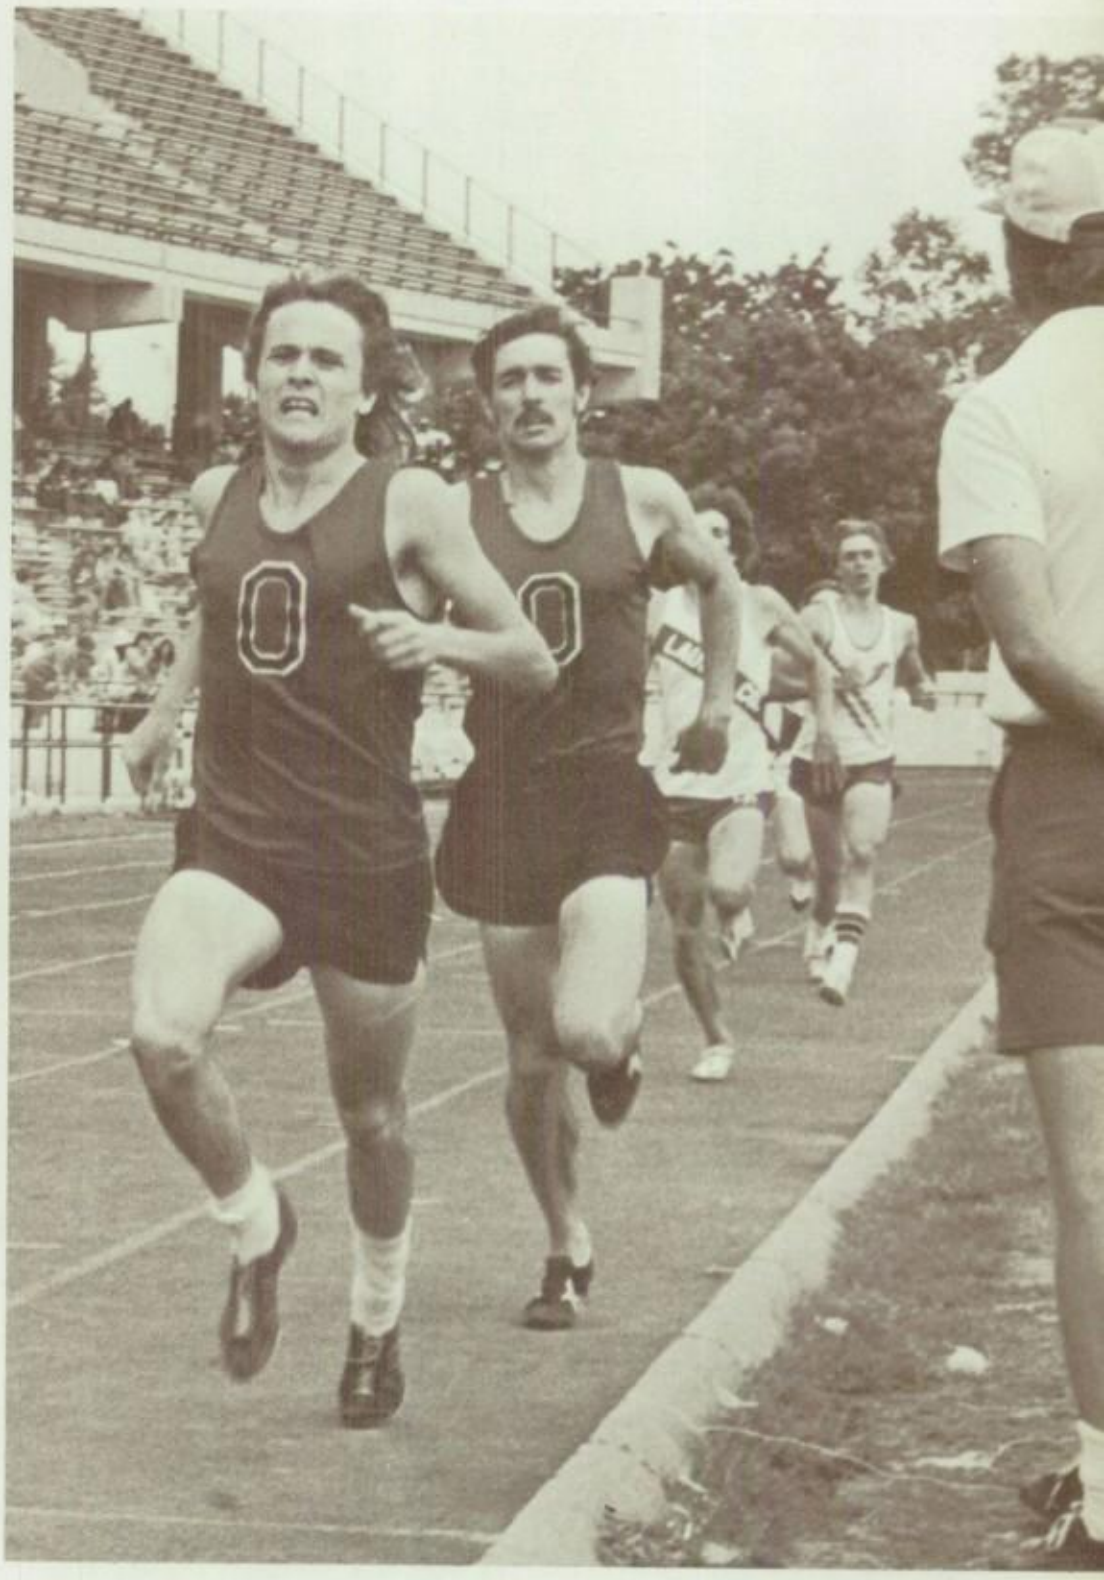
However, Wigton had expressed confidence over his team's chances at the state title.

In winning the state, the track team overcame a tough Paducah Tilghman team which earlier had defeated the Red Devils and a group of Lexington schools.

During the regional held at Southern Middle School, the track team placed second behind Henderson County.

In regular season meets, the team captured five of seven dual meets but placed no better than third in big invitationals.

Jeff Miller heads for the wire at the state meet held at the Western Kentucky University track. In the mile, Miller turned in a time of 4:22.7 while leading OHS to the state championship. Miller also won the two-mile for the third straight year. His two first place finishes were instrumental in OHS winning the state title. In the background is second place finisher Harley Trogdlen.



Tired and exuberant expressions are shown on the faces of the "AA" state track champions (above) after the finals at Bowling Green. The victory was the first state title for OHS since the schools were "classed" in 1965. State Cross Country champion Johnny Jones (right) beats out teammate Harley Trogdlen for the 880-yard title at the state track meet. Jones turned in a time of 1:55.6, which was the fastest time in the state this year and was one-tenth of a second off the school record that has stood for nine years. It was the second state championship for Jones in seven months. Trogdlen provided the one-two punch for OHS in both the 880 and the mile.

Eddie Tichenor, manager of the OHS track team, occupies an "official" position in a wheelbarrow on the infield at the 1974 Regional Track Meet held at Southern Middle School. Tichenor gets a "pointing finger" from an OHS student and a glaring look from another spectator as he "holds down" the wheelbarrow alongside the track.

The 1974 track team emerged as the "surprise" Kentucky High School State Champion. The track team used the running events to capture the first place trophy after failing to win a single invitational meet during the year. Members of the track team are (Front Row, From Left): Eddie Tichenor, David Bates, Tommy Bismeyer, Brian Haynes, Robert Smith, Bob Mahoney, Allen Baize, Ty Bennett, Tommy Potts, Jim Saddler, Mitch Settles, John Jones. Second Row: Dale Crump, Bryant Bell, Pat Hagan, Gary Finnel, David Robinson, Jeff Millay, Scott Ashby, Jeff Miller, Scott Farmer, Mark Purdy, James Greer, Darnell Taylor. Third Row: Coach Don Schmeid, Ray Howard, Jeff Murphy, Charles DeLacey, Kent McKenzie, Ripo Hinton, Myron Greenfield, Steve Majors, Rusty Fredrick, Craig Waltrip, Harley Trogdlen, Clay Kimbrell, John Ezell, Head Coach Terry Wigton.

Baseballers Post 33-12 Record; Reach Finals of Regional

After losing six starters from last year's club, the Owensboro High School baseball team finished the 1974 season with a 33-12 record, an effort that surprised Coach Jack Hicks.

Throughout the year the baseball team kept their followers on the edge of their seats as they made a habit of being in close ballgames.

Typical of the nail-biting contests was the regional final game against Madisonville at Ohio County. The Red Devils were locked up in a tight ballgame, but came out on the short end of a 2-1 score to end the hopes for a state tournament trip.

Owensboro continually had the Madisonville pitcher on the ropes, brewing up threats in five of the seven innings. Unfortunately, the Red Devil line drives wouldn't fall into anything but the Maroons' gloves. Fate appeared to be against the Red Devils. According to Coach Hicks," we hit the ball harder than we had all year, yet we lost."

During opening round action of the regionals, the Demons clubbed a Leitchfield team, which was one of the tournament favorites, 9-1.

Another in a long line of baseball district crowns went to the Red Devils as they squeaked by Catholic High 3-2 and blanked Daviess County 3-0.

Catholic High was the only team to defeat the Red Devils in the city during the regular season. OHS took Daviess County four times, Apollo three times and finished 2-1 with Catholic.

The key to this year's team was its fine staff of moundsmen. The starting rotation of Danny Ellis, Kerry Jolly, Will Edwards, Stuart Jones and Stirman Libs helped keep the team in contention throughout the year.

Although the batting averages were anemic, the team did show a surprising amount of power.

Junior catcher Kevin Troutman broke David Watkins record by swatting ten round trippers. Libs, Brent Nichols, Jody Fiorella and Doug Welsh each chipped in with two fourbaggers.

Some of the highlights of the regular season was Danny Ellis' opening game no-hitter against Apollo. The 6-2 record on the Southern road trip was one of the school's better marks. Southpaw Kerry Jolly struck out an OHS record 19 Montgomery Lanier batters.

The Junior Varsity team, under Park Gentry, closed out their season with a 5-4 record.

The unhappy end to the 1974 baseball season came for the Red Devils against Madisonville in the regional finals. Jody Fiorella (above) peers at the Madisonville celebration on the field and Danny Ellis dejectedly heads back to the dugout after flying out to end the game. Coach Jack Hicks (right), on his way back to the dugout, ponders what to say to his club after the Red Devils were eliminated in the regional finals 2-1.

Southpaw Kerry Jolly (above) and fireballer Danny Ellis (right) were the two mound aces for the Red Devils this year. Jolly, who came up with wins in the big games in 1974, shows his form during the regional semi-final against Leitchfield. Jolly was undefeated during the 1973 season and wound up with a 9-3 record in 1974. Ellis supplied strength both in pitching and hitting. Noted for his fastball, Ellis also led the team with the highest batting average (.287). Stirman Libs (below) was the No. 2 hitter on the team and also doubled on the mound. Will Edwards (bottom) batted in the cleanup position and was the team's tough-luck pitcher.

Slugger Kevin Troutman (left) set a new home run record for Owensboro High School players with 10 home runs in the 1974 season. He hit his 10th homer in early May to surpass the previous home run mark of David Watkins. Deep concern is mirrored on the faces of the OHS baseball team (below) as Doug Welsh takes his turn at bat during the regional championship game with Madisonville at Ohio County. OHS lost 2-1 to end the team's hopes for a state tournament trip.

The baseball team finished with a 33-12 record. The Red Devils were defeated in the regional finals by Madisonville. Girls Win Big 8, Regional; Set Two School Marks

Owensboro High's girls track team was undefeated in dual meets in 1974. The team won both the Big 8 and the regional and qualified eight events for the state meet at Bowling Green.

Both first and second place winners in the regional qualified for state competition.

OHS girls managed to qualify three events for the state finals. These were the 440 relay, the 220-yard dash and the mile relay. The 440 relay fared the best, placing second, while the 220-yard dash placed sixth and the mile relay placed fourth.

The relay events that participated in the state meet included the 440 relay team of Susan McFarland, Denise Griffith, Denise Higgs and Judy Morton; the 880 relay team of Denise Griffith, Julie Smith, Pam Nelson and Susan McFarland; the 880 medley relay team of Denise Griffith, Denise Higgs, Judy Morton and Debby Jones; and the mile relay team of Lisa Crowe, Sherril Shipley, Pam Nelson and Cindy Prater.

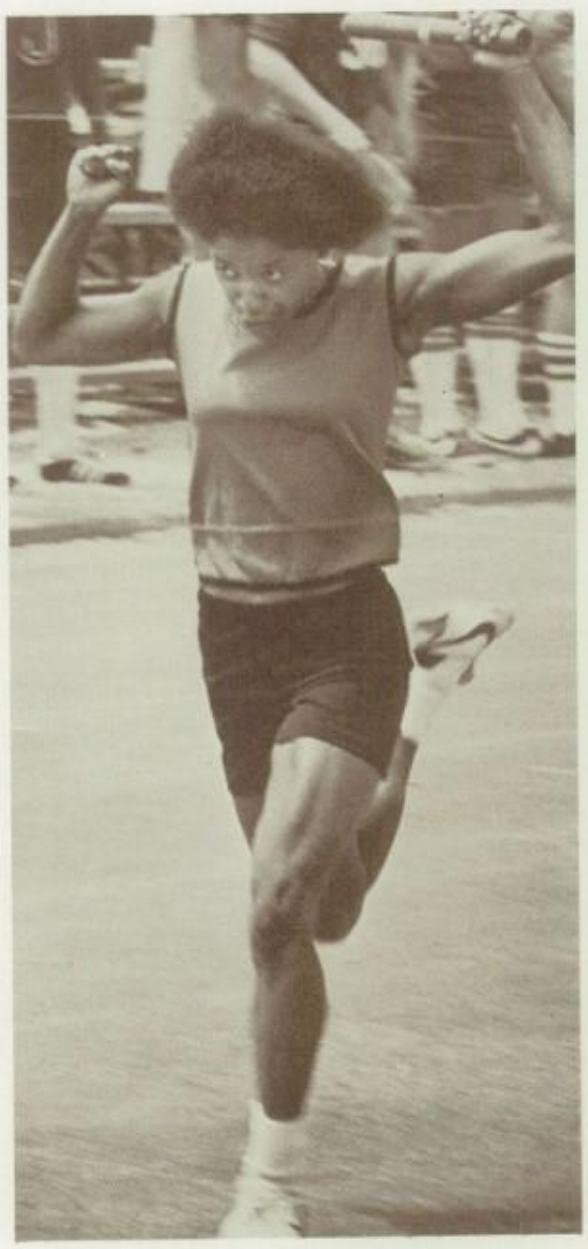
Individuals that participated in the state meet were Judy Morton in the 100-yard dash; Margo Blay in the long jump; Lisa Crowe in the 440-yard; and Susan McFarland in the 220-yard dash.

Qualifications for the finals of the state meet were held on May 25.

Two school records were broken and one tied in 1974. Margo Blay broke the old long jump record of 16' 7" by a leap of 17' ½". The 880 relay team knocked 1.2 seconds off the old record with a time of 1:47.9. Judy Morton tied Angela Moorman's record in the 100-yard dash with a time of 11.3 seconds.

The girls were coached by Bill Jury and Linda Smith (Southern). Ms. Smith was unable to attend the state meet as she was at home in bed with the mumps.

Sophomore Margo Blay broke the old long jump record of 16'7" with a leap of 17'½" during the 1974 season.



Susan McFarland crosses the finish line to bring the 880 relay team to a new record of 1:47.9.

Judy Morton crosses the finish line to tie an OHS record in the 100-yard dash of 11.3 seconds.

The 1974 State Track Tournament (above) was held at the football stadium at Western Kentucky University in Bowling Green. Denise Higgs, caught in mid-air by the photographer, requires great concentration and/or coordination to be able to run the relay race and still manage to control her bubblegum. Golfers Post 21-7-1 Record; Bruce Was 19th in State

Owensboro's golf team sent two participants to the state golf tournament at Fort Knox.

Junior Barry Bruce, making his second trip to the state meet, was the top finisher for Coach Jack Poynter's squad. He finished 19th. The 19th place finish for Bruce was tops for junior participants in the state competition.

The other state representative for Owensboro was senior Kent Harris. He completed the tournament in 40th place. There were 88 original entries in the tournament.

Owensboro failed to qualify for the team state tournament held a week before the individuals' state.

The Red Devils finished third at the regional behind Madisonville and Daviess County, failing by three strokes to qualify as a team for the state.

Coach Poynter called his squad "one of the better teams he's had" during his six years of coaching. With the weathermen co-operating more than it had in recent years, the team was able to get in 29 matches. The team compiled a 21-7-1 record.

Throughout the year Owensboro battled with rival Daviess County. Both were top teams in the region and the Countians handed the Red Devils five of their seven losses.

Two of the linksmen most impressive showings were at invitational matches. In the Bowling Green Invitational, the linksmen finished second out of 16 of the best teams in the state. At the Louisville Invitational, the team finished seventh out of 21 teams.

Experience was one of the major factors in the 1974 team's success with all this year's members except transfer student John Phillips participating on the 1973 team. Heading next year's returnees will be Bruce and Barry Wilson.

The top five men for the golf team this year were seniors, Harris, Phillips and Marc Stout along with Juniors Bruce and Wilson. The team also received help from Nicky Fiorella, Bill Lacy and Jim Vincent.

Golf coach Jack Poynter lends some advice to five of his linksmen: Barry Bruce, Kent Harris, Marc Stout, John Phillips and Barry Wilson before a match at Ben Hawes Park. Others that participated in golf but aren't pictured are Bill Lacy, Nicky Fiorella and Jim Vincent. The golf team finished with a 21-7-1 record.

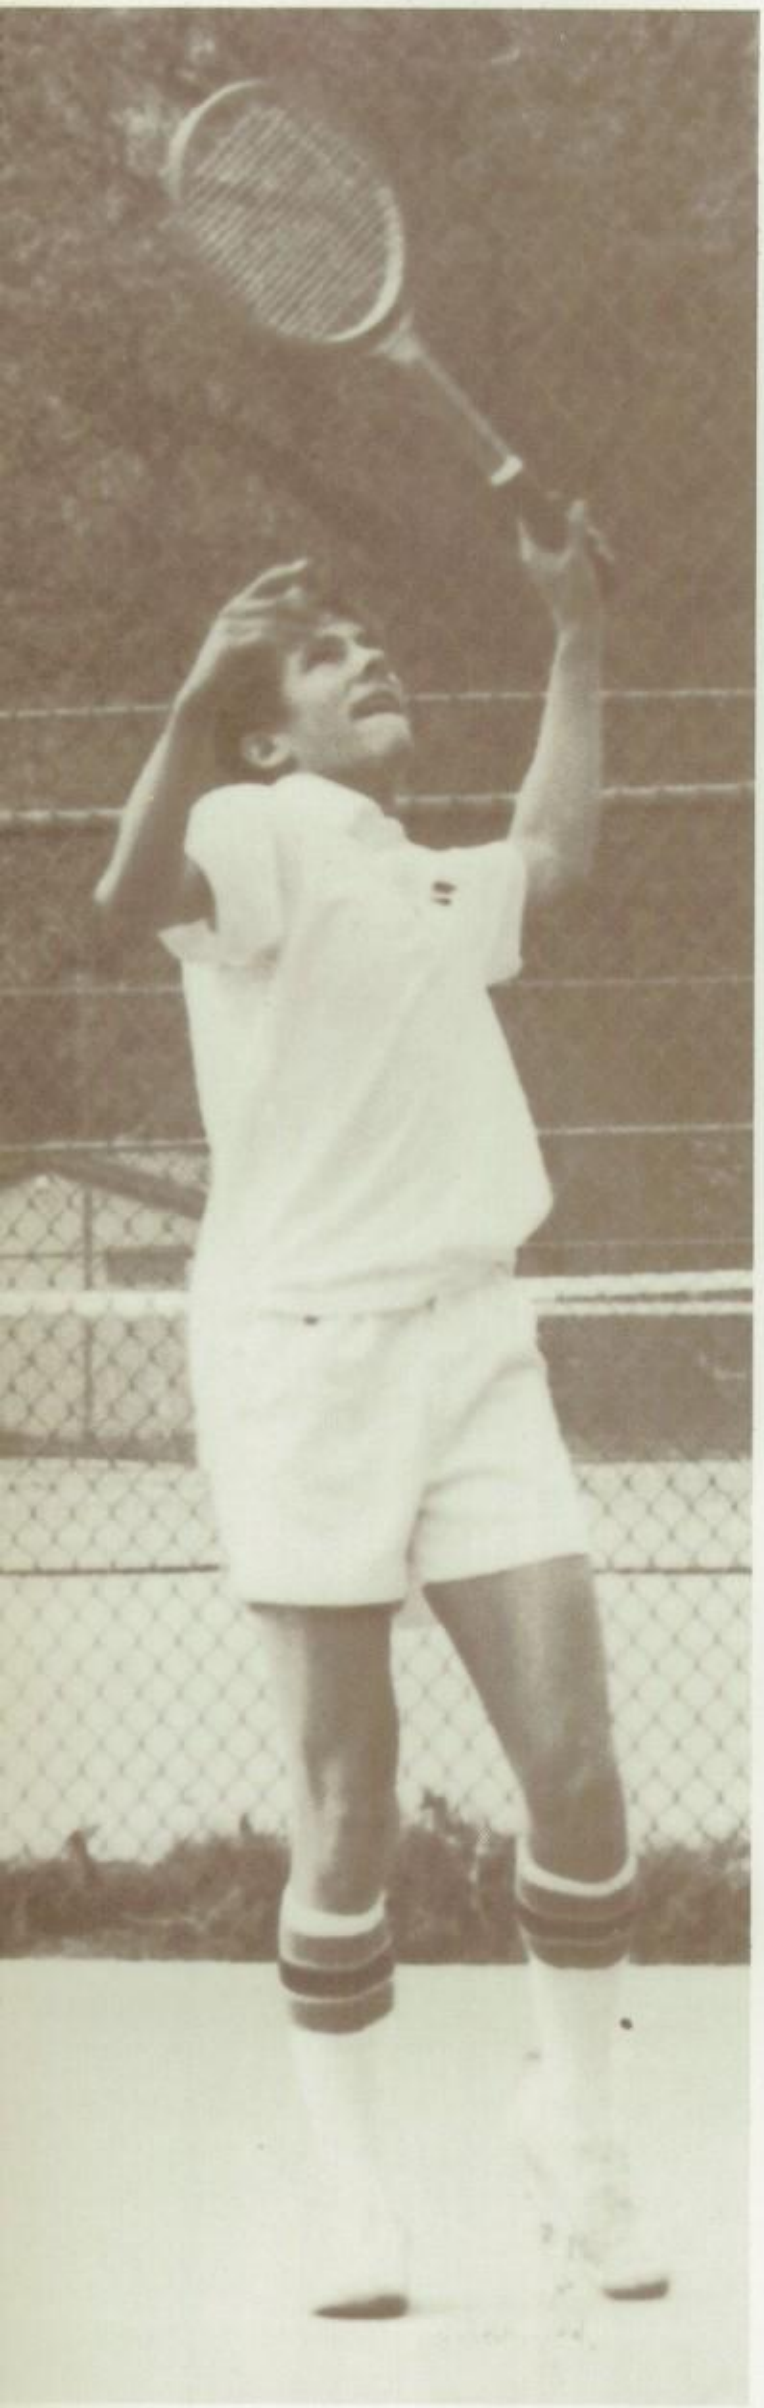
John Phillips watches the flight of the ball during a match at Ben Hawes. Phillips turned in an average of 38 over nine holes with his best score being a two-under par 34. Marc Stout (right) shot an average of 40 over nine holes for the year and an even par 36 was his best effort during the year. Stout lines up a putt at the Ben Hawes Course.

Barry Bruce (above) cleans his golf ball before starting play in the State High School Golf Tournament. Bruce finished 19th in the field. Kent Harris (left) shows the swing that helped him finish 40th in the State Golf Tournament. Bruce and Harris were the only two OHS linksmen to qualify for the state meet.

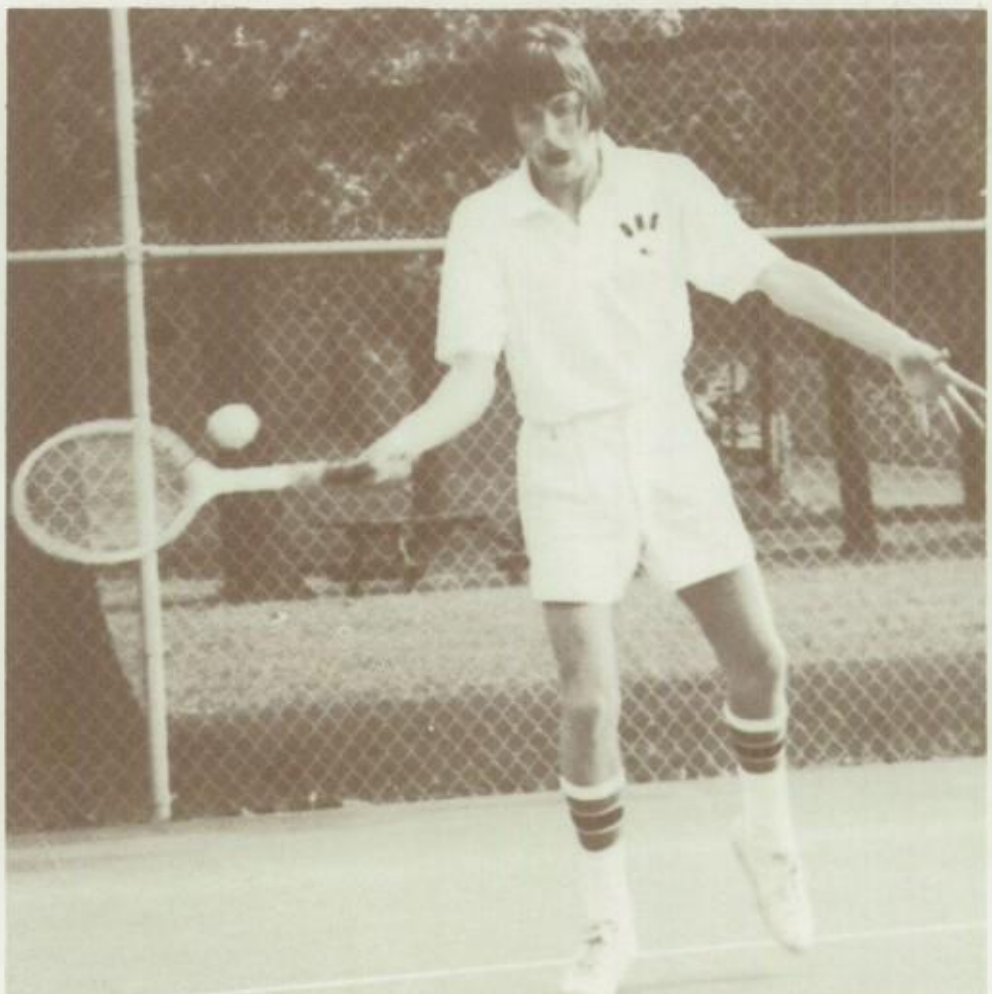
Ninth Grader Jane O'Bryan Only Member of

Freshman Jane O'Bryan upheld the role of women's lib at Owensboro High School this year as she was the only tennis performer to reach the State Tournament.

However, Miss O'Bryan didn't last long in the state meet as she was beaten in the opening round 6-



Frank Taylor, the No. 1 singles player for OHS, eyes the ball before swatting a hopeful ace in a match at Moreland Park.



Walter Wood, the only senior on the tennis squad, was the No. 2 singles player in 1974. Wood appears to be adding a little "body english" to his forehand swing.

Tennis Team to Reach State Tournament

1, 6-1.

Jane defeated Kim Jeffries of Elizabethtown 6-4, 6-2 to win the regional title and advance to the state in early June.

OHS had two other combinations that came close to winning regional titles, but fell in the championship round.

The doubles team of Fred Wahl and Jeff Tucker were eliminated in the finals and Sally Barron and Sheila Jackson were beaten in three sets to finish with second place honors.

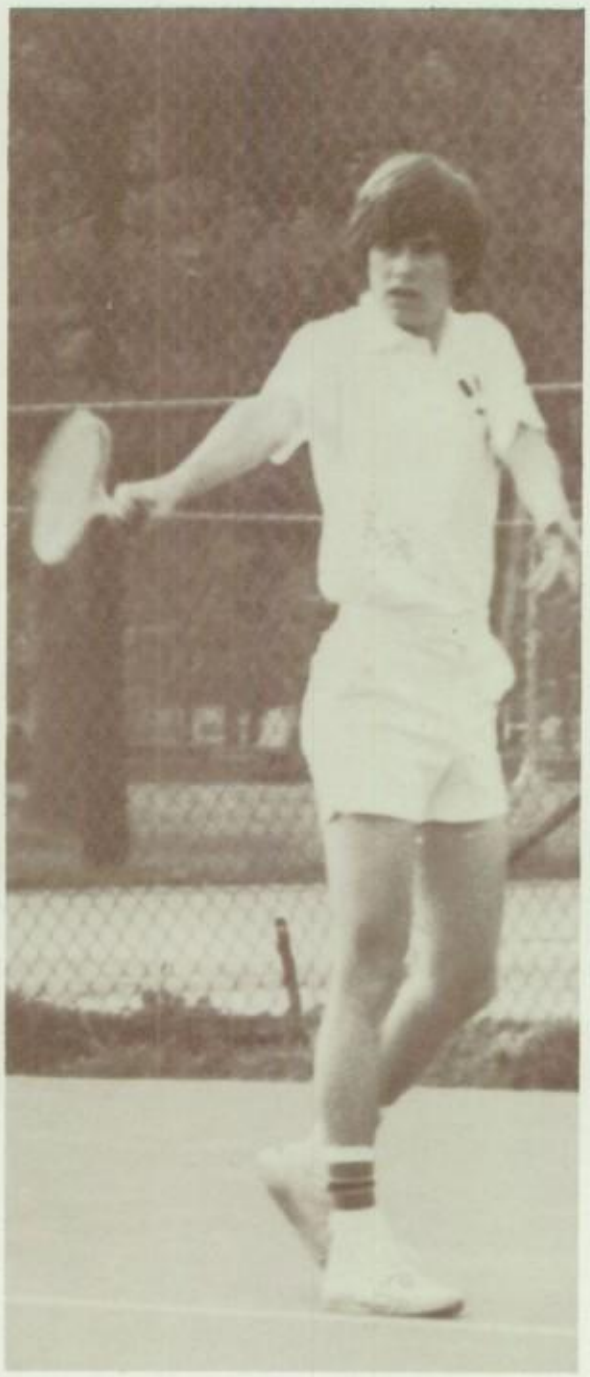
The top-ranked boys for OHS, Frank Taylor and Walter Wood, reached the quarter-finals where they both met defeat in the singles competition.

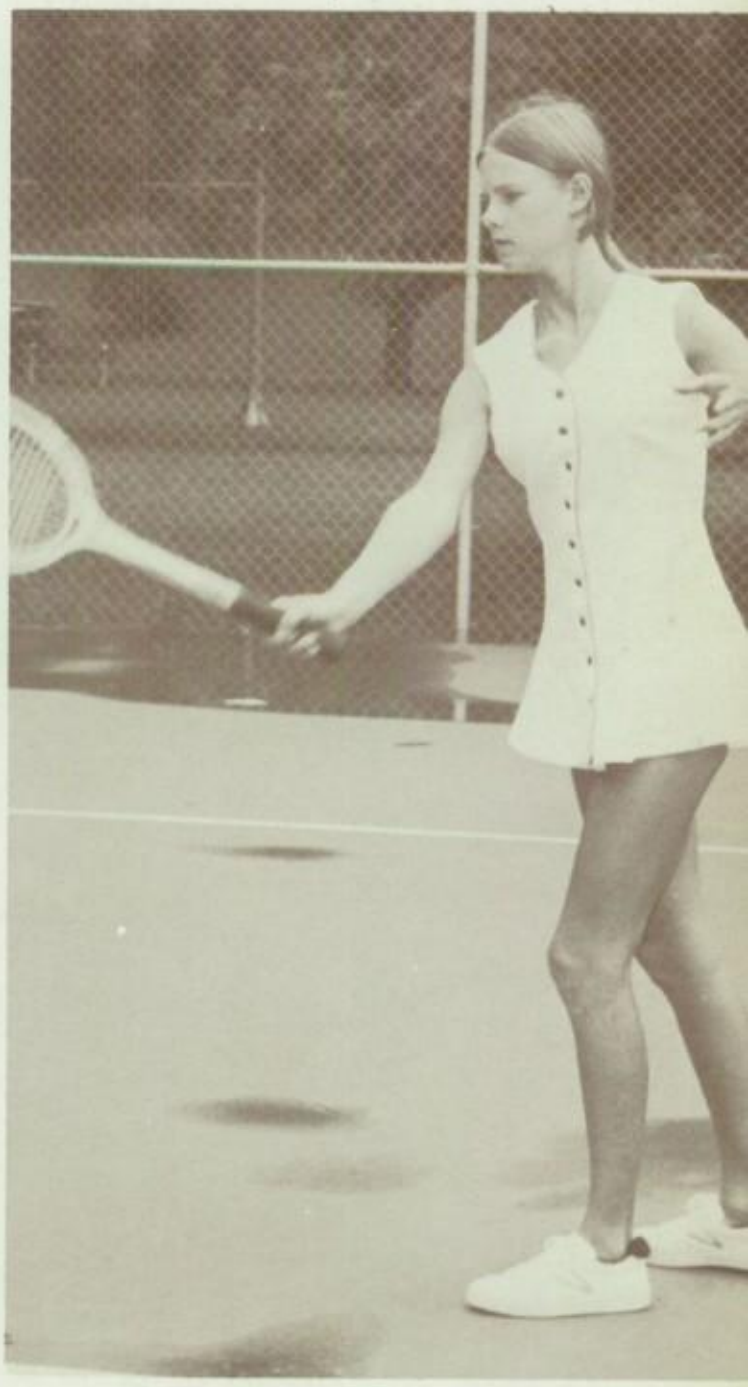
During the season, the boys team compiled a 10-4 record. "Their record was better than I expected," commented Tennis Coach Keith Augenstein.

The boys team was hard-hit by graduation with Taylor and Wood the only returnees with experience.

"I knew the girls team would be good," continued Augenstein. They finished with a 4-2 season record.

Fred Wahl, who teamed with Jeff Tucker to reach the finals in the regional tennis tournament at Elizabethtown, gets off a good forehand swat in one of the early-season matches at Moreland Park.





OHS had a brother-sister team on the 1974 squad in Steve O'Bryan (left) and his sister Jane (above). Jane helped better the cause of women's lib as she was the only tennis team member (boy or girl) to compete in the state tournament.

Owensboro High School's girls tennis team had a 4-2 record in 1974. The boys finished with a 10-4 won-lost record. Members of the girls team are (from left): Sally Barron, Cyndi Brown, Jane O'Bryan, Shelia Jackson and Coach Keith Augenstein. Boys team members are (first row, left): Jim Johnson and Bruce Burton. Second Row (left): Fred Wahl, Walter Wood, Scott Haycraft and Howard McClure. Third Row (left): Jeff Tucker, Frank Taylor, and Steve O'Bryan.

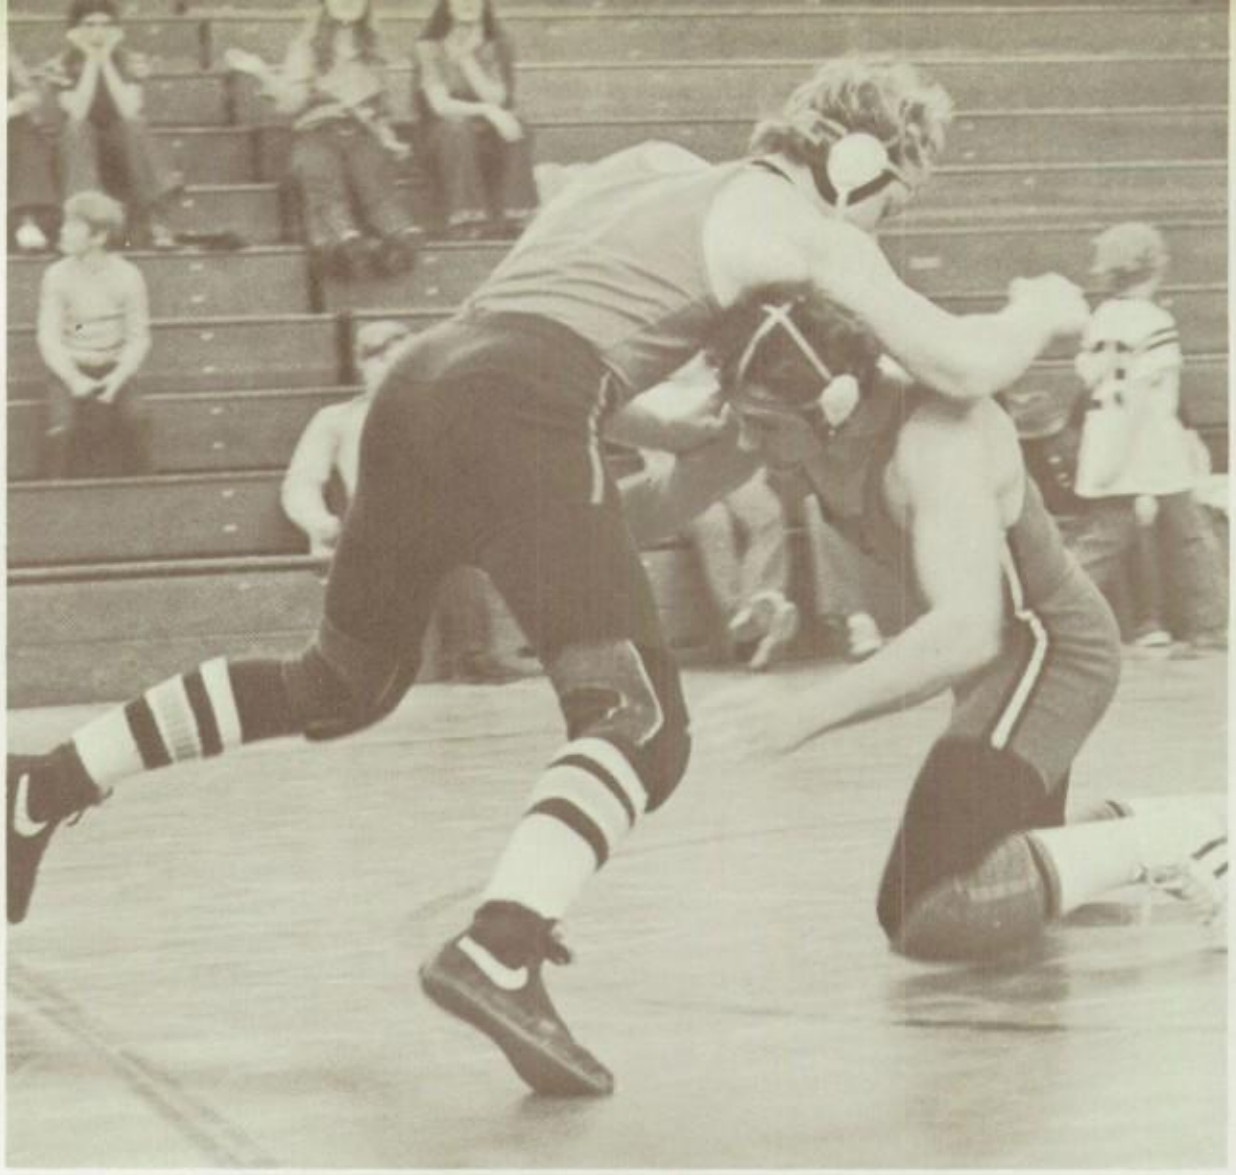
Hester, Rowe were 'Dynamic Duo'

Although it took a while for a wrestling program to get started at Owensboro High, the team is already building a winning tradition in its brief two year history.

Two seniors, Cliff Hester and Steve Rowe, turned out to be a "dynamic duo" for the grappling team. They overpowered their opponents taking all their matches during the regular season. Hester and Rowe combined for a regular season record of 33-0.

During the regionals at West Hardin, Hester once again swept all of his opponents. Rowe lost in the finals of the regionals, but the first and second place finishers are allowed to compete at the state meet.

During the state meet in Louisville, Rowe was eliminated in first round action. Hester hung on until the fourth round before bowing out of tournament action. Last year's only representative at state, Dennie Pate, was knocked off in regional matches.



Senior Wrestler Clifford Hester prepares to make a move on one of his opponents during a regular season match. Hester went undefeated during the season and was one of two Red Devils that participated at the State finals.

Senior Steve Rowe (top) is in the process of winning another match and keeping his undefeated regular season record intact. Rowe, along with teammate Clifford Hester, participated in the state meet at Louisville.

Denny Pate (left) squares off and appears ready against a North Hardin opponent. Pate, a senior, went to the state finals last year but was ousted in regional competition in 1973-74.

'All-in-the-Family' Team in 1974-75

Hester and Rowe, throughput the year, relied on different styles. Hester was an overpowering wrestler, pinning most of his opponents Rowe relied more on finesse moves in defeating his opponents.

Coach Larry Moore had a young and inexperienced club to work with in 1973-74. However, the nucleus of team will be returning in 1974-75.

Moore might have an all-in-the-family affair next year as the Moorman's Barry, Phil, and Earl, all return along with the Owens brothers, David, Bill and Robbie. (The latter competed as a seventh grader in 1973-74).

Coach Moore commented on his younger kids, "If our little kids stay with it, by the time they are juniors and seniors, we will have a fine team.

Swim Team 9th in State

Owensboro's swim team, in its fourth year of competition, has consistently finished better in the state swim meet each year. The Red Devils improved on last year's 12th place finish as they turned in a ninth place finish during the 1974 state competition in February.

In order to qualify for state competition you must place in the top 12 of the field.

Junior James Mullikin turned in the best performance in the state for Coach Joe Iracane's squad. Mullikin placed fourth in the butterfly and sixth in the backstroke.

Other individual performances turned in at the state meet were: Gary Eaton, swimming the backstroke and freestyle along with John Fort, who swam the breaststroke.

The boys medley relay team of Mullikin, Eaton, Fort and Jim Quetermous finished fifth.

These eight swimmers represented Owensboro High in medley relay competition during the state swim meet at Louisville. Members of the boys team, which placed fifth, are Jim Quertermous, Gary Eaton, John Fort and James Mullikin. For the girls, the tenth place finishers, the team members are Valerie Hocker, Gusti Neal, Kathy Mullikin and Linda Hampson.

A young girls team failed to qualify individually. However, the medley relay team came in 10th. Members of the medley team for the girls were Linda Hampson, Kathy Mullikin, Gusti Neal and Valarie Hocker.

In their city meet, both the boys and girls team came up with a good showing. The boys took first place honors in all events except one. The girls took all but three of their events.

Cheerleaders Finish 2nd in 'Sweet Sixteen'

Practice makes perfect ... and perfection is what the OHS Varsity Cheerleaders tried for in 1973-74.

The practices were long and hard and didn't leave the cheerleaders much spare time, but their efforts won them second place in the State Tournament "Sweet Sixteen" competition. OHS lost to Bryan Station (the winner) by one-half point in the state judging.

Also, judges picked all-district cheerleaders. The judging followed the same procedure as for the all-district basketball players.

Charlene Williams and Susan McFarland were named to the all-district squad.

The cheerleaders sponsored three money-making projects. The main event was the Valentine Dance. They also sponsored the Powder Puff game and Football Homecoming. Mrs. Peggy Cardinal served as the cheerleader sponsor.

All-District cheerleaders Charlene Williams and Susan McFarland lead the rest of the varsity squad in a cheer during one of their many afternoon practice sessions. The cheerleaders practiced the sixth period during football and basketball seasons.

The OHS varsity cheerleaders, at Freedom Hall in Louisville, display the form that won them a second place award in the State Tournament "Sweet Sixteen" competition. The varsity cheerleaders worked hard to "inspire" the OHS fans in the State Tournament, but the Red Devils lost the opening round game 75-60.

HONORS

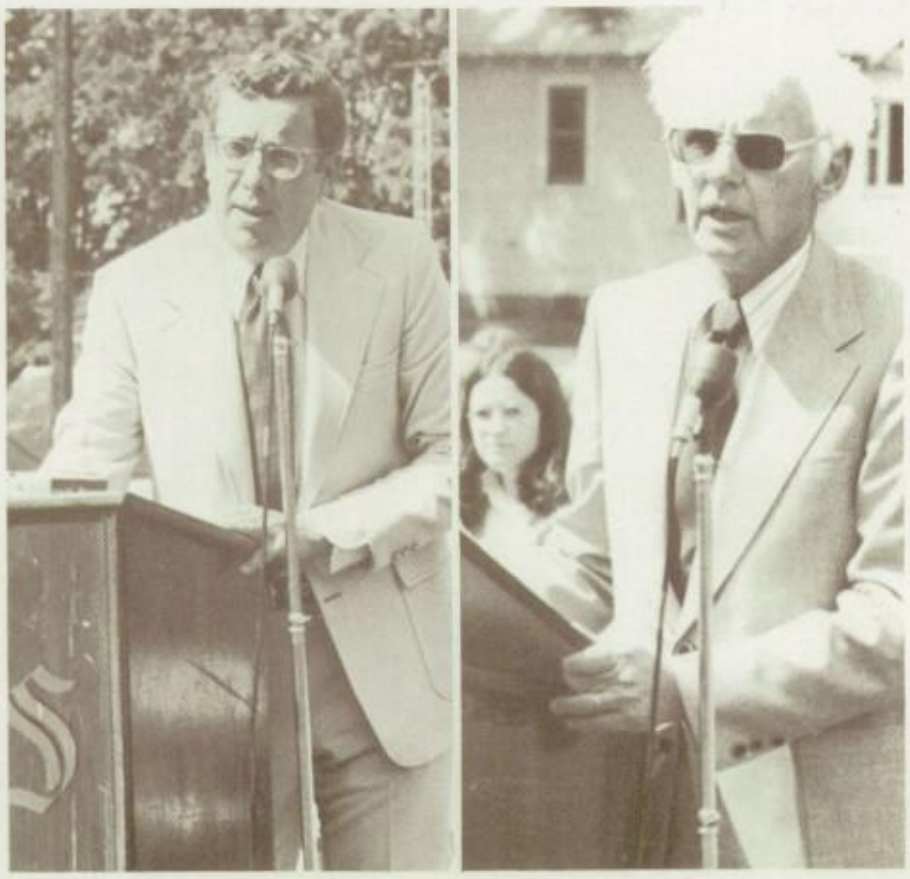
OHS Students Honored at Awards Program

Honors Day at Owensboro High School was held on May 14.

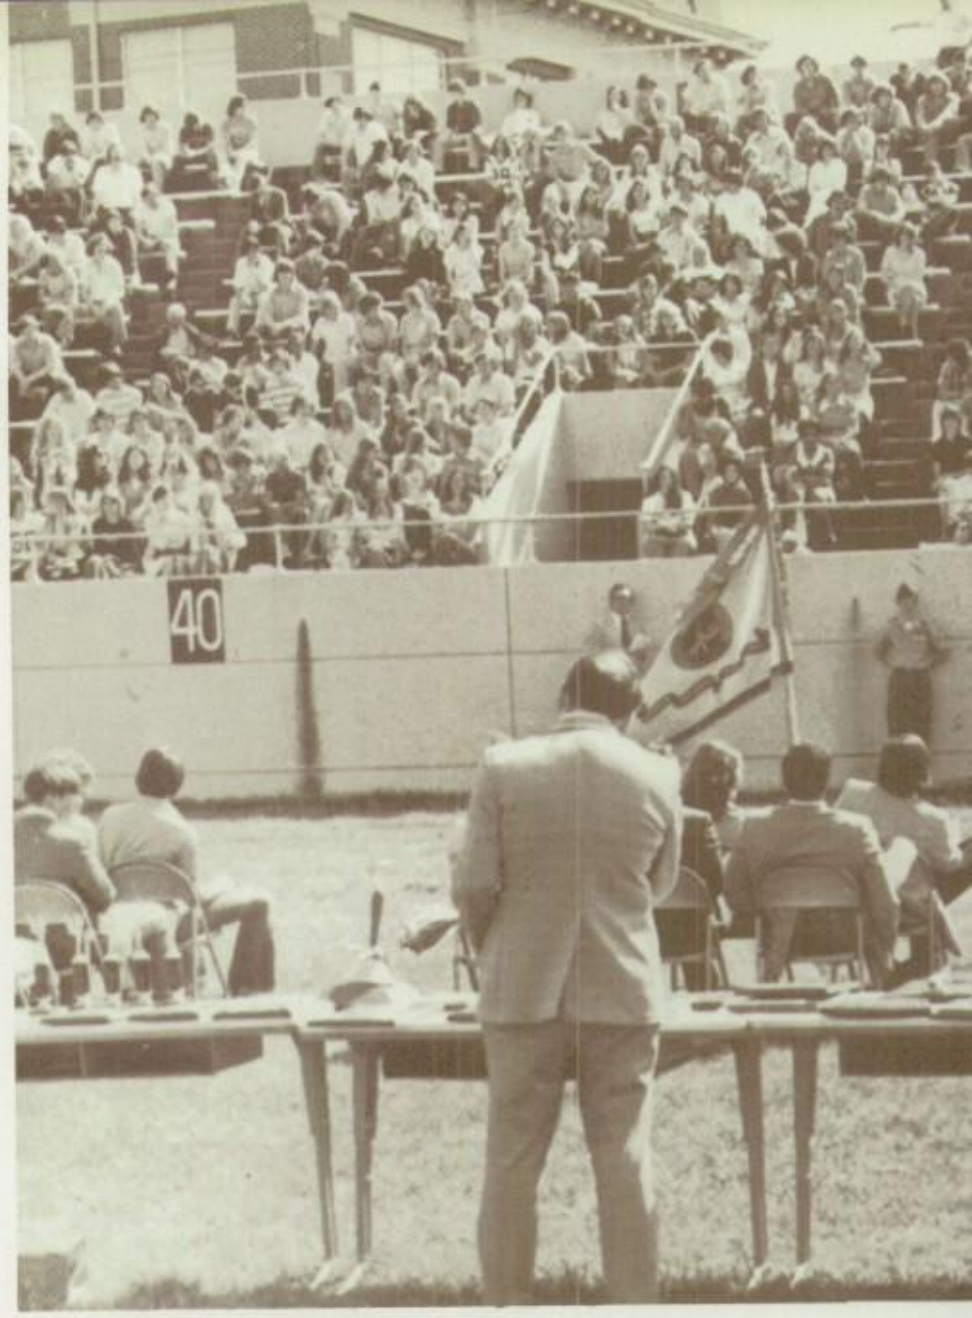
Mayor Waitman Taylor and Dr. James C. Hilliard, superintendent of the Owensboro Public Schools, were the principal speakers. The Rev. W.R. Brown gave the invocation and benediction.

During the 90-minute program, 131 students received awards and scholarships. Anne Taylor received the most honors. Her name was called a total of five times. Sherril Shipley and Vickie McGehee each received four awards.

Student Council President Stuart Gant and Vice President Leslie Dodson presented the awards to the students being honored. They were assisted by Student Council Awards day committee members and the council's sponsor, Mr. Tom Kurz.



Owensboro Mayor C. Waitman Taylor was the guest speaker at the 1974 Honors Day Program. Jim Allison, vice chairman of the Owensboro Board of Education, was on hand to present Parade Magazine's All-American Award to basketball superstar Kenny Higgs.



One of the traditional year-ending activities at OHS is The Honors Day Program. The event was held on May 14 at Rash Stadium. Some students are at the event to receive awards and others to observe the award-worthy accomplishments of their fellow students. Tom Kurz, advisor for the 11-12 Center Student Council, is in the background with a table full of plaques and trophies.

President of the Student Council Stuart Gant and Vice President Leslie Dodson presented the awards at the annual Honors Day Program. The Student Council Honors Day Committee was in charge of the program for the day.

observe the award-worthy accomplishments of their fellow students. Tom Kurz, advisor for the 11-12 Center Student Council, is in the background with a table full of plaques and trophies.

The names called most often during the Awards Day ceremonies to receive special recognition were those of Sherril Shipley, Anne Taylor, Vicki McGehee and Gena Ambs. Miss Taylor received the most awards — five.

At the close of Honors Day — 1974 — the football field had two groups of award winning OHS students. The senior members of the National Honor Society are on the right and the various award-winners that were called from the football stadium are on the left.

Governor Wendall Ford (above) spoke to the 1974 graduating class of OHS. In his speech to the graduating seniors, he urged them not be afraid to make mistakes. Co-valedictiorians Sherril Shipley and Anne Taylor (below) gave a brief speech at Commencement. They told the seniors to learn from the past and look to the future, while not forgetting the importance of the present.

Big Day for OHS Seniors — June 6

The long-awaited event for the 1974 graduating class was the Commencement program on June 6 and the receiving of their diplomas.

After Senior Class President David Cook gave the invocation, Vickie McGehee delivered the salutatory. She compared a student's school life to the problems of a young child as he is learning to walk. She reminded her schoolmates that they should learn from their failures and move on to bigger, better things.

Sherril Shipley and Anne Taylor delivered the valedictory in a joint speech. They urged each person to be aware of themselves and their environment and emphasized that in the years ahead, each graduate should remember the past and look to the future while not forgetting the importance of the present.

Student Council President Stuart Gant introduced the main speaker, Wendell H. Ford, the governor of Kentucky. Governor Ford's advice to the graduating seniors was this: "Don't be afraid to make mistakes." He noted the importance of trying new things, making mistakes and learning from those mistakes.

Dr. James C. Hilliard, superintendent of the Owensboro Schools, gave the charge to the class. He said that people cannot progress without change and change arises from conflict out of the minds of people. His charge to the seniors was "to continue to see opportunity to develop your potentiality."

On June 2, the Baccalaureate service was held at the Sportcenter. Dr. David Nelson, pastor at First Baptist Church, was scheduled to deliver the sermon. He became ill after arriving at the Sportcenter and the Rev. R. L. McFarland, pastor of Mt. Calvary Baptist Church, stepped in to take his place. Rev. McFarland also gave the invocation and benediction.

Donna Westerfield receives her diploma from Board of Education member Mark Moseley. Donna was the first of the students seated on the floor to receive her 1974 diploma.

Shipley, Taylor Are Co-Valedictorians

Sherril Shipley and Anne Taylor are the co-valedictorians for the 1973-74 graduating class of Owensboro Senior High.

Sherril and Anne received 41 A's and two B's during grades 9 through 12 to make a 3.9524 grade point average.

Both seniors plan to attend Western Kentucky University.

Salutatorian honors went to Vickie McGehee, who compiled a 3.9506 grade point average. Vicki received 39 A's and two B's during high school. She also plans to attend Western Kentucky University.

Both the valedictorians and salutatorians made short speeches at commencement.

Salutatorian Vickie McGehee carries an armload of books to her classes at OHS. She did more than carry the books as she compiled a 3.9506 grade point standing for second place in the academic race at OHS.

The 1974 co-valedictorians for Owensboro High are Sherril Shipley (left) and Anne Taylor. With only two B's, the two seniors have 3.9524 grade point standings for their high school work. They made short talks at the Commencement program on June 6.

10 Students Named to Who's Who; 4 Are 'Outstanding'

"Who's Who Among American High School Students," is an annual publication that recognizes meritorious students on a national basis.

Students chosen for this recognition are members of their junior or senior class who have demonstrated leadership in academics, athletics, extra-curricular activities or community services.

The Senior Cabinet selected 10 students from the senior class to represent Owensboro High School.

The were: Gena Ambs, Stuart Gant, Keith Kimbrell, Karen Kusch, Clay Lovett, Tom Meacham, Martha Robertson, Sherril Shipley, Rick Sullivan and Gwen Willingham.

The Senior Cabinet selected four of these students to receive th double honor of representing Owensboro High School in the Outstanding Teenagers of American program.

Those students include: Gena Ambs, Martha Robertson, Sherril Shipley and Gwen Willingham.

The Outstanding Teenagers program contacts these students for biographical and activity information. Their complete biography appears in the annual "Outstanding Teenagers of America" awards volumes. Criteria for selection include demonstrated leadership ability, unusual talents, excellent academic achievement and community services. The programs advisors select state, regional and national winners for further awards and scholarships.

"Alone Together ... in the Springtime of our Lives" was the theme for the 1974 Junior-Senior prom. Music was provided by "The Messengers" from Indianapolis. Prom decorations and the overall view of the crowded floor are evident in this scene at the Sportscenter.

Junior-Senior Prom Was Highlight of Year

The annual Junior-Senior prom was held at the Owensboro Sportscenter on the evening of Friday, May 3.

The theme of the 1974 prom was "Alone Together ... In the Springtime of Our Lives." The outdoors effect was carried out in the hanging baskets of flowers, outdoor lightposts and a gazebo in the center of the dance floor.

Music was provided by "The Messengers" from Indianapolis.

Preparations for the dance, which was sponsored by the Class of 1975, began approximately 18 weeks before the event. A committee of 15 juniors, headed by Class President Fred Wahl and Class Sponsors Bill Jury and Ann Nixon, were responsible for the decorations.

About 500 people attended the formal event.

This is the way the workers for the 1974 prom looked just hours before the big formal event of the year. Prom workers are (From Left) Junior Sally Barron; Sponsor Bill Jury, Senior class secretary Anita Taylor, Sponsor Ann Nixon and Junior class president Fred Wahl.

Junior Dale Lanham and Margaret Whitworth depict the theme for the prom, "Alone Together in the Springtime of Our Lives."

OHS Seniors Honored by Local Civic Clubs

Several Owensboro civic clubs presented awards to deserving OHS seniors in 1973-74.

These awards involved no money. Their sole purpose was to recognize those students who were outstanding during their senior year.

The students were chosen on the basis of scholarship, citizenship, leadership and activities.

The Optimist Club chose Leslie Dodson as the "Outstanding Senior Girl." Leslie was vice president of the Student Council, a member of the Pep Club, Senior Cabinet and Drill Team during the past year.

Stuart Gant was given the Civitan "Good Citizenship Award." David Cook was given the Rotary Club's Award for the "Outstanding Senior Boy."

These awards have traditionally been given to the Student Council president and Senior Class president respectively.

Kerry Groves was given the Willis Combest Award. Each year this person is picked by the administration and coaches as the one who best exhibits the same qualities as Willis Combest. Mr. Combest was a former teacher and coach and was known for his hard work, sense of fair play and dedication to worthy causes.

The Younger Women's Club Leadership Award went to Clay Lovett and Sherril Shipley. Clay was a member of the football team and the National Honor Society. Sherril was co-valedictorian and a member of the Student Council, National Honor Society, yearbook staff and girls track team.

Seniors Vickie Millay, Shelia Hagan, Sandie Pate and Brenda Simmons spread their blankets in the sand and proceeded to "soak up the sun" during the 1974 Senior Class Picnic at Miller's Lake. Senior parents provided the lunch for the hungry seniors.

Senior Picnic at Miller's Lake

On May 24, over half the Senior class journeyed to Miller's Lakes for the annual Senior picnic.

The day began rather cool and cloudy but soon turned out to be warm and sunny and a great day for a picnic.

Between miniature golf, paddle boats, row boats and swimming everyone seemed to have a good time, not to mention the joys of relaxing in the outdoors instead of going to classes.

The dreamboats and rowboats were a popular item at the Senior Class Picnic. Three Senior boys watch the boaters as they wait for their turn in a rowboat. The picnic was held at Miller's Lake on May 24 and over half of the class was in attendance for the annual event.

Anita Groves and David Cook Were Daisy Mae, Li'l Abner

Sadie Hawkins was the first dance of the year as well as one of the largest in attendence. It was sponsored by the OHS chorus.

The festivities began with the election of Li'l Abner and Daisy Mae. Candidates were nominated by the chorus and voted upon by the student body.

On the night of Oct. 5, Daisy Mae chased and caught her man, Li'l Abner, during halftime of the football game.

Anita Groves was Daisy Mae. David Cook was Li'l Abner. This year Anita was drum major of the band and David was senior class president.

The dress for the night was strictly "hick." The cheerleaders, majorettes and drill team wore costumes fitting the occasion. Many OHS students also showed up in their worst jeans and overalls.

Daisy Mae (Anita Groves) gives Li'l Abner (David Cook) a victory smile after catching him in the Sadie Hawkins Day chase. She caught him during the halftime activities of the Oct. 5 football game against Henderson County.

Seniors Pick 'Superlatives'

Senior Superlatives are elected each year by the Senior Class to honor students who best represent a number of different qualities.

The categories in 1973-74 as decided by the Student Council were: Most Bashful, Most Likely To Succeed, Most Happy-Go-Lucky, Most Friendly, Outstanding Leader, Biggest Flirt, Most Talented, Most Athletic, Best Looking and Best All-Around.

One boy and girl were chosen for each category.

Each Senior homeroom nominated students for each category in early May. The students receiving the most nominations were placed on a ballot. The Senior Class made the final choice in mid-May.

Theresa Falk and Phil Carr show off the "bee bops" and tube of Brylcream they won after being elected "Betty Lou" and "Teen Angel," at the "Nifty Fifties" Dance.

Falk, Carr Are 'Nifty 50' Couple

On March 29, the National Honor Society sponsored a "Nifty Fifties" Dance. It was a backwards dance with the girls taking the guys. The dress was the "fifties." Many guys came to the dance with grease hair and white socks. The girls came with their skirts at midcalf and with bobby socks and bee-bops.

Approximately 250 students attended the dance.

Phil Carr and Theresa Falk were elected "Teen Angel" and "Betty Lou" in the penny-a-vote competition.

The money raised at the dance was used for scholarships for three senior members of the National Honor Society.

OHS Has 'Black Expo' Winners

Denise Higgs and Norma Fountain won honors in the "Miss Black Expo" pageant, which was during Owensboro's Black Expo Week on Friday, Aug. 10.

Denise was crowned "Miss Senior Black Expo" and Norma was named "Miss Junior Black Expo."

Both Norma and Denise performed dance routines in the talent competition to win their respective titles.

Denise also won honors in the Miss Owensboro Pageant. Denise performed a modern dance from the theme of the movie "Shaft."

Katrina Taylor won the title of "Miss Congeniality" in the pageant.

Juniors George Smith and Teri Austin were named Valentine King and Queen at the annual dance held on Friday, Feb. 22. George adjusts Teri's crown after receiving honors in the penny-a-vote competition.

'Sweethearts' Are Teri Austin and George Smith

On February 22, Teri Austin and George Smith were chosen "Valentine Queen and King" at the Valentine Dance sponsored by the cheerleaders.

Marsha Schrecker and Jim Cox were first runners-up. Lauren Day and Randy Hamilton were second runners-up. Terri Miller and Lance Barnard were third runners-up.

The election process began two weeks before the dance with one boy and one girl candidates elected from each homeroom. The candidates collected money from the students (a penny a vote) for one week. Four days before the dance, the top three girls and guys from each class were the finalists. They continued to collect money during the rest of the week. After the last day, Teri and George, had collected the most money.

Karen VanWinkle, Barry Brown, Jo Beauchamp and Chuck Istre form a "train" at the Valentine Dace. "Soul Train" played at the dance, which was held at the 9-10 Center Cafeteria. The event was sponsored by the Varsity cheerleaders.

Charlene Williams, Kim Cotton Are Homecoming Queens

On Oct. 12, Student Body President Stuart Gant crowned Charlene Williams as 1973 Football Homecoming Queen.

Charlene's attendants were Denise Higgs, first runner-up; Anita Groves, second runner-up; and Mary Schroeder, third runner-up.

During the past year, Charlene was captain of the cheerleaders, elected "Miss Owensboroan" and was a member of the student council, Young Democrats, pep club and track team. In 1972-73, she was elected "Miss Junior."

On Feb. 8, Gant crowned Senior Kim Cotton as 1974 Basketball Homecoming Queen during halftime of the OHS-Louisville Central basketball game.

She was escorted by David Warren.

In her court were Seniors Debbie Day, first runner-up; Anita Groves, second runner-up; and Denise Higgs, third runner-up. Other members of the court were Juniors Bekki Ramsey, fourth runner-up; and Donna Tice, fifth runner-up.

Kim was captain of the drill team and a member of student council and pep club.

The 1973 football Homecoming Queen, Charlene Williams, is escorted across the field by David Warren after being crowned during the halftime ceremonies.

GROUPS

9-10 Student Council Sponsored Several Projects

During the 1973-74 school year, the 9-10 Center Student Council sponsored several projects.

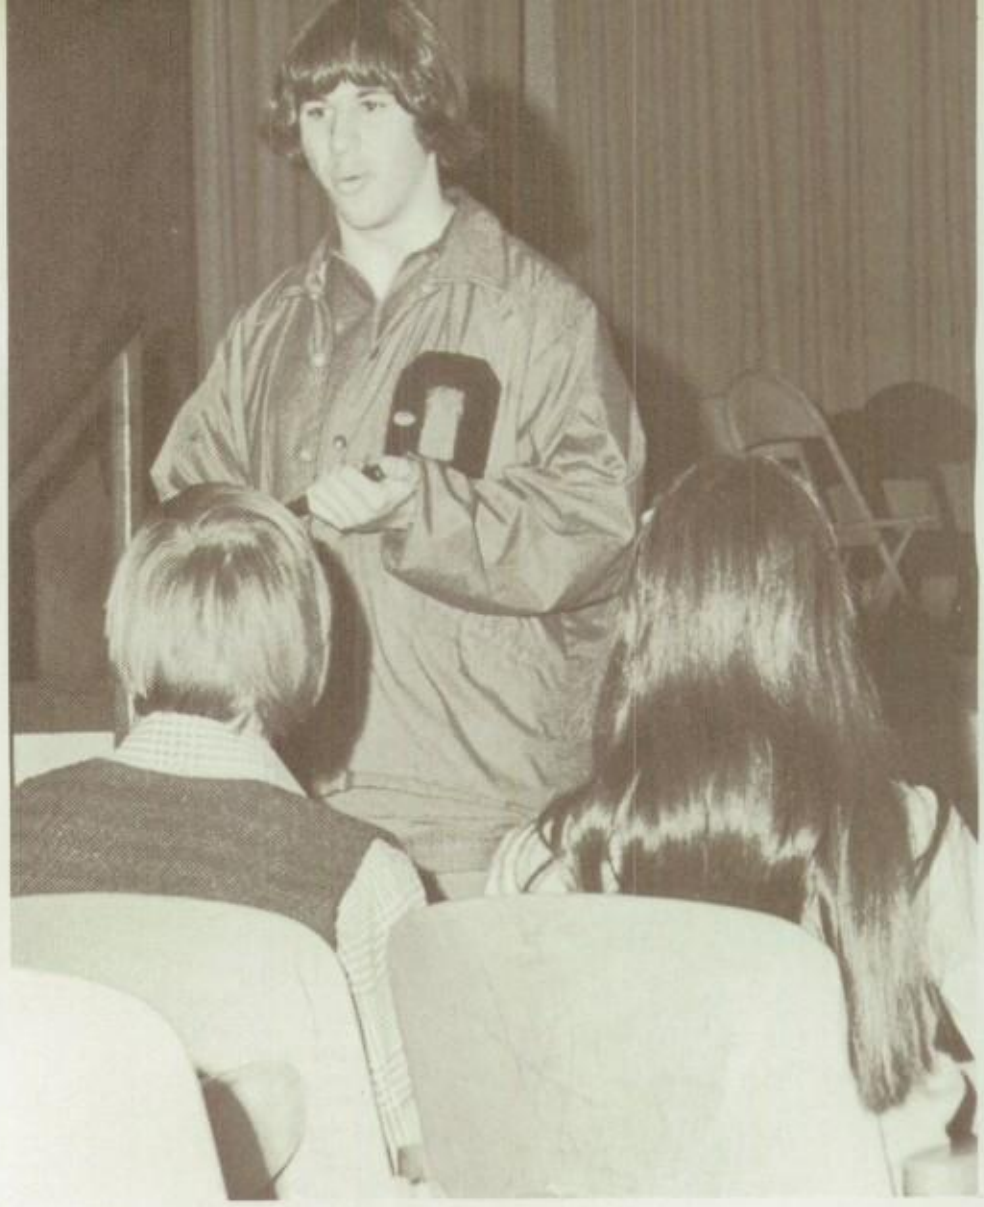
Among them were a cake auction, selling Red Devil patches and helping in the annual magazine drive.

The members staged a cake auction by bringing cakes and selling them at a student auction. They made $276 and used the money for the purchase of an adding machine which they donated to the business department.

The 9-10 Center Student Council also sold Owensboro Red Devil patches and license plates.

The 9-10 Center outsold the 11-12 Center in the magazine drive with a total of $13,457.06.

The advisers for the 9-10 Center Student Council were Mrs. Louise Carpenter and Mr. Ray Kimbel.



Mike Hayes, president of the 9-10 Center Student Council, calls a meeting to order. The 9-10 Center Student Council sponsored a number of projects during the 1973-74 school year and finished writing the by-laws for the Council.

Mrs. Louise Carpenter, one of the 9-10 Center student council advisers, explains to the council representatives about the magazine drive. The 9-10 Center contributed largely to the success of the annual magazine drive that set a new state record.

Magazine Drive Sets State Record

For the second consecutive year, the Student Council sponsored magazine drive surpassed its $20.00 goal.

Through the support and effort of the students, Owensboro High School led the state with a record $23,400 in magazine sales.

A senior, Marc Stout, retained the title of highest salesman in magazine sales.

Other Council sponsored projects included the basketball Homecoming Dance and the Honor's Day program in May.

The Council continued to provide channels of communication between the students and administration.

The announcement committee kept the faculty and students informed of the various school activites. Each representative and alternate reported the results of the monthly council meetings to their homeroom and conducted school elections.

Delegates from the Student Council represented Owensboro High School at the Youth Alcoholic Convention in Louisville and the Kentucky State Student Council Convention in Covington.

Mr. Thomas Kurz and Mrs. Beverly Chelgren served as advisers to the council in 1973-74.

The officers were: Stuart Gant, president; Leslie Dodson, vice president; Linda Napier, recording secretary; Gwen Willingham, corresponding secretary; and Sally Barron, treasurer.

All eyes are on Stuart Gant, 11-12 Center Student Council president, as he presides over a meeting. The council worked with the 9-10 Center on the magazine drive and also sponsored the Basketball Homecoming dance.

Art Club Goal: New Orleans Trip

Owensboro High School's Art Club used team work and determination in their projects this year keeping up their reputation as hard workers.

"Betsey Clark" polydomes, Christmas ornaments, ceramics and car washes were among their projects this year.

The money was used to pay the expenses for a trip to New Orleans to visit some of the many art galleries there.

The Art Club, sponsored by Mr. Jack Poynter, also took a trip along with the Art IV class to Evansville in December for the Tri-State Art Exhibit in a school bus driven by Mr. Poynter. The ride was bumpy but the students enjoyed the trip.

Leading the organization were: Robin Fredrick, president; Anne Taylor, secretary; and Jana Otis, treasurer.

Members of the Art Club spent many hours after school working on their projects and polydomes was just one of their activities. Club members working on the project are (from left): Jana Otis, treasurer; Martha Robertson; Robin Fredrick, president; and Anne Taylor, secretary.

Teens Who Care Help Others

Satisfaction with the knowledge that they have helped others was the reward for the students in "Teens Who Care." The members devoted much of their spare time on afternoons and weekends in helping others. The activities included keeping score for the Opportunity Center Bowling League on every other Saturday, helping with the arts and crafts at the Florence Henderson Girls Club, sponsoring dances for the Opportunity Center and parties for the Senior Citizens.

The club was sponsored by Ms. Pam Kirkland. The officers were: President Gena Ambs and Vice President Pam Armstrong.

One of the activities the Teens Who Care participated in was collecting Christmas toys for the children at Outwood. Packing the toys are (from left): Gena Ambs, president, Judy Morton, Cindy Blandford, Shannon Ware, Sheila Brown and Steve Majors.

The bookstores from both the 9-10 and 11-12 Centers sold Owensboro High School Red Devil T-shirts and sweatshirts. They were a popular item among OHS students. Displaying the shirts are Debbie Gower and Pixie Rich.

Bookstores New to OHS

"The Devil Stop" and the "9-10 5 and 10" were new this year to the Distributive Education Clubs of America. Many students from both centers helped operate a store while serving their fellow students by selling them school supplies and Red Devil T-shirts and sweatshirts.

Sponsors Leslie A. Barnhart, Dale Rouse and Bill Little helped provide the Distributive Education students with leadership training, vocational understanding, civic consciousness and social intelligence.

Officers were President Bill Payne, Vice President Richard Fifield, Secretary Nancy Clark, Treasurer Lennie Jenkins, Parliamentarian Vickie Kasinger and Reporter Jimmy Jasper.

Math and Science Club members concentrate on a math test during one of the monthly meets at Brescia College. Other tests were given in the areas of chemistry, biology, and general science. Each test lasted 15 minutes. The individual scores were averaged for the overall team score.

Math Club Adds New Dimension

Students interested in competing in the areas of math and science made up the membership of the 1973-74 Math Club. Students from OHS and 10 other area high schools met monthly at Brescia College for competition. There were four 15-minute tests covering math, biology, chemistry, and general science.

The club was sponsored by Mrs. Euba Organ, Mr. Mitchell Roberts and Mr. Henry Thompson, all math teachers at OHS, and Mr. James Mills, a science teacher. The officers were: President David Johnson, Vice President Jean Campbell, and Secretary Martha Robertson.

French Students Active in Club

Do you speak French? If you go to Owensboro High School and speak French, you're probably a member of the French Club.

Sponsored by Miss Mary Ann Boling, the French Club participated in various language department activities during 1973-74. At Christmas, a French program was presented to students at Southern Middle School in order to explain French holiday traditions.

The club also participated in Foreign Language Week by having a Patisserie and by displaying drawings and paintings of France.

Leanne Clark, the student teacher in French, gives a pointer to Bill Lacy, Ann Gregory and Marty Riley. While OHS had a French Club, the group did not have offices like other school groups.

JCL Involved in Numerous Activities

For the students of Owensboro High School interested in the ancient cultures, customs and language of Greece and Rome, the Latin language courses and club were designed for this group.

The Latin Club, or as it is formally called — the Junior Classical League, under its advisor, Miss Marna Edmonson, began the school year with the installation of the organization's new officers and members.

The officers are: Monty Smith, president; Jane Rogers, vice president; Vickie McGehee, recording secretary and treasurer, and Dan Rickard, corresponding secretary.

Activities were numerous. During the preceding summer, nine students and Miss Edmondon traveled to California for the National Convention.

On Nov. 2-3, several members attended the State Convention in Louisville.

Monty Smith, representing Owensboro, was elected to the office of State Junior Classical League president.

Spanish Club Had Variety of Activities

Spanish club members were busy with a variety of activity in 1973-74.

For their first activitiy, the club went Christmas caroling at Our Lady of Mercy Hospital and the Mary Kendall home, leaving Christmas cheer and gifts of soap and wash cloth "puppies."

During Foreign Language week, the club had a display of Spanish artifacts, sold flower bouquets, translated the lunchroom menu into Spanish and rewarded fellow students with bubblegum if they could remember the password "Somos Amigos" (We are friends).

Spanish Club members performed at the Foreign Language banquet for parents and friends with native dances and songs. Belinda Thomas sang a solo and Steve Coppick roasted the foreign language department in a comical satire.

Miss Gladys Combs and Mr. Norman Lewis sponsored the club. Officers were Joni Cravens, president; Carolyn Adkisson, vice president; and Mary Jane Stephens, secretary.

German Club Sends 'Singing Valentines'

For 25 cents, you could send your boyfriend, girlfriend or favorite teacher a singing Valentine. Humorous or sentimental, it made no difference. It was all in fun and just one of the activities German Club members participated in during 1973-74.

Pretzels were given as rewards to students who could repeat the German phrase "Mein Deutscher Freund" on German Day during Foreign Language week.

A German band and folk dancers performed for an audience at the Foreign Language banquet. Guitar and vocal soloist Paul Schroeder also performed a song in German.

The German Club officers were: Jeff Tucker, president; Amanda Barnhart, vice president; John Goodhue, historian; Kirk LeClear, treasurer; and Alicia Chenault, secretary.

Investigators Report on Variety of Topics

The Owensboro High School Junior Investigators is a club patterned after an Owensboro men's club called "Investigators."

Approximately every six weeks a group of students presented reports to their classmates over a two-day period and provided refreshments. Reports were on diversified topics and covered areas of interested material that makes up American history.

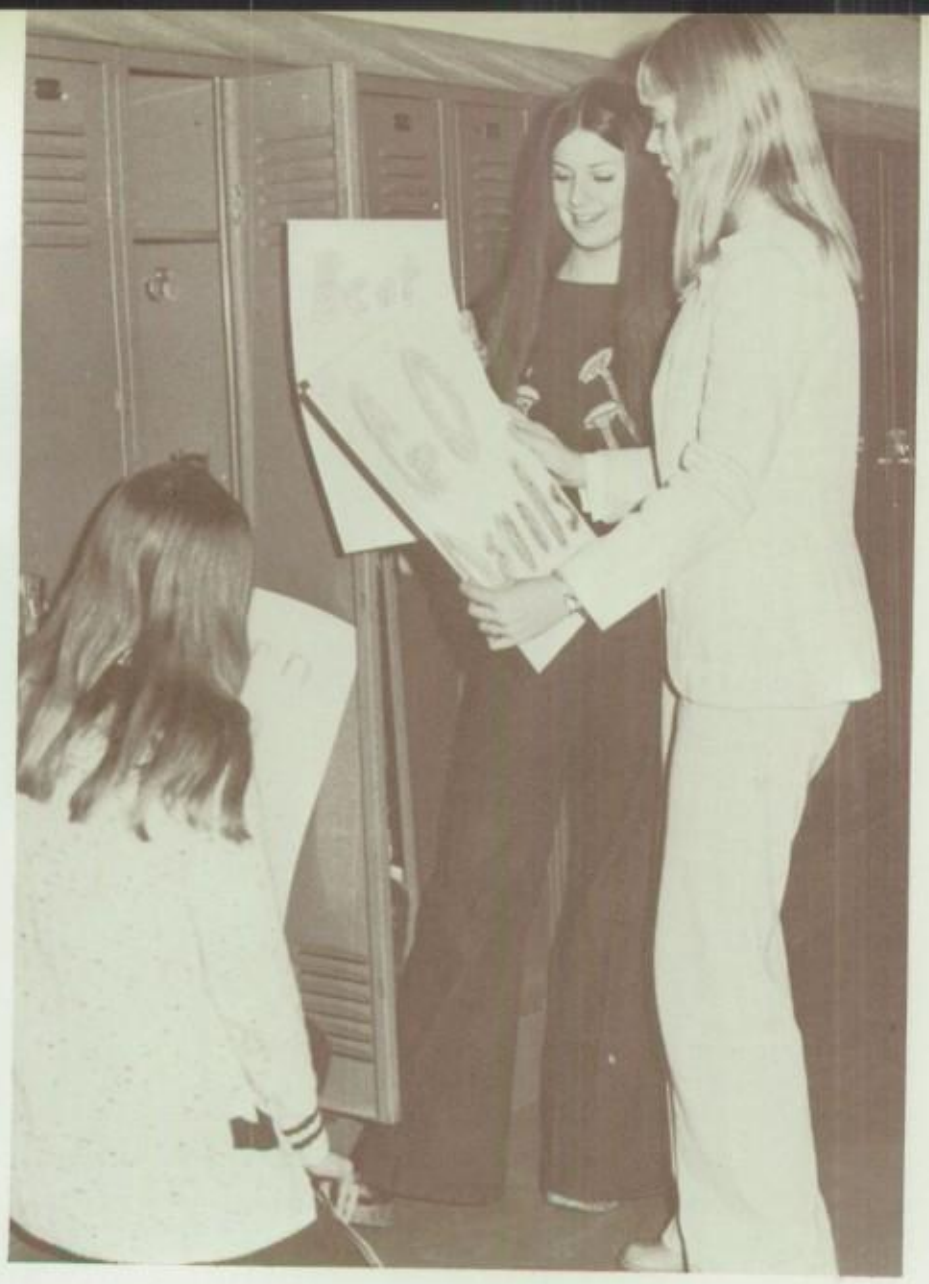
Some topics which were reported on included: "Witchcraft," "Klu Klux Klan," "Outlaws," "Minor Political Parties," "Political Scandals."

Students in Mrs. Ella Jones' and Sandy Girvin's American History Survey classes constituted the membership of the organization. In the spring both classes met together for the annual club banquet.

Officers in Mrs. Jones' second period class were: President Bill Lacy, Vice President Bekki Ramsey, and Secretary Gusti Neal.

Officers in Miss Girvin's six period class were: President Jane Paris, Vice President Paul Schroeder and Secretary Candy Girvin.

Mark Jenkins gives his report in Sandy Girvin's sixth period class. Classmates are David Davis, Candy Girvin, John Nance, David Nance, Pam Jordan, Debbie Hogue, Monty Smith and Kathy Westerfield. Junior Investigators is a long-time organization at OHS.



Decorating the locker of their "Booster Buddy" was a project which many of the Pep Club members participated in during the past year. Jana Otis, Martha Robertson and Kathy Best prepare some locker signs for a "Booster Buddy."

Pep Club Had 'Booster Buddies'

Did you see girls with flowing red streamers and flopping signs peeking around corners and through windows during the past year?

If you did, you have seen the OHS Pep Club "Booster Buddies" in action.

Each girl drew the name of a team member and before each game she prepared a box of confectionery delight and decorated his locker or desk. The player was not to know who his "Booster Buddy" was until the annual banquet later in the year. Trying to keep their identity a secret became quite a task for the girls.

The Pep Club, sponsored by Mrs. Jo Fowler and Miss Melinda Pedigo, presented skits at pep rallies before vital games and sponsored buses to away football games.

Officers were President Cindy Prater; Vice President Donna Neel; Secretary-Treasurer Karen Kusch and Projects Chairman Janice Heim.

Bill Jury, sponsor of the Key Club, shows Gwen Willingham, the Key Club Calendar Girl a copy of the proposed 1973-74 Key Club calendar.

Calendar Girl Main Activity of Key Club

The Calendar Girl Pageant was the main activity of the Key Club this year.

Each club within the school elected one girl to represent them in the competition. The girls were judged on grades, poise and beauty. Twelve girls were chosen; one for each month and the winner, senior Gwen Willingham, appeared on the cover.

Gwen was representing the Co-Op and received a $150 scholarship.

Lea Ann Howell, a junior, was first runner-up and received a $100 scholarship. She was representing the band.

Other winnners were Sherril Shipley, Martha Robertson, Denise Higgs, Charlene Williams, Melissa Lambert, Sally Danhauer, Kathy Brackett, Sandra Bennett, Becky Rose and Cindy Gordon.

Officers of the Key Club for 1973-74 were Danny Ellis, president, Greg Vincent, vice president, Kerry Groves, secretary and Tim Callis, treasurer.

BSU Was Active Group in 1973-74

The Black Student Union was one of the more active clubs at OHS in 1973-74.

They began their activities with Black History Week Feb. 11-17. The BSU, in conjunction with the Brescia College Union of Black Identity and the Community Recreation Center, hosted the city-wide observance of Black History Week.

A variety show was held in the OHS auditorium. BSU members and black students of OHS participated in this event. Bulletin Boards proclaiming Black History Week were put up within the school and speakers told of important Black people in America's history each morning over the school PA.

Later in the year, they sponsored a fashion show within the Senior Variety Show and sent baskets to black families in Brandenburg, a town damaged by the tornado.

CSU Provided Non-Denominational Devotionals

The Christian Student Union was committed to bringing Owensboro High School students closer to God . . . no matter what denomination.

The CSU held a regular weekly devotional on Wednesday mornings before school. These meeting provided a religious atmosphere for OHS students.

CSU officers for 1973-74 were: Mike Spencer, president; Brent Waltrip, vice president; Elaine Sayre, secretary-treasurer; Tom Meacham, senior representative; Sandy Schwallie, junior representative; and Richard Fifield, outreach leader.

Mr. Mitchell Roberts, an 11-12 Center math teacher, was the CSU adviser.

Carolyn Rightmyer, Leanne Ford, Carolyn Adkisson, Mary Duncan, Pam Armstrong and Mike Spencer listen during one of the regular weekly Christian Student Union devotionals. The CSU met every Wednesday morning before school. Spencer was president of the CSU for 1973-74.

FHA Makes Track Uniforms

The Future Homemakers of America, sponsored by Mrs. Sandra Harrington and Mrs. Judy King, was one of OHS's busiest organizations of 1973-74.

Officers were elected at the beginning of the school year. They were: President Teresa Murphy; First Vice President Kathy Mischel; Second Vice President Debbie Stewart; Secretary Jill Stewart; Treasurer Donna Tice; Parliamentarian Cindy Parish; Historian Sherie Shuler; Songleader Martha Gibson; and Recreation Leader Debbie Vincent.

On Oct. 6, officers attended the Regional Officers Training Workshop.

On Oct. 24, the FHA members held a "Sloppy Joe Sale." Members of the Home Ec and Family Living classes were the customers along with the faculty members from other departments at OHS.

The big money-making project of the year was making uniforms for the Girls Track Team. The girls also made covers for the machines in the business department.

FFA Is New Organization at OHS

The Future Farmers of America is a new organization at OHS. The FFA chapter is a part of the horticulture class offered at OHS.

The first, and main project of the chapter, was a greenhouse which was constructed behind the student parking lot. After it was completed, FFA members began planting in the new facility.

Managers elected to take care of the greenhouse, Cherie Gilmore and Brenda Young, were elected to take care of the facility during the summer months.

Tending to the plant collection in the Horticulture classroom are (From Left): John Adkins, Brenda Young, Bill Sadler, Ricky Payne, Cherie Gilmore and Lawrence Bell. The FFA chapter had plants in the classroom while the new greenhouse was under construction.

The FFA have in their plans for the future to have classrooms and offices on the property north of the greenhouse.

The FFA also attended many workshops throughout the state. They went to Western Kentucky University to visit the FFA farm and attended the state and national FFA conventions and went to the Third Regional Future Farmers of America Field Day at Daviess County High School.

The club was also busy during the summer months. FFA members landscaped the Southern Middle School campus.

The officers attended a state training camp. Officers are President Ricky Payne; Vice President Cathy Cox; Secretary Cherie Gilmore; Treasurer Lawrence Bell; Reporter Brenda Young; Sentinel John Nance. They were advised by Mr. Fred Reneau.

Most people see the ROTC only as the guys in uniform who escort the homecoming queens and their courts across the field or court at halftime. Cadet Colonel Tom Turner escorts Donna Tice, fifth runner-up for basketball homecoming queen, through an arc of sabres drawn by the ROTC Sabre Team.

ROTC in National Rifle Match

The ROTC department had to divide themselves between the two centers this year. The headquarters were still at the 11-12 Center, but this meant that some individuals had to do much traveling between the two schools to run the corps efficiently.

One of the highlights of the year was the national rifle match. It was a great honor to be allowed to go since only the best in the nation are allowed to participate.

The OHS ROTC department was in the top ten per cent of the country in drill, inspections, and academic achievements. They performed at Western Kentucky University against groups from eight other states. OHS was fourth and fifth in platoon and squad drill.

They are now No. 1 in the nation in blackjack. Blackjack is a national organization that teaches exhibition drill. It was formed by Gen. John J. Pershing for the purpose of teaching ROTC cadets the fundamentals of military procedures and conduct. The program was started this year at OHS. The school won the honor of being chosen No. 1 after they were inspected during the competition at WKU.

In addition to competitions, the ROTC serves the school and community by ushering athletic and civic events.

The purpose of ROTC is to teach the members of the cadet corps patriotism, loyalty, and desire to serve the community, making them better citizens in the years ahead.

Science Club Formed at 9-10

One of the new clubs at OHS in 1973-74 was the 9-10 Center Science Club, made up entirely of 9-10 students.

The purpose of the club was to promote interest in the field of science. Members of this club worked on individual scientific projects throughout the year.

The club, made up of eight 9-10 students, met once a week immediately after school at the 9-10 Center.

Officers were Mickey Bowman, president; Kevin Norris, vice president; Alvis Foster, secretary and Linda Gentry and Mitchell Stapleton, advisers.

Honor Society Members Had Variety of Projects

National Honor Society is an organization that recognizes students for their scholarship, leadership and service.

To be elected as a junior, you must have a 3.7 grade point standing. For senior election, one must have a 3.5 grade point standing.

In accordance with the requirements for admittance, the students must do many worthwhile endeavors in the field of service.

Many students rang bells for the Salvation Army at Christmas. Others tutored students at the grade school level. Whenever the opportunity arose, National Honor Society members were there to help.

The National Honor Society sponsored two dances during the year. The Christmas Dance and a "Nifty Fifties" Dance. To help pay for the costs of the dances, contests were held for "Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus" and for "Teen Angel" and "Betty Lou." With the money raised from such projects, the National Honor Society was able to award three scholarships to graduating senior members.

The National Honor Society officers for 1973-74 were: Vickie McGehee, president; Monty Smith, vice president; Sandra Bennett, secretary; Ann Greer, treasurer. Mrs. Beverly Chelgren and Mrs. Joan Robertson were the sponsors.

OHS students appear to have enjoyed the trip into the past as they pranced to the music at the "Nifty Fifties" dance. Winners of the "Teen Angel" and "Betty Lou" contest were Theresa Faulk, a sophomore, and Phil Carr, a senior. The dance was sponsored by the National Honor Society.

Forensic Team Started in 1973-74

A new organization, the Foresenic (speech) team, started at OHS in 1973-74.

The club, sponsored by Miss Diane Rigney of the 9-10 Center and Mr. Barry Corum from the 11-12 Center, is based on competition in different areas of speech.

The club began working at the Public Library in the fall to prepare for contests which started in November. There were four contests held at Lexington Bryan Station, Murray High School, Elizabethtown High School and the regional contest at Henderson Community College.

Those receiving superior ratings at the regional contest and qualifying for the state contest on April 26-27 were Monty Smith and Paul Schroeder, radio broadcasting; Belinda Thomas and Tim Conning, oratory; Ken Cook, discussion; Roxi Witt, girls extemporaneous; and Steve Coppick, humorous interpretation.

Monty Smith Elected State Historians President

Members of the OHS chapter of the Young Historians tried to explore and preserve historical facts in both state and national history in 1973-74. They attended a state convention April 6-7 where many members participated in contests. Monty Smith, who held the position of first state vice president, ran for the office of State President and won the position.

Another activity in which they participated was the sale of Kentucky Bicentenial license plates in conjuction with the Owensboro-Daviess County chapter of the Kentucky Historical Society.

Members also spoke to several community organizations to promote the bicentennial celebration.

Officers of the Young Historian were Candy Girvin, president; Karen Van Winkle, vice president; Alicia Chenault, secretary; and Carolyn Rightmeyer, historian. The club was sponsored by Miss Sandy Girvin.

Miss Sandy Girvin and Monty Smith discuss plans for the Young Historians State Convention, which was held April 6-7 in Lexington.

Jane Paris placed third in the Young Historians state essay contest with her essay entitled "Kentucky's Involvement in the War of 1812."

David Davis holds the silver bowl he won for his painting of the Rash residence. He won first place in the State Contest.

With poms-poms flying high during the halftime performance at a home football game, the OHS drill team did a routine to "Theme from the Men." The girls spent many hours in practice perfecting the halftime routines.

Drill Team Performs at Football, Basketball Games

There were 64 regular members and 7 alternates on the 1973-74 Owensboro High drill team. The entire drill team was made up of two squads with 32 on each squad.

The squad captains were Kim Cotton and Mary Leslie McCormick. The co-captains were Donna Neel and Jo Beauchamp.

The drill team practiced two hours a day during the summer and every afternoon after school. They provided halftime entertainment at football and basketball games. The drill team sponsor was Miss Martha Peters.

During the summer, the drill team attended a camp at Emory University, in Atlanta, Ga. The camp was sponsored by the Kilgore Rangerettes from Kilgore University in Kilgore, Texas. There, the drill team received second place honors with a jazz routine and a third place in marching. Senior Leslie Dodson received the Outstanding Girl at Camp award and was elected to the All-American Drill Team.

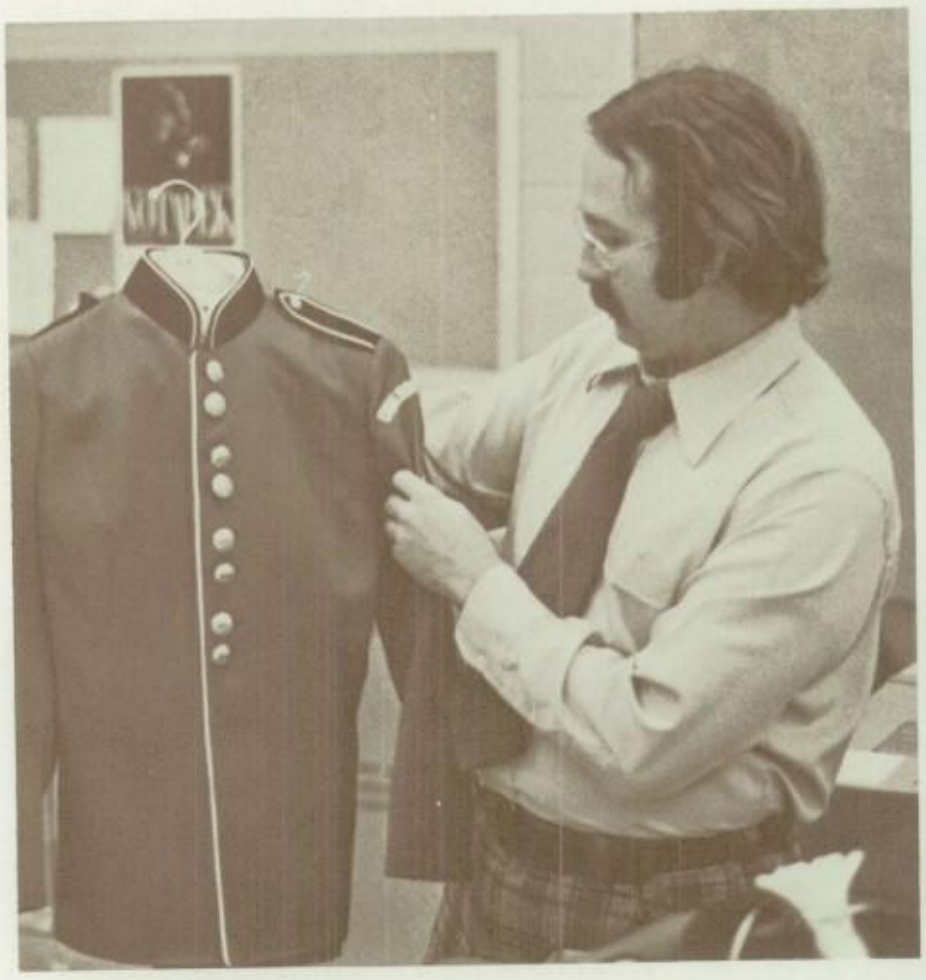
The highlight performance of the year was during the Kentucky Wesleyan Christmas Tournament. The drill team performed during halftime at the Buffalo State game and also at the Wesleyan game.

On March 23, the Owensboro High drill team was invited to a "Catholic High Expedition" where the area drill teams did two routines — one pom-pom and one glove routine.

During the summer, money making projects for the drill team were a booth at the Regatta and car washes.

"Where did all the girls come from?" That's a question many spectators asked when the 1973-74 OHS Drill Team performed during halftime of basketball games. The fans watched intently as the jazz routine was being performed by the drill team.

Dressed in their "casual" uniforms, the Owensboro High School band performs at halftime of an OHS football game. The band used the "casual dress" early in the year before the new uniforms arrived.



Phil Cole, OHS 11-12 Center band director, looks over the new uniforms used by the band in 1973-74. The uniforms are a bright red with black trim and white edging.

Displaying their new uniforms, the OHS band marches in one of the many parades they took part in during the 1973-74 school year. The Frederica Street scene was at the beginning of the Thanksgiving Parade through downtown Owensboro.

Band Started Early Preparing for Concerts, Parades

The OHS band spent many hours preparing for the numerous concerts and contests they participated in during 1973-74.

The band started working especially early during the past year. In August, they attended a one-week band camp at Eastern Kentucky University.

The 9-10 Center band, directed by David Shaner, and the 11-12 Center band, directed by Phil Cole, combined during the marching season to play for all the home football games and one away game at Ohio County. They also played together in the Veteran's Day parade, Holiday parade, VFW Armed Forces Day parade and the Regatta parade.

The 9-10 Center and 11-12 Center bands took turns playing at the home basketball games, while combining to play for the district, regional and state basketball tournaments.

During concert season, the two bands performed separately. The 9-10 Center concert band presented three concerts during the year, while the 11-12 Center concert band gave five performances.

The combined bands competed against other area bands in several contests during the year. In October, they received a superior rating in a marching contest at Murray State University. They placed third in Class A competition at Central City.

In April, the 9-10 Center band competed in a statewide band contest at Madisonville. Earlier in the year, several students played in solo and ensemble competition at Madisonville.

Stacy Alvey and Lou Ann Gordon were chosen for All-State Band. Lou Ann was also chosen for All-State Orchestra.

Co-Drum Majors of the band were Stacy Alvey and Anita Groves. Assistant drum major was Kevin Tichenor.

Practice makes perfect and apparently that is what Junior Lou Ann Gordon believed as she made second chair flute in both all-state band and all-state orchestra during the past year. She also received a $300 scholarship for the Stephen Foster Music Camp at Eastern Kentucky University.

The OHS Marching Band is a regular in almost every Owensboro parade. This is a typical view of the Red Devils, led by the OHS majorettes, on a march through Owensboro's downtown area. This scene was taken from the bridge over the Ohio River.

Majorettes Perform at Sports Events, Parades, Contests

The majorettes worked closely with the band in 1973-74 and performed with them several times during the year.

They began their practicing last summer, working two hours a day. In August, they attended the band camp at Eastern Kentucky University. They received instruction from an Indiana University majorette. First semester, they practiced with the band every day after school.

The majorettes performed with the band at all home football games as well as one away at Ohio County. They also performed at two basketball games.

In addition to the sports events, the majorettes also traveled to Murray and Central City with the band to marching contests.

They marched in all four parades with the band during the year.

The captain and co-captain of the majorettes were Debbie Day and Anita Taylor.

Other members were Vickie Roberts, Becky Webb, Gail Fort, Denise Dixon, Diane Dixon and Janice Kinney. Alternates were Charise Myngheer and Judy Millay.

Advanced Chorus Makes Regional Trip to Atlanta, Ga.

The highlight of the year for the OHS advanced chorus was their trip to Atlanta, Ga., for regional competition against other schools in the Southern states.

The entire tour lasted five days at the end of April. The 66 members of the advanced chorus made the trip. On the first day, they stopped to give concerts at Cumberland College and Eastern Kentucky University. At the contest, the men competed in one category. The entire choir then sang in a separate competition. While in Atlanta, the choir visited "Six Flags over Georgia" and the historic "Underground Atlanta." To be eligible to go to Atlanta, the choir had to receive all superior ratings in district competition at Madisonville.

In addition to their trip, the Advanced Chorus gave many concerts to private groups and to the public. They gave ten concerts during the Christmas season and eight concerts last spring.

The 88 member chorus was directed by Tom Pope. The officers were co-presidents David Cummings and Ken Spurlock and secretary-treasurer Sheryl Roby. The accompianist was Carolyn Adkisson.

Mr. Tom Pope also directed the 24-member Chamber Choir. The choir met as a class and practiced every day for the first time this year. They gave several concerts at Christmas. In the spring they presented the musical "Celebrate Life." They were joined by ten other OHS students. In May, they took a tour and presented "Celebrate Life" in several locations.

The Beginning Choir, composed of 58 students at the 9-10 Center, was also directed by Mr. Pope. They spent much time on fundamentals but gave four concerts during the year. The officers included President Paula Daniel and Secretary-Treasurer Tina Rogers.

On March 2, OHS took the largest delegation of students of any high school in Kentucky to the 1974 Kentucky All-State Chorus in Louisville. Thirteen students from Senior High paricipated in the performance.

One of the main projects of the year for the chorus was the Sadie Hawkins dance. This was the first dance of the year and was a "backwards" dance. The girls took the guys.

David Cook and Anita Groves were chosen as "L'il Abner" and "Daisy Mae."

Chorus Director Tom Pope gives instructions to the 9-10 Center chorus during their annual Pops Concert held for the 11-12 Center students. The concert was put on for the students and then for the public that night. The night performance also included the band. The concert was held on May 16.

Seniors David Cummings, Steve Rowe, Wilbur Pate and Mike Mason goes over a portion of "Celebrate Life" as Wilbur accompanies on the guitar. Senior girls Poinci Miles, Carolyn Adkisson, Melissa Lambert and Jan Boyd pay close attention to Director Tom Pope as their faces reflect the mood of the material they are performing for the Chamber Singers.

To Senior Cindy Prater, the only suitable ending to a successful trip is "catching 40 winks" on the bus and trying to catch-up on all the sleep she lost while in Atlanta, Ga.

Junior Cindy Gordon puts up a protest as "Card Shark" Phil Carr displays a winning hand. Junior Rick Twedell stares rather unbelieveingly at the hand of cards, perhaps wondering if it came honestly?

Men's Chorus Wins First Place at Atlanta

The OHS men's chorus received first place in singing competition, bringing home the "best in class" trophy at Atlanta, Ga., in late April.

The OHS mixed chorus received one superior and two excellent ratings, competing with schools from seven southern states and ranking among the top five among the 20 choirs in competition.

The tour was also a success "behind the scenes," as the 59-member chorus filled every spare moment by taking advantage of the week out of school.

While in Georgia, the chorus saw a musical, "Kiss Me Kate," visited the Atlanta Zoo, saw Cyclorama (the Atlanta History of the battle of Atlanta), toured "Six Flags over Georgia" and "Underground Atlanta."

Mack Stiles (left) and David Cook are obviously enjoying the roller coaster at "Six Flags over Georgia" as Tom Pope brings up the rear with a "V" sign. The choir spent an entire day at Six Flags.

Ms. Pam Kirkland prepares to "get some sun" as she chaperones on the choir tour to Atlanta, Ga.

Steve Rowe lends a hand and helps straighten Greg Dues' bow tie, to make sure they're looking their best for the men's chorus competition in Atlanta.

'Rosencranz' Was Fall Production

Starting off with a relatively inexperienced cast and a director who had never directed a high school play was the situation facing Barry Corum at the beginning of the year. Adding to Corum's apprehensiveness was the limited budget he had to work with on the initial play of the year.

However, by closing night the play "Rosencranz and Guildenstern are Dead" was termed a "rousing success" by Corum, the director.

Corum also had only high praise for Steve Coppick, who played "Rosencranz" and David Cummings who portrayed "Guildenstern."

The play was chosen as Rose Curtain's first production of 1973-74 for a number of reasons. One was that Corum felt it best represented the taste and cultural inclinations of students and the viewing public.

David Cummings (Guildenstern) and Steve Coppick (Rosencranz), along with Martin Fitzgerald (Alfred) and David Johnson and Tom Foreman (Tragedians) appear to be spellbound by Tom Meacham (The Player — center stage) in "Rosencranz and Guildenstern Are Dead."

David Cummings (as Guildenstern) and Steve Coppick (Rosencranz) both drew high praise from Director Barry Corum as did Tom Meacham (The Player) for their performances in the play on Nov. 8-10. In this scene Coppick and Cummings listen to "The Player."

Lisa Renshaw applies the finishing touches to Steve Coppick's make up shortly before play time on opening night of "Rosencranz and Guildenstern Are Dead," the fall production of Rose Curtain Players.

"Emily," played by Susan Ezell, and "George" portrayed by Bernie Bissmeyer, have just been married in the 9-10 Center play "Our Town." The scene came at the end of Act II and the townspeople were bidding farewell to the newlyweds.

9-10 Center Play — 'Our Town Called a 'Success'

After being postponed for two weeks due to "inclement weather," "Our Town" was finally presented to the public in late January.

The play was presented by the 9-10 Center's drama department, under the direction of Miss Diane Rigney. It was the drama department's only major production of 1973-74. The reason being that productions like "Our Town" require thousands of man hours and grades do suffer, explained Miss Rigney.

The play emphasized life in a small New Hampshire town in 1901. It followed the life of Emily Webb and George Gibbs through their teenage years to marriage, then through their deaths and after when Emily returned from her grave to try and convince people that death is not the dreadful thing they think it is.

Bernie Bissmeyer had the lead role of "George Gibbs" and Susan Ezell was "Emily Webb."

After the play's production, Miss Rigney termed it "a success — financially, dramatically and team-wise."

"Emily" and "George" are having a soda after their first big quarrel in this play scene from the 9-10 Center production of "Our Town." The stage manager (Paul Quertermous), who is the narrator for the play, is serving them. The play drew some sizeable crowds at its late January showings.

'Oklahoma!' Was Spring Musical

Rogers and Hammerstein's "Oklahoma!" was the spring musical for 1973-74. The play was based on the playscript "Green Grow the Lilacs," by Lynn Riggs. The play was set in Indian territory during the turn of the century.

The costumes and sets, designed by OHS students, depicted the turn-of-the-century setting.

Students from both the 9-10 Center and 11-12 Center participated in the production. There were 32 members in the cast and 29 in the crew. The 18 members of the orchestra included several music teachers in the city who were invited to play with the students.

Kathy Best and David Cook starred as "Laury" and "Curly."

Tryouts for the play were held in January. Students from both centers competed for parts.

The play was presented April 4, 5, 6, 7 in the OHS auditorium.

Mary Jane Stephens doesn't appear to have a case of "opening night jitters" as she applies finishing touches to her make-up before going on stage as "Vivienne" in "Oklahoma."

David Cook, as "Curly," sings to Melissa Lambert ("Aunt Eller") and Kathy Best (as "Laurey") about "The Surrey with the Fringe on Top." Cook had the lead male role in the spring production.

Ann Harris, playing the role of "Ado Annie," tells the audience that she's just a girl who can't say no in the musical "Oklahoma!"

Technical Director David Johnson, Production Supervisor Mike Whitsett and Director Barry Corum discuss the lighting for one scene of "Oklahoma!" The famous ballet scene in "Oklahoma!" used special lighting to give the effect of a dream.

Jean Campbell, head of costume design, and Marilyn Whitmer adjust costumes on Kathy Best and Carol Wilson. Jean designed and made many of the costumes for both productions in 1973-74.

David Davis, who was in charge of set design, and Jana Otis select lumber to be used in a particular play set. "Oklahoma!" used three different sets and posed some real problems for the set designer.

Rose Curtain Had Two Productions

For many years, the Rose Curtain Players has been a tradition at Owensboro High School. Each year, they set out to entertain the many people that go to their performances.

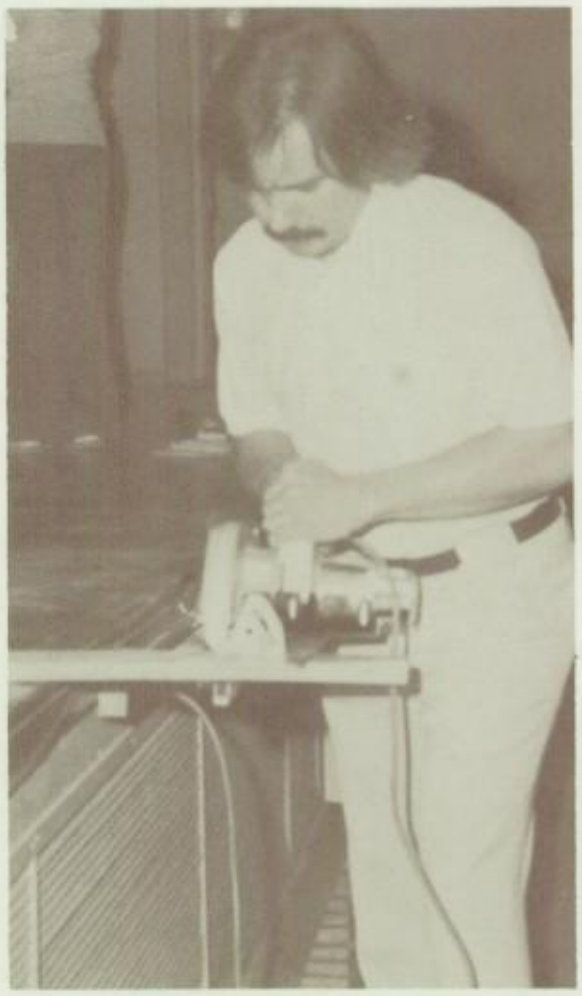
This year, as in recent years, the Rose Curtain Players presented two productions, a comedy in the fall and a musical in the spring.

The fall production was Tom Stoppard's "Rosencranz an Guildenstern are Dead." the spring musical was Rogers and Hammerstein's "Oklahoma!"

The director of both plays was Barry Corum. The officers of Rose Curtain for 1973-74 were President David Cummings, Vice President Mike Whitsett, Secretary-Treasurer Jean Campbell and Historian Ann Harris.

Those members of Rose Curtain who donated extra time and effort are asked to join the Interantaional Thespian Society Troup 3161 at OHS.

This year the Thespian officers were Mike Whitsett, president; Steve Grayson, vice president; and Melissa Lambert, secretary-treasurer.



Director Barry Corum cuts a board down to size for use in a set as the play director did a variety of things to get the plays ready for presentation to the public. This was Mr. Corum's first year as director of the Rose Curtain Players.

Annual Is Largest; Seniors Are in Color for First Time

Members of the 1974 Owensboroan staff found that the work of compiling a yearbook is almost a fulltime job.

They started last August when several staff members visited the American Yearbook Publisher's plant in Clarksville, Tenn.

As they toured the plant, they learned all the details of publishing the annual. In addition, they took home many helpful hints in hopes of making the 1974 Owensboroan the best yearbook ever produced at OHS.

The sales campaign began in October with assemblies at both centers that featured a movie.

The 1974 Owensboroan was the largest yearbook ever produced at OHS. The 240-page book featured the entire senior section in color for the first time, as well as a larger advertising section.

The Senior Directory was also moved to the senior section and appears alongside the student's picture.

Another major change was in the display given groups. The staff, in an effort to meet more modern yearbook standards, eliminated the standard posed group pictures and used action shots of the various groups at OHS.

Several Scoop staffers — Beverly Law, Belinda Humphrey, Kevin Troutman, Cindy Lyons, Gary McIntyre and Peggy Wolter — also assisted the annual during the year.

Advertising enables The Owensboroan to be a bigger and better yearbook. Ad Salesman Matt Lee (center) explains to Editor Martha Robertson (left) and Vickie McGehee some of the Owensboro businesses that supported the OHS yearbook with "Yellow Pages" advertising.

Two time-consuming jobs on the yearbook are indexing and typing. Hunting for the right place in the file cabinet is Joe Beauchamp (foreground) as Lessley Payne types copy for the 1973-74 student publication.

Scoop Wins Awards at Press Day; Was Free to All Students

One of the highlights for the Scoop staff in 1973-74 was the annual trip to Western Kentucky University to participate in the High School Press Day.

OHS won two awards at the 1974 Press Day. Associate Editor Cindy Lyons won a first place certificate in news writing and Gary McIntyre won second place in advertising.

The Scoop is judged once a semester by the National Scholastic Press Association with results usually in March and again October. Since 1971, The Scoop has been ranked "All-American," which places the publication in the top 20 per cent nationally, of high school newspapers.

The Scoop is published twice a month and is printed by the offset printing method.

The February "Education Issue" contained the largest single ad (two full page ads) ever carried in the student newspaper and had the most advertising (345 column inches) of any single issue.

During the past year, the Scoop switched to newsprint and the paper was given to all students at the two centers.

Senior Beverly Law served as editor of the Scoop. She was assisted by Cindy Lyons, 11-12 associate editor; and Todd Gaddis, 9-10 associate editor, and other beginning and advanced journalism students.

Juniors Cindy Lyons (11-12 Associate Editor) and Kevin Troutman interviewed Rebecca King, Miss America of 1974, on her visit to Owensboro.

Advanced Journalism students spent their class time working on the Scoop. Some of the second-year journalism students who contributed to the Scoop through a variety of jobs were (From Left): Don Barber, Peggy Wolter, Gary McIntyre, Belinda Humphrey and Melinda Bingaman.

Ethos Has New Format

Ethos, a literary arts magazine at Owensboro High, was headed by Editor Belinda Thomas.

The magazine went through many changes this year. The 100-page publication had student works in prose, poetry, art work, photography and music from both the 9-10 Center and 11-12 Centers.

The magazine was not published in 1972-73 and was taken up by a new sponsor, Mrs. Peggy Cardinal, in 1974.

Other staff officers were Lisa Renshaw, Jody Laughlin, associate editors; Robin Fredrick, senior art editor; Janice Wethington, associate art editor; Lynette McIntyre, Sophomore promotion manager.

Looking through past editions of Ethos in the library are Editor Belinda Thomas (left) and Sponsor Peggy Cardinal. The 1973-74 Ethos contained some 100 pages of student prose, poetry and art work from the 9-10 Center and 11-12 Centers.

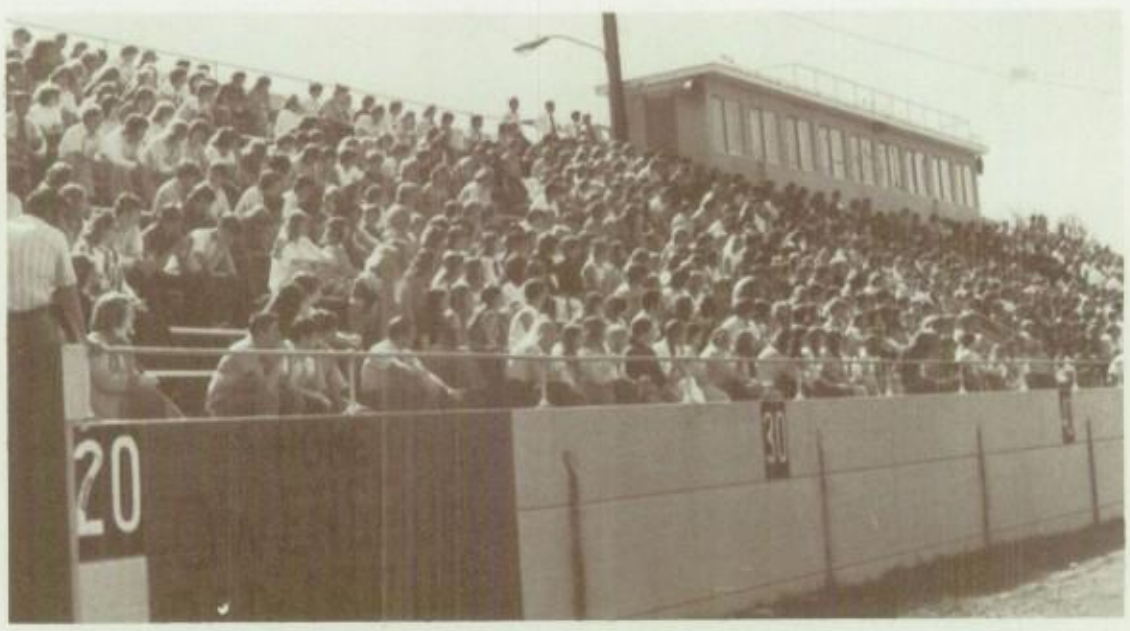
Good weather in spring makes a good time for softball. Combined classes of Joe Iracane and Jo Fowler participate in the leisurely sport in the area adjacent to the football field.



Where am I in the picture? Oh, there is what's his name ... and there is the girl I had that class with last year. The occasion when this picture was made was Honors Day at the 11-12 Center.

One of the many phase-elective science classes offered at the 9-10 Center this year involved the building and flying of model airplanes. Shown flying their finished product are (from left): Gary Purcell, Kenny Conder, John Hidenrite, Greg Bond, Kevin Norris, Tony Cecil, David Sturgeon, Louis Murphy, Randy Barton, Barry Adams, David Dill and James Roberts.

The end of the season is reflected on the faces of Seniors Kenny Higgs and Richard Reed in the final moments of the first round loss to Bryan Station in State Tournament play.

Rick Sullivan advanced to finalist standing in the 1974 National Merit Scholarship program. He received a Certificate of Merit and a letter of congratulations. Rick is the third member of his family to receive recognition for his performance on the PSAT/NMSQT.

Expressions Mirror the Year 1973-74

The year 1973-74 meant various things to different people: different experiences, different emotions and different memories.

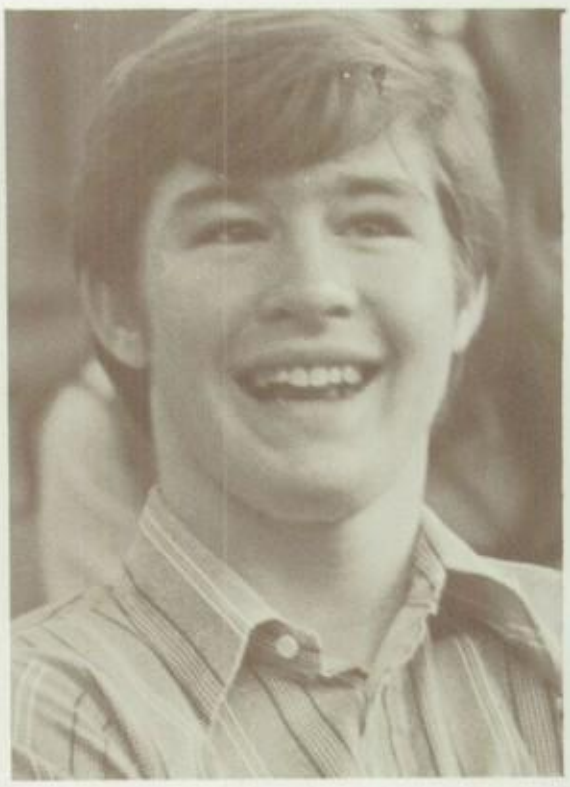
At times it was a year of fun and games during some school activities as well as the time spent "just messing around."

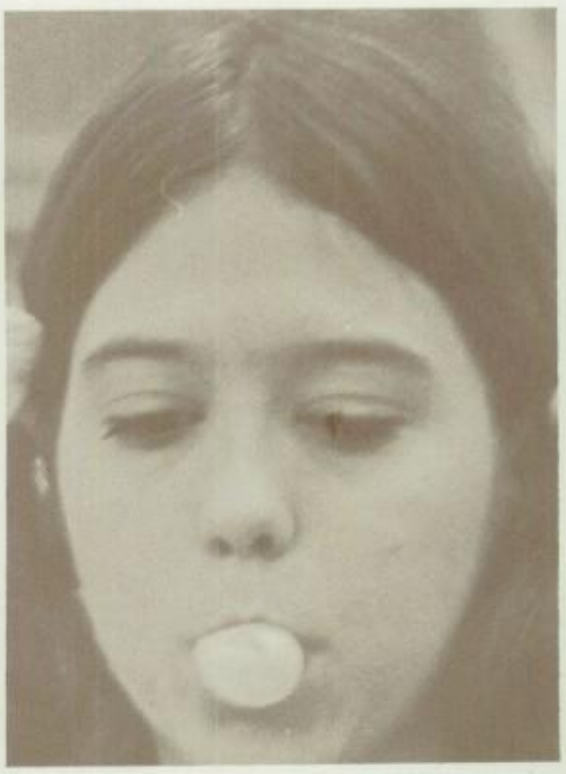
But it also brought work in the form of homework and the endless preparation for various school events. Many students found they could not escape work even after school hours when they maintained jobs.

For some, the year held moments of sadness in the form of sickness or death of a loved one. In the same way, many students found disappointment and disgust in unfulfilled dreams.

For others it brought happiness in their success, joy in new acquaintances and satisfaction in their accomplishments.

Hopefully, the past year held more good memories than bad for OHS students and the variety of expressions here are but a mirror of the 1973-74 school year.





National Issues Concerned OHS Students in 1973-74

National issues played an important part in the everyday lives of most OHS students in 1973-74.

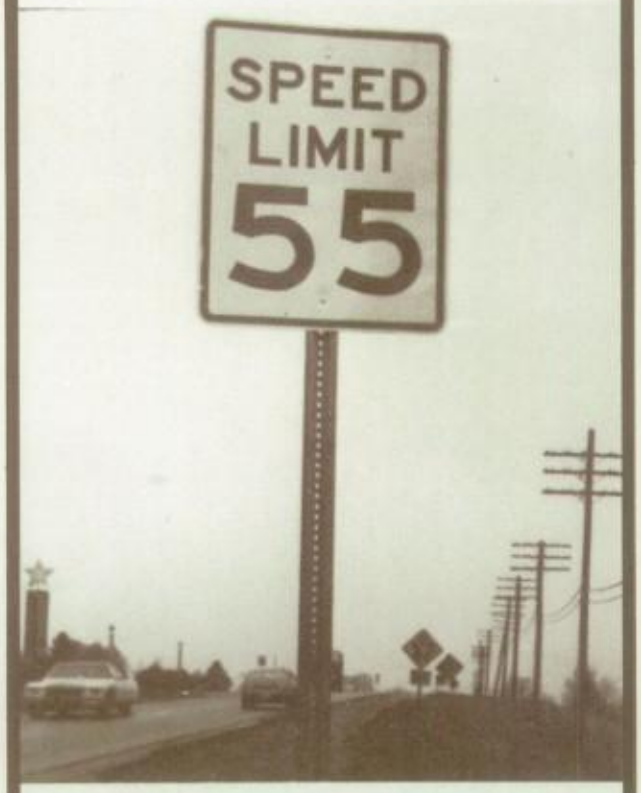
On the top of the list of national problems was the energy crisis.

Most thermostats were turned down to 68 degrees. Lights were used sparingly.

The most critical area for most OHS students was the gasoline shortage.

Many groups wishing to take field trips learned they could not as the Owensboro Board of Education had to cut off the use of buses for field trips.

Vice President Spiro Agnew resigned during the year and Hank



Aaron of the Atlanta Braves beat the all-time home run record of the legendary Babe Ruth. Aaron hit homer No. 715 before a national television audience in early April.

The nearby community of Brandenburg, Ky., made the national headlines as a devastating tornado hit the city. OHS students aided the needy tornado victims with Easter baskets.

Finally, stories about Watergate continued ... as did talk of impeaching President Richard Nixon.

The national issues during 1973-74 were truly ones which concerned OHS students.

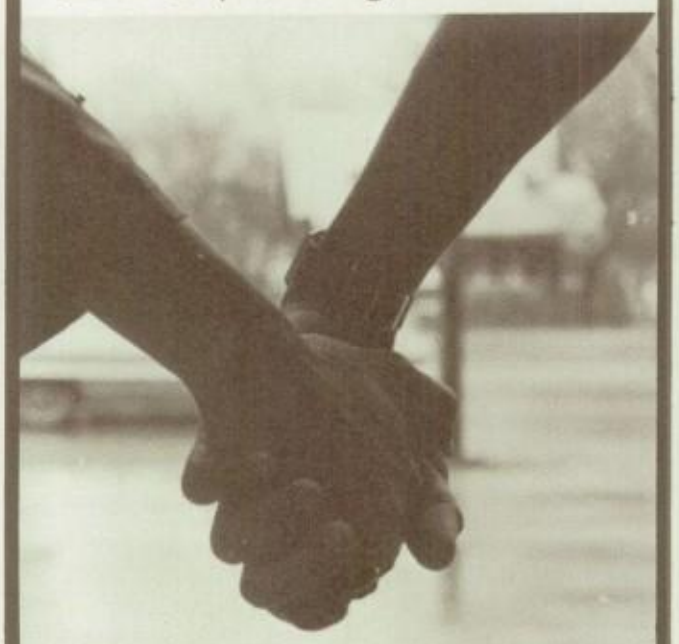
The Owensboroan Will Help YOU Remember 1973-74

Now that it's August, many students have had time to reflect on the 1973-74 school year.

After the hectic pace of classes, tests, dates, etc., you have had the moments to find a quiet place and to sort out what 1973-74 really meant.

The summer months brought an opportunity to sit back and think of the pleasant memories, while not totally forgetting the year's unpleasant events . . . or all the small, seemingly insignificant things that happened. They are the special details that made this year stand out from all the years before.

The summer was also a time for planning ahead.



The underclassmen began to realize the end of high school is getting closer. The graduating seniors were suddenly confronted with a decision to make . . . they had to get themselves together and find out what they wanted to do in the years following graduation . . . and many are preparing to depart for college . . . others have gotten a taste of the working world . . . and others are still loafing.

As you reflect on the year, we hope the 1973-74 Owensboroan helps you recall some of those special events of the year . . . because . . . as we said at the beginning of the year . . . "a yearbook helps you remember."

Today's high school graduates have several alternatives. They can go on to college. They can try to get a job. They can postpone making a decision. Or they can consider the Army as a meaningful alternative.

Not all young men and women are ready or able to go on to college now. Some may not be sure about the profession they want. Others may feel they are not yet mature enough to take full advantage of all that college offers. Many find they simply cannot afford it. Many may want to get a job now.

When it comes to jobs, the good ones go to those with skill and experience. Jobs available to the unskilled, like bagging groceries, messenger work, or checkout clerk, are hardly career opportunities.

And postponing decisions doesn't get anyone anywhere.

What about today's Army?

As with grammar school, high school or college, today's Army can be a rewarding preparatory phase in a young person's life. Preparing him for a responsible role in society.

Today's Army does this by bringing together a number of alternatives as opportunities. Opportunities to learn a skill. To work at a rewarding job. To continue one's education. To travel. To mature.

And today's Army is more than a place to mark time. It's a place where many young people can build up their assets. Find capabilities within themselves they may have never known they had. Develop those capabilities. Build their sense of self-respect as they grow in their jobs, in maturity and responsibility.

Young people who take advantage of the opportunities offered by today's Army should find themselves better prepared to take advantage of opportunities that may come their way anytime anywhere else.

So ... if you know a young person faced with today's alternatives, you may be able to tell him about the one that could be most meaningful one for him.

Today's Army. Call 683-5355 (Collect) or see the Army representative at 490 Wesleyan Park Plaza, Owensboro, KY.

Congratulations, seniors. NOW, where?

You choose a college. And that is the most important decision you'll make this year. It affects your whole future — the training you'll have and what you'll do with your life. You must make this decision carefully and intelligently.

Select your college the best way — visit the campus and ask questions. Arrange to sit in on classes, visit the admissions office and chat with students of departments that interest you.

At Brescia College we're providing the best possible education for students — an education so good that you will be able to make a living — an education so deep that you will be able to make a positive contribution to the quality of life.

About the Owensboroan . . .

The 1974 Owensboroan was prepared by the students of Owensboro High School (9-10 and 11-12 Centers) and printed by offset lithography by Jostens/American Yearbook Company in Clarksville, Tenn.

The first 224 pages are printed on 80-pound white enamel stock. The last 16 pages are printed on goldenrod paper. The endsheets are 65-pound coverweight Flame Red.

Engravers brown-black ink is used throughout the book.

The cover is black with the type and pictures silk screened with white ink. The pictures on the cover are "reverse" printed.

Body copy for the opening 14 pages is Century Schoolbook, 12 point; for the remainder of the book, 10 point. Picture cutlines are 8 point. Headlines are 24 point and 30 point News Gothic Bold Condensed.

Pages 1-48 feature process color. The spot color used as the background for the junior section and in the "Yellow Pages" is warm red.

Most of the photography in this production of the Owensboroan is the work of Graham Studios in Bowling Green, Ky. All class shots were made by Graham and many of the candid pictures were made by Keith Young of Graham. The scenes for the senior pictures were the Owensboro Public Library, Texas Gas and the "mini" garden at Frederica and Parrish Avenue.

Students who made pictures for the Owensboroan were Kevin McDonough, Steve Rowe, David Davis, Dan Hinton, Toby Crafton and David McAdams. Other photographs were supplied by Paul Williams, Joanne Evans and Bill Kyle of the Owensboro Messenger and Inquirer.

Division pages feature "fisheye" pictures made by Graham Studios.

Press run was 1,415 copies.

The Jostens/American representative was Walter "Jody" Richards. Consultation at the Clarksville plant was handled by Gary Dyer.
